LANDS AT THE BATTERY.

Not the least interesting ... of the picture were the tower... skyscrapers near the Battery, ... every window filled with eager ... ...William Hoge, president of the ...mercial Travelers' Anti-Trust ..., which had planned the recep... and Goltra, accompanied Bryan ...ore.

...Gathered at the Battery were Democ... from all sections of the coun... Gov. Folk of Missouri, Senator ... of Texas, Chairman Taggart of ... Bryan, ...ov. Folk and the others stopped for ...a moment to oblige the half a hundred ...photographers who had gained en...trance within the police lines. All ...smiled pleasantly as the shutters ...snapped.

DRIVE UP TOWN.

...There was no further delay in reach...ing the waiting carriages and the drive ...up town was begun. With Bryan in ...the first vehicle were Gov. Folk, act...ing Mayor McGowan and William ...Hoge. The national committeemen ...and members of the local reception ...committee were in those which fol...lowed. All the carriages were gay in ...flags and bunting. The crowds at the ...battery cheered again as the carriage ...moved away.

...The drive was up Broadway to Fif...teenth street, thence east to Fifth avenue ...and down Fifth avenue to the Twenty-seventh street entrance of the Victoria Hotel, Bryan's headquarters. The drive was without incident, other than the cheering, which was taken up from block to block by persons on the crowded sidewalks. Bryan was quickly recognized by all, and he smilingly bowed his acknowledgements.

MRS. BRYAN LANDED.

Mrs. Bryan, after his conference last night with the Democratic leaders at the home of Lewis Nixon, at Stapleton, Staten Island, returned to the Illini, which he boarded from the Princess Irene yesterday afternoon, and spent the night. After a late breakfast the Illini steamed in from Gravesend Bay and stopped off the yacht club pier, Staten Island. Bryan was transferred to Nixon's palatial houseboat, the Loudon, named for the owner's native city in Virginia. The Illini then proceeded up the North River, and landed Mrs. Bryan, who went to the Victoria Hotel to join her daughter and await the arrival of Bryan. After this, the Illini put down the bay again, and Bryan went back on board for luncheon, and then the trip to New York was begun.

TALKS TO REPORTERS.

Just a little before noon, today, Bryan received the newspaper men aboard the houseboat. His first word to them was that he would not talk about politics or persons.

"How about Speaker Cannon's candidacy for the Presidency?" Bryan was asked.

"As Cannon is both person and politics," Bryan replied, "I cannot discuss him."

"It has been stated that Mr. Hearst was not entirely friendly to you, but he has denied that statement. Is it true?" Bryan was asked.

"I don't think that either Mr Hearst or myself has to deny any statement of that kind."

"What is your impression of your European trip?"

"We went with the belief that it would be educational, and found it even more instructive than we had expected. Our home-coming was a great pleasure, however. Mrs. Bryan and I were greatly gratified to meet our Nebraska friends, who came so far to greet us. These are the veterans with whom I have passed through many political battles. They took me a young man, and elected me to Congress. They have stood by me in all the conflicts for sixteen years, and I do not believe you can find anywhere on earth more moral courage, more true democracy and more genuine patriotism in the same number of men than you can find in that gallant band which crossed half the continent to make our home-coming a good one. There are just 11½ types of manly beauty, and in that crowd there was one man who was representative of each type."

He was next asked to discuss the Philippines and the spirit of Americanism that has taken hold of the islands. He said he could not discuss that, as it was political.

"How about Russia and the Douma?" Bryan was asked.

"No one can speak with any degree of certainty," he replied, "as to what the immediate future of Russia will be, but we can speak with certainty of the ultimate result. I might illustrate it in this way: If you ask me in February what sort of weather we will have, I cannot say whether it will be snow or storm or sunshine, but I can say that in a few months we will have summer. No one can say what experiences Russia will pass through in the next few years, but it is possible to say that she is going to have an excellent form of government."

RECEIVES STATE DELEGATIONS.

Bryan reached the Victoria Hotel at 5:15 o'clock p.m., and began to receive the State delegations. He was nearly mobbed by a crowd of many hundreds who thronged the corridors and tried to shake hands with him. They finally cornered him on the steps leading to the corridor and he had to make a brief speech.

IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN.

BRYAN'S CAMPAIGN-OPENER.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The doors of Madison Square Garden were opened at 5:30 oclock, and by that time hundreds of ticket-holders were clamoring for admission. Police lines had been formed for three blocks from all entrances. In this way, the early comers were well handled. The immense auditorium, with its tiers of balconies and galleries rising to the great glass roof, began to fill up so quickly that the ushers and policemen had difficulty in adhering to the seating arrangements. It was a gay-spirited, big-natured audience, which had a cheer for every one. There were calls and counter-calls from the various State delegations.

The "Nebraska Bryan's home folks" arrived in a body, and were given seats just back of the speakers' stand, at the Twenty-seventh-street side of the garden.

FLAG FOR EACH HEARER.

The hall was devoid of decorations other than the bunting and flags placed about the temporary stage. But each person in the vast audience had been presented with a flag by the Reception Committee, and the waving of these made a picture such as the garden has seldom witnessed.

Before the meeting was called to order, a band played merrily. Such tunes as "Maryland," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Way Down Upon the Suwanee River" and other melodies of the South caused tumultuous applause. But when the first strains of "Dixie" sounded, thousands of Bryan welcomeys were on their feet in an instant, and the cheers completely drowned the band.

As each notable Democrat entered the hall and was recognized, his name was called, and the cheering was renewed.

TWELVE THOUSAND SEATED.

Twelve thousand persons, many of them women, were seated by 7 o'clock, and an hour later not a vacant seat was to be seen. The heat in the garden when the crowd had assembled was so great that a large portion of the glass roof was pushed back, leaving the stars as a canopy. The galleries early were jammed to their utmost capacity. Hundreds of policemen and fifty firemen were on duty in the giant structure. It is estimated that 20,000 people attended the meeting.

WALKER CALLS TO ORDER.

At 8 o'clock, when Bryan had not yet arrived, Harry W. Walker, president of the Commercial Travelers' Anti-Trust League, called the assemblage to order. He spoke as follows:

"Ladies and gentlemen, fellow-citizens from all over this broad land: On behalf of the Commercial Travelers' Anti-Trust League, I have the great honor of asking this home-coming welcome to come to order." The league welcomes back Mr. Bryan fresh from his triumphs in the Old World, as the most distinguished and best-beloved private citizen on earth.

"It is my real pleasure to introduce to you the chairman of the Reception Committee—Missouri's Governor, Hon. Joseph W. Folk."

FOLK TAKES THE CHAIR.

Gov. Folk was given an ovation, and it was several minutes before he could speak. When he finally secured silence he asked his hearers to be as quiet as possible, otherwise none of the speakers, not even Bryan himself, could be heard. The mention of Bryan's name called forth renewed cheering. Then when quiet had been restored, Gov. Folk proceeded:

"What we say here may count for little; our words may be of only passing moment, and soon forgotten. But those ideals that bring us here will survive when those present at this assembly shall have passed away. We come not of ourselves alone to welcome home the distinguished American in whose honor we gather, but to voice the love and faith of millions in the great leader who has again set foot upon his native land—millions who love him because his hands are clean, his heart is pure and his soul has not been touched nor tainted with the scars of unearned gold. Nor in him alone do we place our trust, nor in aught that is human, but rather in those eternal truths which he has loved and served so well.

"We are on the threshold of the greatest political awakening this nation has ever known. It marks the beginning of a new age. The next few years will be distinguished as the time in which industrial problems are solved, the reign of the special privilege brought to an end, and the doctrine of equal rights fixed in national policies and in the conscience of mankind. Things are not tolerated for a moment now that, not long ago, were submitted to in silence. Only a few years past, bribery was considered merely conventional. Legislative halls were made dens of thieves, and the touch of the unclean dollar of privilege was over all. Dishonesty in public life was either unnoticed, or regarded with despair. Then a dormant public conscience was aroused to the necessity of stamping out the offense that strikes at the heart of free government, and of making the government representative in fact as well as in name."

Gov. Folk discussed the danger from monopoly, and said:

"Let us, in this crisis, be neither radical nor conservative. Rather let us be conservative in charging wrongdoing, lest injustice be caused in charging where it does not exist, but once sure of the evil let us be radical in its extermination. Let us have neither the conservatism of stagnation nor the radicalism of indiscriminate destruction. We want progress along right lines. States and nations, like men, should never be satisfied, but ever strive for higher development. . . . The ideal republic is one of charity for all, of brotherhood among men, of equal rights for all mankind. We may not achieve the ideal at any time soon, but we can strive for it with the assurance that this endeavor will lead us up the heights of attainment until we are face to face with the ideal and the true."

JOHNSON COMES FORWARD.

The applause was deafening as Johnson came forward on the speakers' platform. At this moment William Randolph Hearst entered the box which had been set aside for him.

BRYAN ENTERS.

When the joint demonstration had somewhat subsided, Bryan, accompanied by his wife, entered the garden and appeared on the platform. The crowd, which had been so free in its cheering before, was now fairly beside itself. The men shouted, jumped on seats and threw their hats into the air. The women waived handkerchiefs and cheered as loudly as they could.

GOV. FOLK.

AUGUSTUS THOMAS INTRODUCED

For five minutes the crowd howled, cheered and screamed, but eventually Chairman Johnson secured comparative quiet and introduced Augustus Thomas, whose every reference to Bryan called forth additional cheers. Thomas said, in part:

Augustus Thomas

Col. Bryan: The Anti-Trust League of the Commercial Travelers of the United States, joined by this representative concourse of your countrymen and theirs, welcomes you home. The commercial travelers are to the nation its quick personal media of communication. These members assume to voice this welcome by the warrant of their early discovery that such welcome was the nation's wish. And the nation will hold them answerable that the greeting be in no uncertain tone.

"The league and its associates therefore know that the sentiments to be uttered demand a rude intimacy that shall transcend the reserve of the private meeting. Their appreciation is meant not to put you in the pleasant embarrassment of self-satisfaction, but to inform you of that high level of personal conduct which they believe you have reached and to fix upon you the obligation of maintaining that standard. The welcome is not for the politician, but for the man. Not by a party, but from a people.

"Therefore, in the faith of this kind and as a parent lays her hand upon the shoulders of a boy and speaks her frank approval and fond hope, your country greets you. She feels a pride that an unofficial citizen of the republic has stood in palaces and beside ancient thrones and has been a man's full stature."

Thomas was cheered for several min-

BALL CLUB ORGANIZED.

Officers Are Elected for the New Association.

Henry Berry Will Be Manager Over Gill Mead.

Neither Bernard, Dillon or Nagle to Be Sold.

The expected happened yesterday in the local baseball situation, for the men who had been touted for the various offices in the gift of the Angel City Baseball Association were elected unanimously in one of the most harmonious baseball meetings ever held on the Coast.

The meeting for the election of officers was held [illegible] o'clock in the office of [illegible] Pendleton, and those present were seven directors. A more [illegible] Pendleton, he [illegible] INC[illegible] EXPERTS [illegible]

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Measured respecting strength of Pacific Coast League. With[illegible] much loss of time the following officers were chosen:

C. W. Pendleton, president; Fred Maier, vice-president; Harry Lelande, secretary; Warren Gillelen, treasurer and Henry Berry, manager.

The selection of Henry Berry as manager does not mean anything startling concerning the present manager, Gil Mead, for Mr. Berry is really a de jure manager who will have supervision of the team. It is understood that Gil Mead will probably be the de facto manager, as far as the active work is concerned, Berry being elected with the understanding that he would have the right to appoint a deputy manager, as it were, to do the hard work of looking after fifteen ball players.

The meeting was naturally an executive one, but the directors spoke freely, after they came out into the light of day, concerning what had been done. There are many details to be considered, such as a new park and new players for next year but these will come under notice later on when the new directors become accustomed to being real live baseball men.

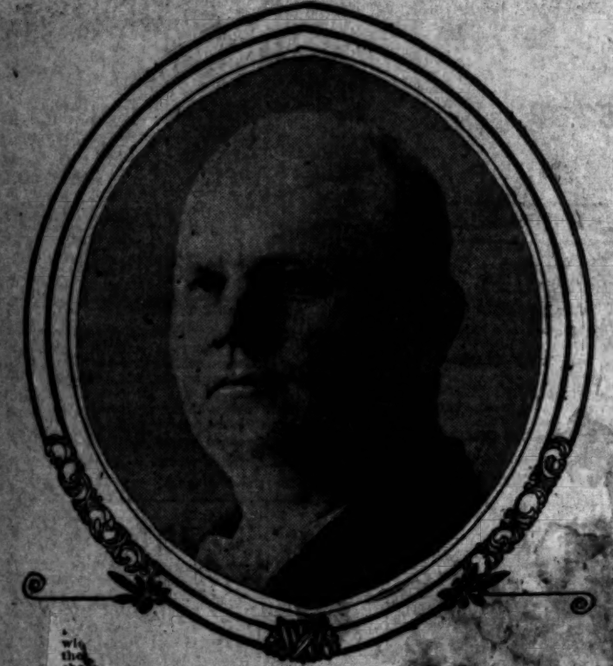
The question of the sale of one or more ball players was gone into briefly but it was the general opinion that neither Nagle, Bernard or Dillon would be disposed of, because good ball players are hard to get and while these three are worth a lot of money to other clubs, they are worth as much to Los Angeles.

It is expected that the position of Fred Maier as vice-president of the club will be a big factor in securing the Chutes Park for the ball grounds at a reasonable rental, for the brewery firm of Maier & Zobelein are very much interested in the Chutes and as the ball grounds are a part of Chutes Park it is easy to see that the club will not get the worst of things in a lease of the grounds.

Frank Dillon, who has been field captain of the team for several years, will undoubtedly be retained as captain under the new order of things and it will be the expressed policy of the directors to place the team in the hands of Dillon, in a way, and leave the playing management of it to him. The directors will not butt in and Dillon's position as captain will depend on the results he achieves in winning games. If he can't make the team win its share of the games, the directors will get a captain who can.

Judging from the personnel of the directors the club should take a new lease of life for the directors have the money to get any new players they may want. With the return of Brashear, Ross and Dolly Gray and several barrels of money and influence behind the team, the prospects for the future certainly look good for the fans.

Concerning rumors to the contrary, it is stated that neither Cal Ewing, treasurer of the league, or President Bert own any stock in the club, all of it being owned by local men. They came here to arrange for the transfer of the franchise to the new directors and receive the $1500 forfeit money that the club will be carried through this season.



HENRY BERRY,
New manager of Los Angeles baseball club.

GOLF CLUB CONTESTS.

Regular Sweepstakes on for Saturday and President's Cup Contest Coming Next Week.

The regular handicap medal play sweepstakes for men will be played at the Country Club tomorrow afternoon and it is said that a large bunch of players will enter to keep up their practice for the President's cup matches next week.

This event is an annual one and the prize goes to the player who can win four eighteen hole matches and a final of thirty-six holes. The qualifying round of eighteen holes medal play will be on Saturday, September 8, and the first round at match play must be finished before 2 o'clock on the following Monday. The second round must be played before Tuesday, September 11; the third before Monday, September 17; the fourth before Monday, September 24 and the final of thirty-six holes before Monday, October 8. All are handicap matches and the handicaps will be fixed from the scores made tomorrow.

Last year the cup was won by S. G. Wilson from a field of fifty starters but there will probably not be that many entries this year.

Both Pugs Are Working Hard and Gans Is Still the Odds-on Favorite. Cheap Seats Will Be on Sale on Monday—Forty Deputies Sworn in to Preserve the Peace.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GOLDFIELD (Nev.) Aug. 30.—Goldfield this morning presented the appearance of an overcrowded city. Last night's trains going west and east did much to increase the number of fight followers and newspaper men already on the ground, and as visitors continued to pour into town during the day, the question of accommodation is likely to assume a serious phase. The few hotels of Goldfield are filling up rapidly, and reservations have been made in advance for every available room in town. The sidewalks are almost impassable, so great is the crush of humanity, and the various establishments where gambling of all kinds is being conducted are taxed to their capacity in dealing with the speculative crowds. Nothing new developed today in the recent ringside weight unpleasantness, and it is the opinion of the promoters that the matter has been disposed of for good.

A heavy rain fell here throughout the night, but at 8 o'clock it began to clear up, and the roads were in excellent condition when the rival pugilists began their daily programme of training by taking their morning runs. Nelson went five miles at a brisk pace, and spent the remaining hours of the morning [illegible] and reading his mail. His [illegible] expected to arrive from Hegewisch today.

Later in the [illegible] the recipient of [illegible] mail and telegrams, he devoted much [illegible] is still favorite in the betting [illegible] odds of 2 to 1. Only a few [illegible] registered here [illegible] likely there will be [illegible] or two [illegible]

The arena will be practically completed at noon, and nothing now remains to be done but the installation of electrical and telegraph wires and the laying of the canvas. There was a heavy sale of seats this morning. President Rickard, of the Goldfield Club, stated that none of the $5 seats will be sold until the day of the contest. He added that he had made arrangements to have the arena properly policed on Labor Day, employing for his purpose forty deputies, who will be stationed at different locations in the arena in groups of four.

TOO MANY LAWS BEING ENACTED.

JUDGE PARKER SPEAKS ON INCREASING LEGISLATION.

But Small Percentage of Enactments Involves New Principle or Even New Policy—American Bar Association in Session at St. Paul Adopts Report.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PAUL, Aug. 30.—The feature of today's session of the American Bar Association was the annual address of Judge Alton B. Parker. Judge Parker said, in part:

"The forces of good and evil are always at war with each other; one tries to uplift, the other tries to drag down. So, when any evil tendency of our governmental affairs is found all patriots should at once grapple with it and apply the remedy required, whether it be mild or drastic.

"Few questions have been more discussed during recent years than the increasing tendency of legislative bodies to propose and enact new laws. Scarcely any agitation of a public or a moral question is so unimportant that it does not produce, in nearly half-a-hundred State capitols, a series of bills supposed to represent it in all its varied and shifting phases. It has become far more common to look for a new law for the punishment of an old offence or for defining anew the relations of individuals to each other than it is to invoke those powers or remedies by which, over many centuries, while law has been gradually taking fixed form, men have been able to punish crimes against society, or to settle their own differences.

And yet every man who has had occasion to study the question, even in its narrower bearings, has been forced to conclude that but a small percentage of proposed new enactments involves a new principle, or even a new policy. It rarely happens that an offense is committed for which no proper punishment has been provided, and it is a long time since any real question has arisen between men to demand legal settlement impossible under existing law.

"Most of the laws proposed in such number and variety are assertions of the police power. Even the machinery which they create—under the fond delusion that it is new—is as old as Western civilization itself. It thus connotes a continual growth from the comparatively simple conditions of our modern life, at its best, into the variety, complexity and interference which have marked all the history of men. It may create an office strange to a given county or State, lodge additional power in the hands of an executive, attempt to expand or contract the judicial authority, or seek to regulate or modify by law habits and customs; but it proposes nothing hitherto untried somewhere.

"It has long been recognized that, if our legislators were compelled to study and know the old and settled principles of jurisprudence, there would be fewer opportunities for mediocre men to make for themselves reputations, or even to bass careers, outwardly successful, upon laws which have nothing in them that mankind has not tried. It is merely another illustration of the refusal of men to profit by the experience of their ancestors or predecessors, or to take account of the long line of failures' but its fatality is in claiming credit for something well known already.

"It was one of the many wise sayings of Montesquieu that:

"'It sometimes is necessary to change certain laws, but the case is rare, and, when it occurs, one should touch them only with a trembling hand.'

"If this were taken to heart by the members of Congress and of the State Legislatures of the American Union, who annually turn out an average of nearly 15,000 laws—two-thirds of them devoted to private or special questions—it is certain that there would be greater satisfaction, both individual and public; more knowledge of what the law has done and can do, and more respect for it; fewer reputations and ambitions built upon the shifting sands; and a general recognition of the fact that quality of laws, and not their number, counts. Fewer aspiring young men might seek seats in these bodies merely as stepping stones to something deemed better; the amateur, the incompetent and the blackmailer might be less in evidence; the boss who orders legislation, in order that he may sell it or exchange it for personal power, might gradually become extinct; the sensational newspaper—that outward sign of inward popular corruption or hysteria—might have less authority; and men of recognized character and success could be relied upon to keep our laws in harmony with our progress, and thus to promote and insure their efficiency without an overproduction that sometimes makes them contemptible."

The rest of the session was devoted to hearing committee reports.

In the afternoon the delegates were entertained at luncheon by the Town and Country Club.

In the report of the Committee on Jurisprudence and Law Reform, the question, "Shall this association recommend to Congress that a law be passed making an indictment conclusive evidence of the facts therein alleged?" was adversely passed upon. The report of the committee was adopted.

The Committee on Legal Education recommended many changes in the method of granting degrees in schools both in America and Europe. The committee also recommended the creation of State boards of law examiners in every State.

The report of the Law Committee, which was approved, recommends that the committee for next year be instructed to oppose any effort to repeal the bankruptcy law.

The report of the Committee on International Law recommended that the United States instruct its delegates to The Hague conference to urge the adoption of the recommendations of the Interparliamentary Union.

OUR NAVY MARKSMEN.

Pacific Fleet Is First Among the Torpedo Flotillas—Asiatic Squadron Has Best Gunners.

Truman H. Newberry, acting Secretary of the Navy, has issued a general order giving the standing of the fleets, squadrons, divisions and vessels in the target practice of 1906, says a dispatch to the Boston Transcript. The Asiatic fleet stands first in the fleet class, with 110.127; the Atlantic fleet second, with 96.665, and the Pacific fleet third, with 95.790. These figures are the result of a system of scoring peculiar to the gunnery of the American navy, and while they mean little to the layman, they serve to show the relative standing of the gunfire of each ship. Those ships which have old ordnance and accordingly cannot fire as fast as the newer war craft are given an allowance, which puts all on an equality. The scores then represent only the efficiency of the marksmen.

In the standing of squadrons the battleships of the Asiatic fleet is at the head, with a score of 121.987, the Wisconsin and the Ohio firing. Next is the cruiser squadron of the Asiatic fleet, with 111.889, the Baltimore, the Raleigh and the Cincinnati firing. Third in the list is the first squadron of the Atlantic fleet, 104.532, with the Missouri, the Kearsarge, the Indiana, the Illinois, the Alabama, the Maine and the Iowa firing. Fourth is the Pacific squadron, 95.790, with the Perry, the Chicago, the Paul Jones, the Boston, the Princeton and the Marblehead firing. The Philippine squadron of the Asiatic fleete is fifth, with 88.683, the Pampanga, the Rainbow, the Paraguа, the Arayat and the Frolic firing, and the sixth is the coast squadron of the Atlantic fleet, with 81.696, the Nevada, the Arkansas, the Texas, the Rodgers, the Florida, the Blakely, the Porter, the Nicholson and the Dupont firing.

The subdivisions of squadrons stand in this order: First division of the Atlantic fleet, 115.292, the Missouri, the Kearsarge, the Kentucky and the Maine firing; fourth division of the Atlantic fleet, 104.749, with the Colorado, the Maryland, the West Virginia and the Pennsylvania firing; second division of the Atlantic fleet, 93.769, with the Illinois, the Alabama, the Iowa and the Indiana firing; coast squadron of the Atlantic fleet, 92.429, with the Nevada, the Arkansas, the Texas and the Florida firing, and the Pacific squadron, 91.415, with the Chicago, the Boston, the Princeton and the Marblehetd firing. The torpedo flotilla attached to the Pacific fleet was first in its class, with 115.474; the second flotilla of the Atlantic fleet was second, with 63.070 ,and the third flotilla attached to the coast squadron was third, with 61.986.

PEASANT TALK OF UPRISING.

Nothing Will Satisfy but Distribution of All Lands.

Stolypin Bound by Strings of the Court Camarilla.

Peaceable Citizens Shot by the Soldiers at Warsaw.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 30.—Dispatches received here today from all over state that the peasantry of the various provinces are talking of an uprising at an early date. Nothing will satisfy them, it is said, but the distribution of all lands. Agitators are traveling over the provinces, and it is common to hear peasants singing the "Marseillaise" at the piers while awaiting the arrival of steamers.

It is asserted that Premier Stolypin and his colleagues are employing the newspapers which they control to fight the Court Camrilla. This, it is said, is the secret of the Novoe Vremya's recent references during the past week to the necessity for protecting the Cabinet from the interference of pernicious court influences.

Stolypin is said to have declared that he is continually subjected to embarrassment, adding that he was convinced that the task which he had set himself was impossible unless the Emperor gave him an absolutely free hand—in other words, conferred upon the Cabinet a practical dictatorship.

In conversation with friends the Premier is alleged to have said history seemed to be repeating itself, the situation closely resembling the closing days of the reign of Alexander II. The reactionary spirit was growing daily. Nevertheless, he considered it vital that the government should not take a reactionary path.

An imperial ukase issued today authorizes the Minister of Finance to issue $25,000,000 in 4 per cent. rentes to cover the expenses of the districts affected by the failure of the crops.

GREAT CAUTION AT FUNERAL.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WARSAW, Aug. 30.—Extraordinary precautions to prevent disturbances marked the funeral today of Gen. Von Lindarsky, the acting military Governor and commander of the Fifth Army Corps, who was assassinated August 27. All the shops were shut, doors and windows of houses were kept closed by order of the authorities, and street cars and cabs were removed from the streets, which were filled by troops. In addition to soldiers, police are stationed in all streets, Cossacks patrol the streets in groups of three, and squads of infantry pass through the principal streets every fifteen minutes.

The reckless behavior of the soldiers causes much bitterness. They are nervous, angry and thirsting to avenge their murdered comrade. They are ready to open fire at the slightest provocation and have permission to shoot any person they suspect of murderous designs. Several peaceful citizens have already been shot.

ARMENIANS IN CONFERENCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ERIVAN, Aug. 30.—The first general conference of the Armenians opened today at the Etchmiadzine monastery, which is the seat of the Armenian Catholic patriarch. The most important action of the congress is likely to be in connection with measures for ending the race war between the Armenians and the Tartars.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

EQUITABLE MUST DEFEND.

Court Orders Insurance Company to Make Reply to Action for an Accounting.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—The Equitable Life Assurance Society and its directors, according to a decision by Justice Bischof in the Supreme Court today, must defend the suit brought against them by State's Atty.-Gen. Mayer to compel an accounting as to the management and disposition of the funds and property of the society. The suit also demands that the directors be compelled to repay any of the society's money which may have been lost or wasted by a violation of the duties of the directors.

The decision of the lower court denying the application for a mandamus compelling the State Superintendent of Insurance to remove from the administration ticket for trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Company the names of four members of the International Policy Holders' Committee, was affirmed today by the appellate division of the Supreme Court. The case came before the appellate division on an appeal of Col. Shook of Nashville, Tenn., in behalf of himself and his associates on the policy holders' committee.

Frederick Cromwell and Adrian Iselin have retired from membership in the finance committee of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, though retaining for the present, at least, their positions as directors.

Thomas M. Mulley, president of the Immigrant Industrial Savings Bank, who is one of the recently elected directors, and who was not associated with the Mutual Life Insurance Company during the McCurdy era, was named to fill the vacancy in the finance committee caused by Cromwell's retirement. Dumont Clarke, a lawyer, who was a member of the old board, but whose record was in no way impeached during the Armstrong inquiry, succeeds to the place in the committee vacated by Iselin.

Cromwell was for many years treasurer of the company during the McCurdy administration. After the retirement of Richard A. McCurdy, he served as acting president until the election of Charles A. Peabody.

FREE DALNY UPSETS CUSTOMS.

NEWCHWANG, Aug. 30.—Japan's notification that it will continue Dalny as a free port until China provides customs facilities on the Russian frontier, resulted today in the Chamber of Commerce here petitioning the consular body to suspend the collection of duties at Newchwang, pending the negotiation of Manchurian customs. The Chamber of Commerce maintains that the present condition threatens the existence of Newchwang.

Madame Von der Lund, wife of Col. Von der Lund, the German instructor of the Chilean troops, died Wednesday as a result of injuries which she received during the earthquake.

Owing to the scarcity of food, the municipality of Valparaiso has decided to send away from that city all inhabitants who are incapable of working.

DIVORCES UNDER DISCUSSION.

Committee Appointed Makes Several Pertinent Suggestions for Coming Convention.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ST. PAUL, Aug. 30.—When the divorce congress meets in Philadelphia November 12, it will have submitted to it a uniform statute relating to the annulment of marriage and granting of divorces. The subcommittee on resolution has prepared an act, which, when revised, is expected to meet with the approval of the congress, and will be submitted for passage, thus establishing a general law on divorces and annulment of marriage.

The most important changes made in the proposed law was establishing the age of consent when either male or female may legally enter the marriage relation at 16 years for the female and 18 for the male.

When the committee adjourned but little further headway had been made with the act.

WRECK PRESENTS PROBLEM.

Long and Strenuous Job to Rescue the Manchuria from Present Position.

HONOLULU, Aug. 30.—Capt. John Metcalf, representing Lloyds, and Capt. A. F. Pillsbury, representing the San Francisco Board of Marine Underwriters, on the arrival of the Oceanic liner Ventura off the stranded steamer Manchuria, lying north of the island of Oahu, were transferred direct in the open sea to the Manchuria. After remaining a short time on board the wrecked vessel they came overland to Honolulu, where they held a conference with the agents and attorneys of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company.

Capt. Metcalf says it will be a long and strenuous job to rescue the Manchuria from her present position. It will probably take a week to place anchors securely to hold the steamer where she is. He declines to say whether ultimate success can be expected. After the anchors are out they will then decide the question about unloading the vessel, but it is utterly useless attempting to tow her off now.

CLUB ANNOYS PRESIDENT.

Organization Gotten Up to Buy Birthplace of Chief Executive to Be Investigated.

OYSTER BAY (L. I.) Aug. 30.—The Roosevelt Home Club of New York is to be investigated by the Postoffice Department at the express desire of the President, with a view to issuing a fraud order against it.

Postmaster-General Cortelyou was given instructions while at Sagamore Hill today to take the matter up immediately. The object of the club as set forth in a circular issued August 14, by Roderick Bell, who signs himself as president of the club, is to secure funds for the purchase of the house at No. 28 East Twentieth street, New York City, where President Roosevelt was born.

Some time ago a similar movement was started, but it was discovered by the President, who was given assurances that the matter would be dropped. The last circular, however, indicates that another effort is being made to carry out the plan. It was ascertained that 50 per cent. of the contributions received were to go toward maintaining the club. It is on this ground that the President believes that a fraud order will lie.

FOR SALE—
Subdivision Property.

FOR SALE—EAGLE ROCK
AND
ANNANDALE HEIGHTS.
This beautiful, suburban, foothill district, between Los Angeles and Pasadena, now opened up by car lines.
Our tracts are the HOMES OF THE PEOPLE.
Our restrictions insure a good neighborhood but do not prohibit WHITE people of moderate means from acquiring homes.
Restrictions in tracts surrounding ours range from $2500 to $5000. They are restricted to the rich only. We are not so ambitious. We are willing to sell to the MIDDLE SIZED MAN. Our lots are restricted to residence purposes by white people only. No buildings costing less than $1800 permitted on the front 75 feet of the lot. All temporary and cheaper structures must be placed in the rear.
Our tracts now on sale are
ANNANDALE HEIGHTS.
AND SYCAMORE GLEN.
The former between Garvanza and Eagle Rock and the latter in Eagle Rock Valley. The lots are good size, for the most part, 50x150. The prices are $100, $200, $300, $400 and $500. The $500 lots have large Sycamores and oak trees.
Our terms are $10 down and $5 per month, 6 per cent interest.
Streets are being graded and oiled and water mains are now being laid in the streets. Our tracts being the first in Eagle Rock to be supplied with water by the Eagle Rock Water Co.
If you pay your Land Lord rent for 10 years you will by that time have paid for the house. But you will not get it, the Land Lord will still own it. You get nothing unless you are sick for a month and fail to pay the rent; then you get a notice to move. Furthermore, during that 10 years the lot on which the house stands will have doubled in value three times over. You do not get this increase, the Land Lord gets it.
On the contrary, if you will put $5 per month in one of these lots, our experience with our other tracts is that it will double in value before it is one-third paid for. You get the increase. If you cannot build at once, buy the lot now, build later. The Land Lord absorbs one-fourth of your salary. Quit him.
The opening of Eagle Rock Valley by the car lines is the finest opportunity ever presented to obtain sites for future homes at moderate prices and on easy terms.
We have sold out three tracts in Eagle Rock Valley. After our lands are all sold out there will be no more cheap lots offered in the valley. Take Garvanza or South Pasadena car, on Main street to our office, 5 cent fare.
CRITES, MYERS & KULLI, 107 S. Ave. 64, Garvanza. P. O. Bldg.

FOR SALE—ANNANDALE HEIGHTS.
AND EAGLE ROCK.
This is the most beautiful suburban district within easy reach of the business part of Los Angeles, and is now, for the first time opened up by the new car lines; lots are $300, $350, $400 and $500; all payable $10 down and $5 per month; 6 per cent interest.
$1 saved and placed in the Savings Bank will amount to $1.64 at the end of one year; $1 saved and invested in either of these tracts will amount to not less than $2, probably $4 at the end of the year.
In one year, on one lot, you will have invested $70. In order that your investment bring you $2 for $1 a $500 lot would need to bring but $370 at the end of one year; to pay you $4 for $1, it would need bring but $430. And it is only the first $70 that has been in a full year.
A great city is now being formed, the metropolis of the Southwest, and the greater your faith in Los Angeles, the greater shall be your reward.

AMERICAN IN ORIGIN.

... not necessary to point out the ... of the position taken. The ... of the suggestion in treat... would go a long way toward remov... the probability of war. While the ... is of American origin, it was ... accepted by the representa... of England, France, Germany ... other European countries. I be... that if our nation would propose ... with every other nation a ... providing that all questions in ... between parties should be sub... to The Hague court or some ... impartial international tribunal ... investigation and report before any ... action of war or commencement of ... hostilities, it would find many nations willing to enter into such compact.

"I am sure from the public utterances of the present Prime Minister of Great Britain, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, that such a treaty could be made between the two great English-speaking nations, and their example would be followed until the danger of war would be almost, if not entirely, removed.

LEAD THE WORLD.

"To take the lead in such a movement would establish our position as a world power in the best sense of the term. And what argument can be advanced against such action on the part of the United States? Shall we yield to any other nation in the estimate to be placed upon the value of human life? I confess that my aversion to killing increases with the years. Surely the Creator did not so plan the universe as to make the progress of the race depend upon wholesale bloodletting. I prefer to believe that war, instead of being an agency for good, is rather an evidence of man's surrender to his passions, and that one of the tests of civilization is man's willingness to submit his controversies to the arbitration of reason, rather than of force.

NAVAL POLICY.

"Another subject connected with our foreign relations: I venture to suggest that we may not only promote peace, but also advance our commercial interests by announcing as a national policy that our navy will not be used for the collection of private debts. While protecting the lives of our citizens everywhere and guaranteeing the personal safety of all who owe allegiance to our flag, we should, in my judgment, announce that all persons engaging in business and holding property in other lands for business purposes must be subject to the laws of the countries in which they engage in business enterprises.

"Many profitable fields of investment are now closed because the people of the smaller nations are afraid that an investment of foreign capital will be made an excuse for a foreign invasion. Several times on this trip this fact has been brought to my attention, and I am convinced that for every dollar we could secure to American investors by an attempt to put the government back of their claims we would lose many dollars by closing the door to investment."

ANTI-COLONIAL POLICY.

Continuing, Bryan said: "Before leaving international politics, let me add that our nation has lost prestige, rather than gained it, by our experience in colonialism. We have given the monarchies a chance to ridicule our Declaration of Independence, and the scoffer has twitted with the inconsistency. A tour through the Philippine Islands has deepened the conviction that we should lose no time in our determination to deal with the Filipinos as we dealt with the Cubans. Every consideration, commercial and political leads to this conclusion. Such ground as we may need for coaling stations or for a naval base would be gladly conceded by the Filipinos, who simply desire an opportunity to work out their own destiny, inspired by our example and aided by our advice.

ADMITS SERVICE.

"In so far as our efforts have been directed toward the education of the Filipinos we have rendered them a distinct service, but in educating them we recognize that we are making colonialism impossible. If we intended to hold them as subjects we would not dare educate them. Self-government, with ultimate independence, must be assumed if we contemplate universal education in the Philippines. As soon as opportunity offers, I shall discuss the Philippine question more at length, and I shall also refer to English rule in India, for it throws light upon our own problems in the Philippines, but these subjects must be reserved until I can speak more in detail.

DEFECT IN CONGRESS.

"In several of the nations of Europe, the legislative department of government is more quickly responsive to public sentiment than is our Congress. In England, for instance, where the ministry is formed from the dominant party, when an election is held upon any important issue, the government proceeds to put into law the will of the people expressed at the polls. While our system is superior in many respects, it has one defect, viz: That Congress does not meet in regular session until thirteen months after the election. During this period there is uncertainty, long drawn out, which, to the business community, is often more damaging than a change of policy promptly carried into effect. Would not the situation be improved by a constitutional amendment convening the first session of Congress within a few months after the election and compelling the second session to adjourn several days before the following election? Such a change would not only serve legitimate business interests, and give the public the benefit of more relief through remedial legislation, but it would protect the people from the jobs that are usually reserved for the short session, which is now had after the long session, and when many members feel the less responsibility because of their defeat at the polls.

HOW TO ELECT SENATORS.

"I return more convinced than ever of the importance of a change in the method of electing United States Senators.

"There is noticeable everywhere a distinct movement toward democracy in its broadest sense. In all the countries which I have visited, there is a demand that the government be brought nearer to the people. In China, a constitution is under consideration. In Japan, the people are demanding that the ministry, instead of being chosen by the Emperor, from among his particular friends, shall be selected from Parliament and be in harmony with the dominant sentiment; in India, there is agitation for a native congress; in Russia, the Czar has been compelled to recognize the popular voice in the establishment of a douma, and throughout Europe the movement manifests itself in various forms.

"It must be difficult to overestimate the strategic advantage of this reform, for since every bill must receive the sanction of the Senate, as well as of the House of Representatives before it becomes a law, no important legislation of a national character is possible until the Senate is brought into harmony with the people.

"I am within the limits of truth when I say that the Senate has been for some years the bulwark of predatory wealth, and that it even now contains so many members who owe their election to favor-seeking corporations, and are so subservient to their masters as to prevent needed legislation. The popular branch of Congress has four times declared in favor of this reform by a two-thirds vote, and more than two-thirds of the States have demanded it, and yet the Senate arrogantly and impudently blocks the way.

INDORSES INCOME TAX.

Bryan indorsed the idea of an income tax, and passed to the subject of labor and capital.

INDUSTRIAL DISPUTES.

He said:

"In advocating arbitration of differences between large corporate employers and their employés, I believe we are defending the highest interests of both parties to the disputes, viz.: The employers, the employés and the public.

"The employé cannot be turned over to the employer to be dealt with as the employer may please. The question sometimes asked: 'Cannot I conduct my business to suit myself?' is a plausible one, but when a man conducting his business attempts to arbitrarily fix the condition under which hundreds of employés are to live and to determine the future of thousands of human beings, I answer with no hesitation that he has no right to conduct his own business in such a way as to deprive his employés of their right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

"To support this position, I only need refer to the laws regulating the safety of mines, the factory laws fixing the age at which children can be employed, and usury laws establishing the rate of interest. The effort of the employer to settle differences without arbitration has done much to embitter him against those who work for him and to estrange them from him—a condition deplorable from every standpoint.

STRIKE IS TWO-EDGED.

"But if it is unwise to make the employer the sole custodian of the rights and interests of the employés, it is equally unwise to give the employés uncontrolled authority over the rights and interests of the employer. The employés are no more to be trusted to act unselfishly and disinterestedly than the employers. In their zeal to secure a present advantage, they may not only do injustice, but even forfeit a larger future gain. The strike, the only weapon of the employé at present, is a two-edged sword and may injure the workmen as much as the employer, and even when successful is apt to leave a rankling in the bosom of wage-earners that should not be there.

SOCIETY CONCERNED.

"Society, however, has something at stake as well as the employer and employé, for there can be no considerable strike without considerable loss to the public. Society, therefore, is justified in demanding that the differences between capital and labor shall be settled by peaceful means. If the permanent impartial board is created to which either party of an industrial dispute may appeal, or which can of its motion institute an inquiry, public opinion may be relied upon to enforce the finding. If there is compulsory submission to investigation, it is not necessary that there shall be compulsory acceptance of the decision, for a full and fair investigation will in almost every case bring about a settlement.

"GOVERNMENT BY INJUNCTION."

"No reference to the labor question is complete that does not include some mention to what is known as 'government by injunction.' As the main purpose of the writ is to evade trial by jury, it is really an attack upon the jury system, and ought to arouse an unanimous protest. So long as the meanest thief is guaranteed a trial by jury, a jury ought not to be denied to wage-earners. However, as the writ is usually invoked in case of strike, the importance of the subject would be very much reduced by the adoption of a system of arbitration, because arbitration would very much reduce even if it did not entirely remove the probability of a strike.

EIGHT HOURS FOR WORK.

"Just another word in regard to the laboring man. The struggle to secure an eight-hour day is an international struggle, and it is sure to be settled in favor of the workingmen. The benefits of the labor-saving machinery have not been distributed with equity. The producer has enormously multiplied his capacity, but so far the owner of the machine has received too much of the increase and the laborer too little. Those who oppose the eight-hour day do it, I am convinced, more because of ignorance of some of the facts than because of lack of sympathy with those who toil. The removal of work from the house and the factory has separated the husband from his wife and the father from his children, while the growth of our cities has put an increasing distance between the home and the workshop. Then, too, more is demanded of the laboring man now than formerly. He is a citizen, as well as a laborer, and must have time for the study of public questions, if he is to be an intelligent monarch. To drive him from his bed to his task, and from his task to his bed, is to deprive his family of his company, society of his service, and politics of his influence."

Bryan then turned to Democratic topics, saying, in beginning his theme:

"Thus far, I have dwelt upon subjects which may not be regarded as strictly partisan, but I am sure that you will pardon me if, in this presence, I betray my interest in those policies for which the Democratic party stands. I have had no opportunity to make a Democratic speech for almost a year, and no one—not even a political enemy—could be so cruel as to forbid me to speak of these policies on this occasion."

CONGRATULATES PRESIDENT.

Continuing, he said: "While men may differ as to the relative importance of issues, and while the next Congress will largely shape the lines upon which the coming Presidential campaign will be fought, I think it is safe to say that at present the paramount issue in the minds of a large majority of the people is the trust issue. I congratulate President Roosevelt upon the steps which he has taken to enforce the anti-trust laws, and my gratification is not lessened by the fact that he has followed the Democratic, rather than the Republican platform in every advance he has made."

ROCKEFELLER'S "PINCH."

"We are indebted to the younger Rockefeller," said Bryan, "for an illustration which makes this competitive distinction clear. In defending the trust system, he is quoted as saying that, as the American Beauty rose cannot be brought to perfection without pinching off ninety-nine buds, so that the one-hundredth bud can receive the full strength of the bush, so great industrial organizations are impossible without the elimination of the smaller ones. It is a cruel illustration, but it presents a perfectly accurate picture of trust methods."

DEALS WITH "CROOKEDNESS."

Bryan said the Democratic party must be prepared to propose new and efficient legislation.

"Recent investigations," he declared, "have brought to light that nearly all crookedness revealed in the management of our large corporations has been due to the duplication of directorates. A group of men organized or obtained control of several corporations doing business with each other, and then proceeded to swindle the stockholders of the various corporations for which they acted. No man can serve two masters, and the director who attempts to do so will fail, no matter how much money he makes before his failure is discovered.

"Many of the trusts control prices by the same methods. The same group of men secure control of several competing corporations, and the management is thus constructed. It is worth while to ask whether a blow may not be struck at the trusts by a law making illegal for the same person to act as a director or officer of two corporations which deal with each other or are engaged in the same general business. A still more far-reaching remedy was proposed by the Democratic platform of 1900, namely, the requiring of corporations to take out a Federal license before engaging in interstate commerce."

THE MONEY QUESTION.

"Our opponents have derived not only partisan pleasure, but also partisan advantage, from the division caused in our party by the money question. They ought not, therefore, begrudge the satisfaction that we find in the fact that unexpected conditions have removed the cause of our differences and permitted us to present a united front on present issues. The unlooked-for and unprecedented increase in the production of gold has brought a victory to both the advocates of gold and the advocates of bimetallism—the former keeping the gold standard, which they wanted, and the latter securing the larger volume of money, for which they contended. We, who favor bimetallism, are satisfied with our victory if the friends of monometallism are satisfied with theirs. And we can invite them to a contest of zeal and endurance in the effort to secure for the people the rights which have been gradually taken from them by the trusts.

TARIFF ISSUE.

Passing to the tariff issue, Bryan said:

"The tariff question is very closely allied to the trust question, and the reduction of the tariff furnishes an easy means of limiting the extortion which the trusts can practice. While absolute free trade would not necessarily make a trust impossible, still it is probable that very few manufacturing establishments would dare go into the trust if the President was empowered to put on the free list articles competing with those controlled by a trust. While I shall take occasion at an early day to consider the tariff revision more at length, I cannot permit this opportunity to pass without expressing the opinion that the principle embodied in the protective tariff has been a fruitful source of a great deal of political corruption, as well as the support of many of our most iniquitous trusts."

RAILROAD QUESTION.

Taking up the railroad question, Bryan said:

"The railroad question is also interwoven with the trust question. Nearly all the private monopolies have received rebates or secured other advantages over competitors. Absolute equality of treatment at the hands of the railroads would go far toward crippling the trusts, and I rejoice that the President has had the courage to press the question on Congress. While the law, as it was finally distorted by the Senate, is not all that could be wished, it deserves a fair trial.

"Rate regulation was absolutely necessary, and it furnishes some relief from the unbearable conditions which previously existed, but we must not forget that the vesting of this enormous power in the hands of the commission appointed by the President introduces a new danger. If an appointive board has the power to fix rates, and can, by the exercise of that power, increase and decrease by hundreds of millions of dollars the annual revenues of the railroads, will not the railroads feel that they have a large pecuniary interest in the election of a President friendly to the railroads?

"Experience has demonstrated that municipal corruption is largely traceable to the fact that franchise corporations desire to control the City Council, and thus increase their dividends. If their managers adopt the same policy, the sentiment in favor of the ownership of the railroads by the government is likely to increase as rapidly throughout the country as the sentiment in favor of municipal ownership has increased in the cities.

PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

"I have already reached the conclusion that railroads partake so much of the nature of a monopoly that they must ultimately become public property and be managed by public officials in the interest of the whole community, in connection with the well-defined theory that public ownership is necessary where competition is impossible."

OPPOSES SOCIALISM.

"Socialism," said Bryan, "presents a consistent theory, but a theory which, in my judgment, does not take human nature into account. Its strength is in its attacks upon evils the existence of which is confessed. Its weakness is that it would substitute a disease—if not a worse one—for the disease from which we suffer. The Socialist is honest in the belief that he has found a remedy for human ills, and he must be answered with argument, not with abuse. The best way to oppose Socialism is to remedy the abuses which have grown up under individualism, but which are not a necessary part of individualism, and the sooner the remedy is applied the better. As I was leaving here I set forth my reasons for opposing the Socialist doctrine, that the government should own and operate all the means of production and transportation. My observations have strengthened my convictions on that subject. Because I am anxious to preserve individualism, I am earnest in my desire to see the trusts exterminated, root and branch, that the door of opportunity may be open to every American citizen."

ABHORS PLUTOCRATS.

In closing his speech, Bryan said: "Plutocracy is abhorrent to a republic. It is more despotic than monarchy, more heartless than aristocracy, more selfish than bureaucracy. It prays upon the nation in time of peace and conspires against it in the hour of its calamity. Conscienceless, compassionless and devoid of wisdom, it enervates its votaries, while it impoverishes its victims. It is already sapping the strength of the nation, vulgarizing social life and making a mockery of morals.

"The time is ripe for its overthrow. Let us attack it boldly, making our appeal to the awakened conscience of the nation in the name of the counting-room which it has defiled; in the name of the business honor which it has sullied; in the name of the people whom it has oppressed; in the name of the homes which it has despoiled, and in the name of religion, upon which it has placed the stigma of hypocrisy.

"And if I may be permitted to suggest a battle cry, I propose a stanza, but slightly changed, from one of the strongest of the poems of Scotland's great democratic bard:

"'Columbia, my dear, my native soil,
For whom my warmest wish to heaven is sent;
Long may thy hardy sons of rustic toil
Be blest with health and peace and sweet content.
And may heaven, O their simple lives prevent From luxury's contagion, weak and vile;
Then, though unearned wealth to wickedness be lent,
A virtuous populace may rise and stand
A wall of fire around their much-

BRYAN AFFECTED TO TEARS.

Bryan's eyes filled with tears as he acknowledged the thundering welcoming from 20,000 throats. For eight minutes, while the great building seemed to tremble and shake from the shouts and applause, he strode nervously from side to side of the platform before beginning his speech. Another demonstration greeted Bryan when he told his hearers that he had been converted to the cause of the government ownership of railroads.

"I favor the control of only the trunk lines by the national government," said Bryan, "and the ownership of all other railroads by the State governments."

In an instant thousands of voices were raised and thousands of faces were turned toward a box opposite the speaker's stand, where Hearst sat.

"Three cheers for Hearst!" was the cry, which swelled until the speaker's voice was drowned for a moment.

SOUNDED CAMPAIGN CALL.

Tonight's reception, which was given under the auspices of the Commercial Travelers' Anti-Trust League, proved really to be the sounding of the Democratic campaign call. Bryan's speech was a clear-cut outline of his ideas as to what the Democratic policy should be. The election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people; regulation of the trusts by the government; a universal eight-hour day; settlement of all international disputes by arbitration, rather than by resort to force, and revision of the tariff, were his chief points. Bryan declared, however, that he was merely expressing his own opinion, and not attempting to forecast the policy of his party.

THE GREAT ISSUE.

Bryan declared that the trusts are the great issue of the day. He favored the closest supervision of the organization of corporations, and declared that no man should be a director of two or more corporations which deal with each other or engage in the same line of business. He called for the enforcement of the criminal clause of the Sherman anti-trust law, and the placing of trust-controlled articles on the free list.

Bryan spoke for an hour and twenty minutes, and was constantly interrupted by cheers and applause.

SOCIALIST INTERRUPTION.

The only discordant note during the evening was sounded when Bryan turned to a discussion of socialism, and declared that the man who says the trust is an economic growth and has come to stay is the one who is helping the Socialist.

Some one yelled: "Three cheers for socialism!" but the call was drowned in hisses.

Bryan quickly said: "My friends, I have no objection to any man expressing himself in favor of socialism, because the Socialist, as a rule, is an honest man. He is seeking what he believes to be a benefit with argument, and not with abuse. I deny that the trust is an institution necessary for economic purposes. I deny that it is an economic institution at all. It is not economic. It is political. It rests, not on natural laws, but on man-made laws."

The streets and avenues outside the garden were choked for blocks by other thousands, who stood patiently for hours for the privilege of even a fleeting glimpse of the distinguished visitor.

CHEERS AND HANDSHAKES.

Bryan concluded his address at 10:10 o'clock, and the audience cheered wildly for a minute. Then many hundreds rushed toward the platform to shake hands with the speaker. He smiled again and again. Bryan was a trifle hoarse when he ended, showing, as he said, that he had not made a speech in a long time to such a vast audience, or one that had cost him such physical effort.

SPEAKS OUTSIDE.

When Bryan had concluded his address and appeared outside the hall, he received another ovation. He needed no introduction to the vast crowd which had waited so long to hear him, and spoke briefly.

With Mrs. Bryan, he was then taken in an automobile directly to his hotel, where he was greeted by W. R. Hearst. The party went to the reception-rooms, where they talked for some minutes. Shortly before 11 o'clock, Bryan, much fatigued, retired to his apartments.

At 10:20 o'clock the vast garden was practically empty, and a few minutes later the lights were out.

WON'T SHUT DOWN UPON LABOR DAY.

Los Angeles Employers Decide that Their Men Shall Work on the Morn of the Parade—Agitators are Paralyzed.

THE Associated Jobbers of Los Angeles, comprising about eighty-seven prominent business interests in this vicinity, have, by a two-thirds vote of the membership, decided to request the members of the association to keep open their places of business and their factories Monday, September 3 (Labor Day,) and to observe Admission Day, which comes on Sunday, September 9, on the following Monday.

In addition to this decision, the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fé railroad companies have been requested to keep their warehouses open on Labor Day, as the needs of the business interests of the city, both receiving and shipping, will be the same as on other days.

The two railroads have agreed to do this, and it is stated by members of the jobbers' association that the Salt Lake road will follow suit and that the answer to their request has been only delayed.

In pursuance of this action of the jobbers' organization, the following request or notice has been issued to the members by the Executive Committee:

To the Members of the Associated Jobbers:

The vote taken among the members on the question of observing some holiday early in September—whether it should be Labor Day (Sept. 3) or Admission Day (Sept. 9) resulted in the choice of Admission Day by about a two-thirds majority.

The members of the association are therefore requested to observe Monday, September 10, as a holiday (the 9th being Sunday,) and to close their places of business on that day.

Respectfully,

M. H. NEWMARK, Pres.
C. D. WILLARD, Sec'y.
The Executive Committee.

The action of the jobbers was forestalled somewhat by the action of the Employers' and Founders' Association of Los Angeles, which comprises about forty-nine manufacturing shops and plants. This body unanimously decided to ignore Labor Day as a holiday for cessation of work and keep a full force of men working. They also decided to observe Admission Day on September 10 by closing their shops and plants.

These organizations embrace in their membership practically every employer of labor, skilled and unskilled, in Los Angeles, outside of the building contractors.

The action means simply that the employers are too busy to waste the day upon senseless parades and gatherings at public parks, where the principal element is "steam beer."

The statement is also made by members of the organizations that no "time-and-a-half" wages will be paid the workmen for attending to their duties on Labor Day.

A number of the smaller wholesale houses and jobbers who are not members of the organization have signified their intention of also keeping open through Labor Day and observing Admission Day instead.

This practically universal decision of the employers of the city to attend to their business on Labor Day draws into the procession the four truck and cartage companies of the city and makes it necessary for them to keep their men at work on that day also.

The fact that three out of these four truck companies have kowtowed to the totemites and employ only union men is expected to cause some little confusion on Labor Day, when these fellows desire to spend the day loafing and parading about the city.

If these fellows refuse to work on Monday, the employers will be prepared to meet the contingency. Trucks and wagons from the larger concerns will be prepared to handle the freight and other cartage. The one concern, the Merchants' Truck Company, which employs free workingmen, will also be available.

This latter subject, however, has given the employers little trouble, as the unanimity with which they have acted leaves little for the totemites to do except to fall into line and work during Labor Day.

STRIKERS DISHEARTENED.

Yesterday was a dark day in local totemite circles. An air of apathy pervaded the union headquarters that spoke eloquently of hopes dashed to the ground.

Jawsmith Wheeler, who reigns among the dupes of the Carpenters' Union, made a somewhat sensational effort to revive the drooping spirits of his colleagues by coming forth with a brand-new statement that every contractor in the city had decided to buy a large padlock and make their jobs a "tight shop" proposition.

This statement reached the afternoon sheets about the time a half dozen members of the Master Builders' Association were gathered at headquarters in the Stimson building.

A hurried call was sent to these gentlemen and the result was that Jawsmith Wheeler pronounciamento was shattered.

Instead of being prepared to bow down to the sign of the totem, the statement was made in answer to the inquiry about Wheeler's announcement that not in a hundred years would they pay higher wages and lock free workingmen out of their shops.

"Instead of becoming weaker in their stand against the unions," said Secretary Cline of the Builders' Exchange, "the contractors have decided to present a united front to their demands and grant no part of them."

The fact that the Carpenters' Union now stands alone, with the exception of the half-hearted attitude of the plumbers' local in making its demands for higher wages and a half holiday on full pay, has, in the opinion of the contractors, simplified the matter, and the more outspoken of the master builders predict that the carpenters will retire from their present stand before Tuesday, September 4, dawns.

As has been stated in The Times, the bricklayers and plasterers do not now ask for anything but a half holiday without pay, which some contractors say may be granted without discussion.

The Structural Iron Workers' Union has not asked the employers for any sort of an agreement, but have been working under cover, adding new members to their roll with the intention of springing a surprise upon the employers September 4.

They have been forestalled by the employers securing information of their plans and discharging every man who joined their organization. The employers say they were compelled to do this in self defense. The action was salubrious, and, together with the information that the big chiefs of the totemites in San Francisco would have the fight of their lives on their hands owing to the determined stand taken by the United Railways Company, and would not be able to offer a "haven of refuge" to disgruntled totemites of this city, practically put an end to the plans.

PLY BOLD BUNCO GAME IN PARKS.

TWO MEN WEAR BOGUS STARS AND GET COIN WITH GUNS.

Police Say Prisoners Made Purported Arrests of Many Male Escorts of Women and Frightened Victims Into Turning Over Their Money to the Supposed Officers.

Highway robbery may be the charge against J. Murphy and Harry Hall, who were identified yesterday by a number of victims as the operators of a daring new bunco game. The police say that the two men worked at impersonating officers in Eastlake, Hollenbeck and Elysian Parks, and that being armed with revolvers and equipped with bogus stars, they extorted money from many men whom they found in company with women in unfrequented spots.

Street-car employés were the most frequent victims of the pair, it is alleged. Others were robbed, some men of prominence. In one case a real estate man was held up at revolver's point and relieved of his money without any pretext and without any authority save that of the menacing pistol muzzle.

Patrolmen Holm and King, now on motorcycle duty, and Park Officer Bryant of Elysian Park, captured Hall and Murphy late Wednesday night. The prisoners had just gotten $5 from a young man whom they had found with a young woman in Elysian Park.

Holm, Bryant and King studied the operations of the pair some time before they made the arrests. The data they got was interesting. The prisoners had been working alternately in the three parks named. They had field glasses. Hiding behind a park bench with the arc light in such a position that their glasses gave them good range, they would wait for victims. When they found a couple they would approach them, and terming themselves officers, would pretend to place them under arrest. In one case they took a man and a woman within half a block of the East Side Police Station before the man reluctantly asked: "How much will you take to let us go?" They got $10 from the man.

In many cases, say the officers, Hall and Murphy pretended to place under arrest men and estimable women who were simply enjoying a walk beneath the trees. More than once it is alleged, they never used the "arrest" bluff, but with a revolver held up couples.

In few of these cases did the victims make reports to the police. Bryant was the first officers to discover the pair. He watched them until he found their rooms, and their method of operation. Then Patrolmen Holm and King went to work with him to capture the men. After the arrest of the men, Patrolman Willard Smith, on plain clothes duty, found a number of victimized street car men, who with the other victims, identified the prisoners.

REVEALS PERFIDY OF SLAYER.

Search of Detectives for History of Fred Cook Shows How He Deserted Family.

Apparently most devoted to his wife and family until three years ago, when he suddenly left them destitute—this is the past history of Fred Cook's life in West Roxbury, a suburb of Boston. The man who brutally murdered his former wife on a Santa Monica car Monday night vanished from the family home on the former occasion as completely for the time as he did when he fled from the car bearing her bleeding body.

Cook arrived in Boston six years ago from Prince Edward's Island. In West Roxbury he built a home. A plasterer by trade, he did all the interior work himself, and took pride in the fact. His neighbors knew him but little. What few friends he did make found the man intelligent and likeable. To all appearances he was perfectly happy with his wife and two little children.

Then he left them. They were destitute. And in this condition Mrs. Cook learned that he was working in Los Angeles for $6 a day. How she followed him; got her divorce; came to fear him and ultimately died by his hand has been told.

In Boston lives Mrs. Dunn, a sister of Mrs. Cook. To this sister Mrs. Cook had written and in her letters was nothing to show the husband's faithlessness.

Detectives and deputy sheriffs have scoured the city and suburbs for Cook. They can find no trace of the man. Where he has gone they have no idea. The bloody tragedy has in the last two days resolved itself into a mystery—and that mystery centers in the whereabouts of Fred D. Cook, alive or dead.

CHANGE NOT TO BE MADE.

Chief of Police Says Sergt. Craig Will Not Be Transferred to the University Station.

The talked-of transfer of Sergt. Craig to the University Police Station will not be made, and Chief of Police Auble declares that such a change never was contemplated. It was reported in The Times, on what appeared to be reliable authority, that the transfer would be made today, and the statement was made that strained relations between Craig and many officers was thought to be the direct cause of his removal to the suburban station. There is nothing in this, according to the Chief, who says that Sergt. Craig is a thoroughly efficient officer, the right man in the right place, Loss of Injuries.

George W. Mathewson, who was injured by being struck by a plank in the Home Telephone Building, died at the Good Samaritan Hospital yesterday, and the body was removed to Bresee Brothers' morgue, where an inquest will be held today.

Co. F's Successor.

The adjutant-general of the National Guard of California announced yesterday that a new company will be mustered in in Los Angeles to take the place of Co. F, Seventh Infantry, which was hauled out of the service a few weeks ago under stormy circumstances on the charge of insubordination.

To Boom Locality.

The Home Improvement Association, an organization for the general good of all citizens living between Washington and Pico streets and west of Rosedale, will hold a big social gathering Friday evening of next week in Harvard Hall, Western avenue and Sixteenth street. Short addresses, music and dancing will make up the programme.

Brush Fire Scare.

A large brush fire almost created a panic at the Hollenbeck Home for old people on Boyle Heights yesterday. The smoke was heavy and enveloped the building until the inmates supposed it to be on fire. A City fire company extinguished the flames, which had been kindled by an employé of the home and had got beyond his control.

Lock Locked Up.

Jue Lock, a Chinaman, was yesterday arraigned before United States Commissioner Williams on a charge of having illegally imported into this country and held in confinement for purposes of prostitution a Chinese woman by the name of Lui She. The complaining witness was C. E. Potts. Lock was held for examination on September 11, and his bail set at $7500, which he did not furnish, and he was locked up.

Red Confederate Bills.

J. C. Powers and Fred Williams were arrested last evening and are held in the city jail on suspicion. Two officers from the University Police Station met the men and they say they acted suspiciously. Upon searching Powers and Williams they found that they had Confederate bank bills in their possession, and also groceries. The officers say they did not answer their questions satisfactorily, and the police believe that they have been passing the bills. The detectives will investigate today.

Five Fires in One Plant.

Sparks from an electric generator in the Pioneer Roll Paper Company's plant, No. 240 Macy street, set fire to the roof last evening. Before the flames could be extinguished, damage estimated at $250 was done. James Wright, in charge of the plant at night, with a gang of men extinguished a fire of similar origin earlier in the evening. When the second blaze suddenly started, they were out of the building, but they held the fire in check until the department arrived. This is the fifth in the plant within a few months.

Reward for the Precious.

A large diamond ring, valued at $1000, is reported lost by Mrs. George Mitchell of No. 1367 South Figueroa street, and many of the pedestrians who have been traversing the length of the street in the last forty-eight hours have been deserting the sidewalks and going in the middle of the car tracks, with eyes glued on the dust, in search of the lost gem. Mrs. Mitchel is the wife of a wealthy Arizona mining man, and is the possessor of many valuable jewels. The ring lost was one that was cherished particularly for sentimental reasons. She has offered a large reward for the return of the gem, and to this is due the zeal of the wayfarers in searching the thoroughfare. It appears that Mrs. Mitchell, though owning much jewelry, is averse to a garish display of rings and other trinkets, and therefore carried her most valuable rings wrapped up in a pocket handkerchief in her satchel. From this seemingly safe place the large diamond ring escaped while she was riding on a Figueroa-street car.

THIEF GETS ONLY LIQUOR.

When Wm. Rennick, proprietor of the H. and L. Saloon, No. 429 South Spring street, opened the place yesterday morning, he found that the cash register had been broken open and that the safe had been tampered with. There was no money in the cash drawer and the thief did not secure anything beyond some flasks of liquor. It is the theory of the police that the thief stored himself away somewhere in the cellar, during the day, and waited until early morning before coming out.

CHASES BURGLAR IN VAIN.

The room of C. T. Thoman at No. 715 Crocker street, was entered by a burglar last evening, shortly after Thoman had retired, the thief getting away with a gold watch and $25. Thoman was awakened by the rustling of papers in a closet near his bed. Before he had taken many steps the thief dashed across the room and down the stairs. Police were called but failed to secure any clew to the thief.

WOMAN SHOT BY NEWSBOY.

Only Accidentally, However, but for a Time the Lad Thought Himself to Be Slayer.

Convulsed with sobs and almost frightened to death in the belief that he had killed a woman, a little 13-year-old newsboy drew four coppers from his pocket at the Police Station yesterday afternoon and threw them on the seat beside him.

"An to tink dat is all I got," he wailed, "Give 'em to de loidy an tell her if it was four thou it would all be her'n."

It was cruel, the sport that was had with that poor little newsie while he sat there and waited to see if Miss Tillie Parsons would come out of the Receiving Hospital alive.

Pontius, the only name the newsboy would give, walked into a shooting gallery at First and Main street yesterday afternoon and picked up a rifle off the counter. Miss Parsons was in charge of the gallery and ordered him to put the gun down and get out. In putting it down, Pontius accidently pulled the trigger and the bullet, a 22-caliber, entered the right shoulder of Miss Parsons.

When she saw how terribly frightened Pontius had become, she forgot her own wound and took him by the hand and walked to the Receiving Hospital, assuring the little fellow all the way that he would not have to go to prison.

HORSE SALE BRINGS ARREST.

J. Smith, an employé of a corral at Seventh and Central avenue, was arrested last evening by detectives at his home, No. 1012 East Ninth street, on a charge of felony embezzlement, the result of a horse sale. According to the officers, Smith sold a team of horses to Antonio Caterino, No. 223 North Avenue 26 for $90 and represented the animals as sound. Caterino says the horses are not serviceable. Smith claims that the Italian thought he was getting a bargain and did not wait to have the team tried, but took the animals, unconditionally.

DOG CATCHERS GO ON STRIKE.

Poland and Bohemia in Cabal Against Bow-wow Men.

Court Tries to Arbitrate and Has Warm Time.

Pretty Lass and Eyeless Pole Carry Off Palm.

Unlicensed dogs may frivol fearlessly today. Los Angeles dog catchers are on a strike. They walked out yesterday afternoon.

"The purse isn't worth the punishment," declared Lindsay Britt, the prize-fighting member of the force; and Rollie McClellan, who is only in training, agreed with him.

"We strike for protection in the discharge of our dangerous duties," they say. Such glorious encounters has Britt had, so many times has he vanquished the foe and vanished with the dogs, that his defeat will go down in history, especially in the region of North Utah street, where live the foreign-born rioters who laid out this man of renown.

They introduced a new feature into the fight—a naked little boy who was handed as a shield by the man against whom Britt was pitted. This confused Britt. Many legs and arms were flashed before him as he chasayed for a chance to land; many women clung to his neck; he lost much hair; his nice clothes were all torn. And when he told Justice Rose about it a one-eyed Pole got up and swore that the man and baby were not there at all, and the court then turned loose the respondent, Brit declared, had battered him.

Britt couldn't fight for fear of killing a baby, and he couldn't prosecute his foe on account of the one-eyed Pole.

"What's the use," he argued, "I'd rather go into the field legitimately and be refereed out of court."

"If I've got to let thirteen women pull my hair," seconded McClellan, "I've got to have more than $25 a week for it."

They asked for their time. The pound master sadly paid them. Deputy William Powers, who had been maligned with them in court, mingled ears with the remainder of the force. They had suffered long together the contumely of dog-owning people. Bonds of sympathy bound them.

FIERCE FIGHT—FIRST ROUND.

The first round was fought Thursday morning. The regular driver of the dog wagon was ill, and Powers took his place. After a prosperous trip the wagon and two cathcers were returning through Utah street, where their visits are very frequent and their catches are always greeted with anger. The raid was successful. They caught the third thin canine in the district when they aroused the ire of a bare-headed Bohemian girl who said all she could think of, and followed them. Her's was the third dog.

Britt swung the net for a yellow cur, and as he swooped upon him there was a rush of women from the surrounding houses. Britt stood by his guns—or the dog pet—and McClellan stood beside him, saving his face from finger nails. They were too chivalrous to hit the women, and it would make a case in court. Powers was an interested onlooker.

And while they stood thus, meekly, a man was mustered to the enemy. He made for the prize fighter to knock him off the dog net. He hit him once and reeled as he got one good knock from Britt. But in landing that, the object of the battle was released from the net by a woman among the assailants, and the object went as hard as his four legs would carry him.

The animus remained in the hearts of the contestants, and Britt was still after the man, but feet were not as nimble as the wits of a woman. She had come to the fight with a baby in her arms, and she handed it to the man, who waved it in front of the prize fighter.

The fight was all off. The dog catchers leaped aboard and left the slums to their triumph.

THE COURT BLUSHES.

Britt swore out a John Doe warrant against the man who fought him. It didn't stick in court yesterday. That was largely because a one-eyed man witnessed the fight, and the man who hit Britt was on his bad side. Then that little bare-headed Bohemian girl put on her best clothes and came to court. She was the star witness.

"I remember him (McClellan) because he had such lovely curly hair," she said. "The other man was not so much of a masher. And—oh, yes, he had lovely red bows on his garters."

The court blushed, then frowned. "Were the dog catchers in costume?" But the little Bohemian girl explained that he wore them on his arms.

"Armlets," one of the women dictated, frantically. "They held up his sleeves."

All these courteous compliments toward the opposing parties were having their effect in strengthening the girl's testimony.

"And they had no business calling those folks 'dirty Jews,'" she told the justice.

"Why did you follow the wagon?"

"Just to see what I could see," she said, and looked at the court, as though his hair, too, were curly.

A ONE-EYED VIEW.

The next witness was the one-eyed Pole. He stood on the sidewalk during the melée. He never saw the prisoner out of the yard. That man just stood inside the fence and said to his wife to come away and leave the men alone. The witness was very much interested in the fight. He always liked to see which could whip, and he saw the dog get away, but the prisoner was behaving beautifully all the while, trying to make peace from a nice safe distance. That was all there was to it.

Britt bitterly declared that he had been badly treated, he was not given a chance to fight because of the babies and the women, and he wanted the court to decide whether he should be a butt of such behavior every time he went out to bring the city a chance for a $2 license. Justice Rose ought to realize that of 2800 licenses paid into the city the threat of the dog catcher influenced many, and he was a useful civic officer. Powers swore. McClellan swore. They went away swearing. It was the majority of swears necessarily that saved the day.

"The Poles and the Bohemians can beat the dog-catchers," yelled the mob to them as they sneaked away, crestfallen, after the defendant was dismissed.

HE'S FORGIVEN.

Britt asked his friends to "all come have a drink."

"Can't I come, too, mister?" asked the one-eyed Pole.

"Why, certainly you can," the generous officer replied. And as the Pole drank his beer and lifted the glass he asked forgiveness for telling a lie.

But the iron had entered deep into the soul of Lindsay Britt. He forgave—but quit. It isn't for more pay he contends—it's for protection for himself and McClellan.

All strike-breakers take notice, that dog-catchers must be good runners. They must be eloquent enough to induce strangers to go back and pick up the net for them when they drop it under stress of women. Dog-catchers must be judges of human nature. They must be able to tell the fighting qualities of lingering owners of stray dogs. They must be able to put up a few rounds if their judgment leads them astray sometimes.

There are about one hundred dogs in the pound today. When these are gone, what will Poundmaster Vacher and Deputy Powers do for a living unless there develops some good dog-catching material in Los Angeles?

The fierce fight with the Poles and Bohemians, in which the dog catchers made their last stand. After this they went on strike.

DID GOOD JOB, JURY THINKS.

Exonerates Freedman from Blame for Death.

More Facts About Hastily-doctored Martinez.

Surgeons Discuss Receiving Hospital Blunder

Dr. Charles Freedman, assistant to Chief Police Surgeon Smith, was yesterday afternoon exonerated by a Coroner's jury, if not by the facts—from blame for the death of Francisco Martinez. Freedman, while in a hurry to catch a late car, had sewed Martinez's perforated intestine between the walls of the abdomen. The man died yesterday morning from peritonitis, caused, surgeons say, by leakage from two cuts in the intestines which Freedman, in his haste, failed to sew up.

When County Hospital surgeons discovered Martinez's abdomen to be filled with septic poison The Times told the story of the affair. When death overtook Martinez the Coroner prepared for an inquest. He told Constable Cline to get a jury. And on the jury which Constable Cline procured was W. A. Garball.

Garball and the other jurymen, in the face of testimony of Autopsy Surgeon Campbell and of Dr. Freedman himself, went out of their way to say that Freedman had done all possible for Martinez.

JUROR HAS A RECORD.

Juror Garball, now under suspended sentence for disorderly drunkenness, served sixty-six days in the City Jail. He was book-keeper there, and had frequent opportunity to come in contact with Freedman.

And this, too, is known: When Garball went to jail The Times printed the story of his crime. Yesterday afternoon while they deliberated on their verdict, members of the Coroner's jury took occasion to discuss the publicity which The Times gave Dr. Freedman's connection with the Martinez case.

Garball's attitude toward newspaper publicity, can, of course, be only conjectured. Last spring the man was arrested on a petty embezzlement charge. In the course of proceedings it developed that he and another man had a disgraceful altercation over their wives, and that Garball had slapped his wife. For this he was sentenced to serve 150 days in the City Jail. He

BAER COMES READY FOR FIGHT OF LIFE.

DR. JOHN WILLIS BAER.

DR. JOHN WILLIS BAER, president of Occidental College, arrived here late Wednesday night, fresh from his Massachusetts home, accompanied by his wife, his two sons and his daughter.

"John Willis Baer—his fiat," became as familiar to Christian Endeavor readers of "The Golden Rule" a score of years ago as the name and face of the new president of Occidental has since become in every nook of the continent.

He has been a strenuous type of manhood from the beginning of his career, and comes to the college at the zenith of his usefulness, in ruddy, vigorous health, and with the determined spirit of youth to goad him to greatest endeavor. His every word and action indicate plainer than words can express it:

"Here is a man who does things."

He had not been twenty-four hours in local California atmosphere when seen by a Times reporter last night at the Hotel Guirnalda, Pasadena, but he had put in six hours of the time at the college, and was at the very moment poring over the plans of his proposed new residence with the architect.

Though strenuous, he is the very opposite of a nervous, excitable man. The calmness shining from his thoughtful brown eyes indicates that while quick of decision, an active brain and keen insight have first weighed his determination.

He is the young people's ideal. But 44 years of age, he enters fully into the life of the young, with whom he has for eighteen years been in constant and direct touch.

"Tell them," he said, "I'm here in apple-pie order and ready to put up the fight of my life. I will build a roomy house down on the Arroyo at once, which I will make a runway for the students of Occidental. I want them to feel that way, for I want to get close to them and have them close to me.

ONCE GRAIN MERCHANT.

Eighteen years ago Dr. Baer was operating with an English syndicate in fuel and wheat in Minnesota. He was State president of Christian Endeavor, and had thereby been brought into contact with Dr. F. E. Clark, founder of the movement. He had been educated for a business career and had started on his life work, as he thought, but Dr. Clark saw in him the material for a first-class secretary for the United Society at Boston. After six months the young grain merchant decided that it was his duty to give his entire life to Christian work, and went to Boston.

One of the first discoveries he made was that the society paper was on tottery footing, and though it was not among his duties, he took the management under his wing and made it the world-wide, prosperous, vital Christian Endeavor World of today. He boomed its advantages as an advertising medium in an inclosed space, which he headed, "John Willis Baer—His Fiat," and any one cognizant of the facts will always associates the incident with Dr. Baer's success.

His brethren of the Presbyterian Church, of which he was a member, had been watching his success with keen interest. They needed just such a young fellow to boost their home missions, and when they saw him become the active head of the greatest young people's movement the world has ever known, they began to make overtures to secure him as their chief home secretary. This went on for half a dozen years, while Secretary Baer circled the continent time after time, until he was familiar to the young men and women of every denomination between the oceans. He finally capitulated, and in 1900 took charge of the field work of the Home Mission Board, in which he met with the most phenomenal success.

"When I went to the Mission Board," he said last night, "I put down the stakes, as I thought, for the last time and started on my life work."

BIG GAME, BUT COMES.

When Occidental College needed a new president, on account of the resignation of Dr. Wadsworth, the long-headed Presbyterians of Los Angeles, being in possession of what they have always called "a Christian college of young people," conceived the idea of making overtures to Secretary Baer.

Most people smiled and said the game was too big, and when the trustees failed to trap it, the "I told you so's" smiled again. But one refusal didn't count. Some time later the young secretary came out here to a convention, on a boosting expedition for Presbyterian missions; he was taken to Occidental and shown the improvements; introduced to the faculty and put in touch with the students, and then he was once more invited to become president of the institution. The trap had been well baited that time and he was caught.

Already the judgment exercised by the trustees in their choice of a president is bearing fruit, and that Dr. Baer has made no mistake, but will be justified in his acceptance, is a certainty. The enrollment of students has surpassed all former years, though the college will not open until September 12, when there are signs of its opening with almost 500 students on the roll.

A new study hall has been built to the academy, which will accommodate 310 additional desks, and the third floor of the Hall of Letters has been finished with a number of new rooms. All this, with a lot of new blood in the faculty, points to great things for Occidental.

His inauguration as president will take place on October 25, when the ceremonies will be such as to attract wide attention. Many prominent educators will be in attendance, and Dr. Baer's lifelong friend, Robert E. Speer of New York, a co-worker on the Presbyterian board, will also be present.

LITTLE BOY SHOOTS SISTER.

Carrie Dunbar's Face Disfigured for Life by Bullet from an Old Revolver Found in House.

The revolver that was "not loaded" narrowly missed snuffing out the life of fifteen-year-old Carrie Dunbar of No. 3031 Eagle street yesterday noon. Though the girl will live, she will carry the disfiguring marks of the bullet for life.

Carrie's brother, George, 11 years of age, was playing wild west with an old revolver which had been left on a shelf in the house. The boy had secured the weapon, and was having a royally good time snapping it in his sister's face.

In spite of the protests of the little girl, the would-be Indian killer kept at his dangerous sport. He pulled the trigger one too often, and exploding a cartridge in the weapon, shot his sister full in the face.

The bullet entered the nose, and rendering both bone and cartilage came out of her right cheek near the ear. In its passage the bullet missed passing through the brain only by the deviation of little more than a hair's breadth.

The girl ran screaming from the house, while the frightened boy threw away the revolver and ran sobbing after her.

The wounded child was taken immdiately to the office of Dr. Curtis M. Beebe, who dressed the wounds and put the child to rest in a bed in his office, announcing that she was in no danger, but that the scars would probably remain on her face the remainder of her life.

TWO THOUSAND AN ACRE.

Thomas Hughes Purchases Winship Property at Palms on Electric Line to Santa Monica.

The Winship ranch at Palms has been sold to Thomas Hughes, a well-known oil man of Los Angeles. The ranch comprises about twenty-four acres, and nearly all the acreage has been highly improved in various ways. The property lies close to the line of the Los Angeles Pacific Railroad running from Los Angeles to Santa Monica by way of Ocean Park, which enhances the value of the land. What Mr. Hughes intends to do with the property he has not divulged.

The price paid is slightly less than $50,000, or approximately $2000 an acre. The sale was made through the agency of Harry Jackins.

CAR FULL OF TOTS IS ODDLY WRECKED.

A SAN GABRIEL electric car, crowded with Sunday-school children bound on a picnic party to Eastlake Park, was wrecked in a peculiar manner near Baird's station at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. No one was injured.

Traveling at a high rate of speed, on a perfectly straight track, the rear trucks suddenly left the rails, and the car humped over the ties for fully 300 feet. The derailed trucks gradually worked their way down the four-foot embankment, becoming more and more deeply embeded in the sand and gravel.

Suddenly, with a rending of timbers, the body of the car—now leaning far toward the ditch as it rocked and lurched along—tore itself from the rear trucks and swung down the bank with a crash.

The front trucks still held to the rails and to the forward portion of the car, so that as it finally rested the whole framework was wrenched into an L, with the short end still on the track. Windows were broken and children were hurled from their seats, yet no one was cut and no bones were broken.

The south-bound track was blocked for more than an hour, not only because of the wreckage, but also because the tracks themselves were badly twisted out of place. But traffic was maintained with little loss of time by using the cross-over, north and south-bound cars being handled in groups, and alternating for the right of way over the clear track.

When the first city-bound car came along on the other right of way, four frightened women and a score of tear-stained children were taken aboard, and landed safely at Eastlake Park. One of these women told her story of the accident:

"From the questions you ask you must be a press agent," she said, with the first smile that had flitted across her face since the experience. "Well, I will tell you all about it, if you promise not to try and find out who I am," and, turning to a demure little man on the seat beside her, she commanded, "Uncle Henry, tell the rest of the ladies that there is a reporter on this car, and that if they don't watch out they will get their names in the paper."

Uncle Henry grinned and disappeared inside the car for a few moments.

"Well, we were going along at a right smart clip," said the lady, half-turning in her seat. "The car was crowded with these children. It is a united Sunday-school picnic of all the churches in Alhambra, San Gabriel and Dolgeville. We wanted to have a special car, but the railroad company charged 25 cents a head, and as we can ride for 7 cents on our books, we decided to come on the regular car—Oh! If we had only taken the special! Of course we are glad we are not all killed, but the children's picnic is ruined.

"We were going forty miles an hour. The children were all looking out of the windows, most of them on their knees. They were pointing at the

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Representatives of the brewery interests yesterday afternoon captured Councilman Howton and dragged him away from an attempted meeting of the City Council, called to pass an ordinance restricting the saloon district, and to make other provisions for granting of licenses. An attempt will be made today to hold a special session to pass this ordinance.

A report was current at the City Hall yesterday that the position of Chief Deputy City Clerk might be abolished, and that thus Charles Wilde would be dropped from the city's service.

Judge Bledsoe took under advisement the demurrer of Sam T. Clover to the charge of contempt of court made by Judge B. N. Smith on account of a "pome" and cartoon Sammy printed.

Ernest Stackpole was sentenced for life to San Quentin prison yesterday by Judge James for the murder of Joel Scheck. A motion for a new trial was made but the attorneys for the defense did not take advantage of the willingness of the district attorney that a new trial be granted.

Judge Bordwell denied a petition for a writ of mandate to compel City Clerk Harry Lelande to issue a wholesale liquor license to William N. Schmees.

Tom Savage gets the fortune in cash left by his wife under the name of May Stack, through a decision of Judge Bordwell.

Mary and Annah Lawrence, the "Lark" and the "Owl," who were arrested on suspicion of collecting donations to a mythical religious fund, were convicted of vagrancy yesterday and will be sentenced today. An alleged brother of the women, the "Eagle" has agreed to leave the city.

AT THE CITY HALL.

HOWTON BLOCKS SPECIAL SESSION.

LETS BREWERY REPRESENTATIVES DRAG HIM AWAY.

Councilmen and Citizens Angry at Action of Sixth Ward Spook, Who Seeks to Aid Brewery Interests. The Council Would Kill Roberts's Broadway Saloon License.

If anything could add obloquy to the already established record of "Spook" Howton of the Sixth Ward as a Councilman, that thing was his own action at yesterday's called meeting of the Council to pass a special ordinance regulating the location of saloons.

Howton deliberately insulted the members of the Council and the citizens in attendance, and at the same time showed in a most open and brazenly impudent manner that he is simply the henchman of the brewery interests of this city.

Through his deliberate act, the meeting of the Council was prevented, even after he had been in the Council chamber. Before the faces of his waiting fellow-members, Howton walked away, arm in arm with a member of the coterie of brewery men who were hanging about the corridors. There being no quorum, after a long wait in the hope of securing the presence of the sixth member, the Councilmen adjourned.

There were three calls for special meetings drawn up yesterday, and finally one was duly signed by Smith, Summerland and Howton, calling the body together at 2:45 o'clock. At that time there were present and answering to roll call Councilmen Summerland, Hammond, Smith, Howton and Kern. Councilman Ford was out in one of the committee-rooms, and the sergeant-at-arms was sent to summon him.

At that juncture, Dan Childs, a collector for the Maier & Zobelein brewery, who before the meeting had kept Howton in tow, appeared at the door of the Council chamber, and called to Howton to come to him. Meekly submissive, the Sixth Ward misfit Councilman scrambled out of his seat and made a dash for the door. He was fearful that he might not escape before Ford came into the hall, to judge by the haste he made.

Outside the Council chamber, in the corridor, Howton was surrounded by T. P. Roberts, the man who had made application for the license in the Copp building, adjoining the City Hall on the north; Corney Pendleton, Fred Maier, of the Maier & Zobelein brewery, and Childs, who clung with firmness to Howton's arm.

With all speed this group representing the brewery interests hustled their man out of the City Hall, and dashed with him to some out-of-sight spot down the street. Reporters, who immediately surmised the game that had been played, made a dash for the Broadway entrance of the City Hall, but the party was out of sight by the time that portal had been reached.

The Councilmen waited impatiently; finally a sergeant-at-arms was sent out to seek the recreant Councilman, but he could not be located. Indignant citizens in the lobby suggested that a police officer be called, and that Howton be arrested and made to attend the session.

After awaiting until 4:45 o'clock the return of the man who was purposely blocking legislation, the Council adjourned. It is understood another call will be issued today for a special session.

The action of the Police Commission at its meeting this week in suspending its rules and granting forthwith a saloon license to T. P. Roberts for No. 220 Broadway—the building adjoining the City Hall property—aroused this demand for immediate legislation as to saloon locations. Of course, there arose a vigorous protest from business men and property owners on Broadway over the summary action of the Police Commission in giving them no time to appear before that board and present their objections to the granting of this Roberts license.

Representatives of well-known business houses were at the attempted meeting of the Council yesterday. Among them were Frank Coulter, of the Coulter Dry Goods Company; J. M. Schneider, manager of the Boston Dry Goods Store; M. Lissner, C. P. Copp, C. M. Staub and others of equal prominence.

It was in compliance with the desires of these property owners and business men that Councilman Smith undertook to gather the Councilmen together for special session. He spent most of the forenoon in getting in touch with the various Councilmen, and finally three calls were issued before they were able to get one signed up for a time that all could get together. Howton himself signed the call under which the Councilmen finally assembled.

City Clerk Lelande early in the day had withheld the issuance of the Roberts saloon license, awaiting the action of the special session of the City Council. The ordinance proposed bears the emergency clause, and would thus go into effect immediately after it is published. This, of course, would bar the issuance of the Roberts license.

Of course, after the ordinance is passed by the City Council, as it probably will be today, it must go to the Mayor for his signature. After the action of Mayor McAleer in speeding the Roberts application through the Police Commission, it is likely he will refuse to sign the ordinance that is aimed expressly at this license. In that case, the City Council, if it remains in its present mood, will authorize the City Clerk to attach to the ordinance his own signature, and it will then become a law.

The proposed ordinance provides as follows for regulating the granting of permits for wholesale and retail liquor licenses, and prohibiting the establishment, conducting or carrying on of a wholesale or retail liquor establishment on premises fronting on Broadway, between Second and Third streets.

Section 1. That no permit for a license to conduct a wholesale or retail liquor establishment shall be granted by the Board of Police Commissioners of the city of Los Angeles, unless there shall have been first filed with said board the consent in writing of the owners of a majority of the frontage upon both sides of the street whereon the premises, proposed to be occupied by such liquor establishment, are situated, between the two nearest intersecting streets bounding the block in which said premises are located.

Sec. 2. It is hereby made unlawful for any person to establish, conduct or carry on a wholesale or retail liquor establishment on premises fronting on Broadway between Second street and Third street in said city of Los Angeles.

Sec. 3. Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punishable by a fine not exceeding the sum of $500, or by imprisonment in the city jail for a term not exceeding 100 days, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

There was also included in the call for the special meeting of the City Council provision for the emergency appointment of a secretary to the Supply Committee, to take the place made vacant by the resignation of Willard Goodwin. Bert Farmer, a deputy in the City Clerk's office, is slated for this position. The position pays $150 per month, and Farmer's present position pays but $115.

MAY ABOLISH OFFICE

WILL CLERK DEPUTYSHIP GO?

A rumor current at the City Hall is to the effect that City Clerk Lelande will ask the City Council in the interests of economy to abolish the position of chief deputy City Clerk. This is the best paid clerkship in the City Hall, the incumbent being able to draw a salary of $165 per month. Charles Wilde, who is taking an enforced vacation of one month because of the recent oil-purchasing episode, in which the city paid double contract price for oil for fourteen months, has held the chief deputyship for four years. It is said that in case Lelande makes his recommendation to the Council that this position be done away with, he will divide the work of the position between his other deputies and Deputy Carroll will remain minute clerk of the Council.

City Hall Notes.

A petition filed yesterday by numerous property owners asks the City Council to provide for the extension of the conduit district so that it will include Broadway from Temple to California street and California street from Broadway to Figueroa street. As there are plans on foot for the paving of these sections of street, property owners desire the placing of conduits before the paving is undertaken.

City Assessor Evan Lewis will start his office force to work this week on checking up building permits issued since the last assessment rolls were made up. Lewis will soon have his men at work on making a revaluation of the improvements on real estate. He estimates that the valuation of old buildings in the city will be reduced about $5,000,000, but that the new building will more than make up for this deficiency.

The city health office was closed yesterday afternoon on account of the funeral of the wife of Dr. L. M. Powers, City Health Officer.

The newspaper reading room in the City Hall was opened for the first time yesterday, and during the day was visited by about 100 people. Daily papers of California and Arizona are on file.

Through the campaign of street oiling which Street Superintendent Hanley has undertaken it is calculated there will be a considerable saving to the city in the curtailment of street sprinkling. There will be no water sprinkling on the oiled streets, and it is expected they will remain in good condition for at least six months. As most of the streets now being improved, are finished with an oil coating, the street sprinklers will not be needed thereon, at least for many months ahead.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

CRITICISM NOT CONTEMPTUOUS?

SAMMY'S "POETRY" SPOKEN OF AS "SO-CALLED VERSE."

During Argument in Court of Important Case Involving Freedom of the Press Attorney for Editor of the Little "News" Raises Laugh Over Reference to "Couplet."

"Freedom of the Press," was the keynote of the defense in the contempt proceedings brought by Judge B. N. Smith against Sam T. Clover, editor and poet of the Evening News, before Judge B. F. Bledsoe in the Superior Court yesterday, and the individuality of the man on trial was lost sight of entirely in the arguments for the principles governing free speech and the right to criticise public officials.

In fact it was only when Attorney J. W. McKinley, for the respondent, referred facetiously to the "poetry" below the cartoon obected to by Judge Smith, and the publication of which he holds to be contempt of court, as a "couplet of so-called verse," that everybody smiled and glanced at the blushing poet.

Another little thrust which his own counsel could not refrain from making at Sammy's "poetry" was when he said: "My retainer does not call for me to term it poetry, though it has been suggested that this respondent ought to be punished for writing this poetry." Even Sammy joined in the laugh.

The entire day was taken up by the argument of counsel, Assistant Dist.-Atty. McComas replying briefly in support of the affidavit charging contempt, while Judge McKinley went into the merits of the case from legal and constitutional grounds, ignoring in a great measure this individual case, but basing his argument in favor of the demurrer filed upon former court decisions and the freedom of the press as guaranteed by the Constitution.

"This case is one of the greatest importance," said Judge McKinley, in his address to the court, "because it involves questions as to the right of criticism; questions as to the administration of justice and the extent to which courts may go in punishing for publications.

Judge McKinley held that however libellous the cartoon or "so-called verse" might have been—if it was libellous—there was a remedy at law, but it was not prosecution for contempt of court. He emphasized the difference between libel upon an individual and contempt for a court of justice.

"If it is contempt to criticise the decisions of a judge, then any criticism is a contempt. If this be a contempt then every newspaper article which undertakes to express any opinion in regard to any decision of any court is in contempt."

Counsel for the respondent argued that the points made in his demurrer to the affidavit charging contempt were well taken, that the publication of the cartoon had no bearing upon the Lane case as charged, but simply upon the legal aspirations of the judge and that the process at bar was not the proper one for an injured party under the circumstances to take.

Mr. McComas, for the District Attorney's office, confined himself strictly to the legal aspects of the affidavit and the demurrer, holding that the points of the latter were mostly a question of defense and not proper in the demurrer.

Judge Bledsoe at a late hour took the entire matter under advisement.

SEEKS MONEY SALVE.

SUES FOR LARGE DAMAGES.

Suit was commenced in the Superior Court yesterday by John J. O'Connor against John Martin to recover $10,000 damages for alleged malicious prosecution. He also wants $200 for legal expenses in his former trial.

O'Connor was arrested on August 12 and locked up in the City Jail upon a charge of embezzling $310 from Martin. The charge was made and pressed by the latter, but at the trial on August 28, O'Connor was acquitted.

The plaintiff claims that this prosecution was "malicious and without probable cause."

STACKPOLE TO SAN QUENTIN.

There were two surprises yesterday when Ernest G. Stackpole came before Judge James to be sentenced to life imprisonment for the murder of Joel Scheck on June 14, last; one was that the District Attorney did not oppose the motion for a new trial, made by Attorney Ackerman for Stackpole, and the other was when Judge James sent the murderer of Scheck to San Quentin Prison.

The courtroom was crowded when Judge James ordered Stackpole to stand up for sentence, many of the spectators being women. After reading the information, charging murder, and the verdict of the jury, the judge asked if there was any legal reason why sentence should not be pronounced.

Attorney Ackerman then moved for a new trial upon a large number of grounds. Among them were that the jury separated without leave of the court and was guilty of misconduct.

That the verdict of the jury was decided by means other than a fair expression of opinion on the parts of the jurors.

That the court misdirected the jury; that it erred upon questions of law; that it erred in giving each of the instructions for the people; that it erred in refusing to give each instruction asked for by the defendant; that it erred in modifying each instruction asked by the defendant; that it erred in refusing to grant a continuance to the defendant.

That the verdict was contrary to law and the evidence.

Judge James asked if there was any argument on the motion, and Dist.-Atty. Fredericks said there was not.

"We will not oppose a new trial," announced the District Attorney. "We are willing to give the defendant another chance at it.

But the attorneys for the prisoner did not jump at the opportunity, and did not so much as say a word.

Judge James promptly overruled the motion and sentenced the prisoner, according to the verdict of the jury, to life imprisonment in San Quentin Prison, instead of Folsom.

A moment later Stackpole was handcuffed and led away, while the crowd craned their necks to get a last glimpse of the man.

Wednesday Stackpole had a disagreement with his attorneys, and Noleman and Smyser withdrew from the case. Stackpole called up Attorney Horace Appel, the attorney for Mrs. Scheck, and asked him to take his case, but this Appel refused to do.

The next act in this tragedy will be the prosecution of Mrs. Scheck. She will probably be allowed to plead guilty to a charge of less than murder in the first degree.

LICENSE TIED UP.

SCHMEES LOSES MANDAMUS SUIT

When the Board of Police Commissioners granted to William N. Schmees a wholesale liquor license for No. 5722 Central avenue, the happy recipient proceeded to put up a building to hold the license and liquors. But at the last moment the board wrote a letter to City Clerk H. J. Lelande, instructing him not to issue the license, and he refused to do so when Schmees applied for it.

Yesterday Schmees appeared before Judge Bordwell in the Superior Court in a suit for a writ of mandamus to compel the City Clerk to issue the license, as voted by the Police Commissioners on May 29, last.

The case took up the entire day, and a number of witnesses were heard. Deputy City Attorney Hewitt appeared for Lelande, and Attorney I. B. Dockweiler for Schmees. The latter held that once a license was issued, it could be only revoked for cause. But Judge Bordwell held that it had never been issued, and denied the petition for a writ of mandate.

GETS THE MONEY.

TOM SAVAGE GIVEN VERDICT.

Tom Savage, the former leader in the Eighth Ward, will get a small fortune, now in the Farmers and Merchants' Bank, deposited there in the name of May Stack, who was also known as May Howard in the Tenderloin, but who was really Mrs. May Savage.

The case came before Judge Bordwell yesterday in the suit by Savage against the bank and J. M. Kellerman, administrator of the estate of May Savage, who was made administrator July 25 last. After May Howard committed suicide, May 14, it was found she had in deposit in the bank under her maiden name the sum of $8048.

As husband of the dead woman, Judge Bordwell gave a verdict in favor of Savage, and he will take possession of the estate.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS

THAT REDONDO WRECK. The first of the expected damage suits in regard to the smash-up on the Redondo line was filed in the Superior Court yesterday by C. C. McIntosh, against the Los Angeles and Redondo Railway Company for $10,000 damages. The accident was on August 13, and the plaintiff claims that he was thrown through a window for over forty feet when the collision took place. Both knee-caps were dislocated, his arms and legs injured, and internal injuries inflicted. McIntosh charges that members of the car crew were not attending to their duties and the car was running at a high rate of speed.

WANT THEIR DAUGHTER. Because they objected to the marriage of their daughter, Henry and Emma Grodzik began suit in the Superior Court yesterday for the annulment of her marriage to James M. Daughar. The couple were married on June 15 in Bakersfield, and the parents claim that Helen was only 17 years old, and married without their consent.

HORSE CAUSED TROUBLE. Judge Conrey granted an interlocutory decree of divorce to Mrs. Nona C. Brown yesterday from Harvey Brown on the ground of desertion. The couple lived in Edendale, and Mrs. Brown owned a stallion. Her husband refused to care for the horse, and Mrs. Brown insisted that he should. Finally Brown told her to take her "old skate" and leave. She left, but she did not tell the court if the "skate" went, too.

SUICIDE LEAVES ESTATE. A petition for letters of administration on the estate of James N. Hyde, who killed himself on the street this week, was filed in the Superior Court yesterday by James Streeton. The value of the estate is stated to be $10,000 in real estate and equipment of the Crystal Water Company. The heir at law named is Mrs. Grace H. Beard of Minneapolis, a sister of the dead man.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

LARK AND OWL CAN'T FLY NOW.

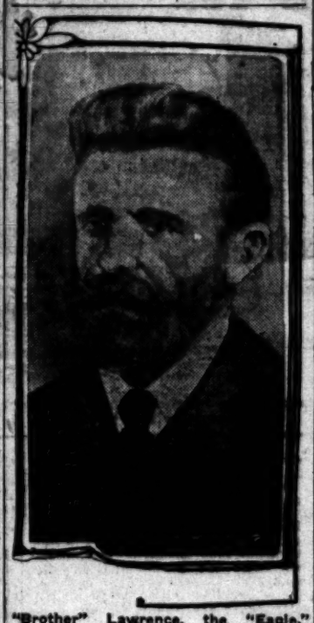
MARY AND ANNAH LAWRENCE CONVICTED OF VAGRANCY.

Sentence Will Be Imposed Today on Two Women Arrested on Suspicion of Securing Donations to Visionary Missionary Fund—Alleged Brother Admits He Has Property.

Mary and Annah Lawrence, the "Lark" and the "Owl," were convicted of vagrancy yesterday before Justice Austin, and will be sentenced this morning.

These are the women arrested on Monday for soliciting funds for a visionary mission work, but who are suspected of placing it all to their own credits in eastern banks, after paying their expenses out of the amounts collected.

Henry J. Lawrence, the "Eagle," who claims to be their brother, was present at their trial, and when he stepped out on the sidewalk, after they had been taken back to jail to await sentence, he was arrested by Patrolman Walsh and taken to the office of the Chief of Police.



"Brother" Lawrence, the "Eagle," who has agreed to the police tip to leave Los Angeles.

Lawrence is suspected of aiding the women in their alleged illegal work, and there are doubts as to the women being his sisters. He was arrested on suspicion, inasmuch as he and one of the women had served a term for vagrancy, of which they were convicted at Whittier a short time ago, and the officers also have information of Lawrence's arrest at one time in Indiana, for some sort of fraudulent operations.

After being put through a thorough examination, Lawrence was allowed to go, having tacitly agreed to leave the city. He acknowledged that he is possessed of considerable wealth in Indiana, the Associated Charities having information that he is probably worth from $50,000 to $100,000. For ten weeks the trio have been working Los Angeles, Lawrence conducting religious meetings in a tent, where over $100 was collected on last Sunday from the slender purses of pious but unwise people, while the women worked the town from door to door. Lawrence did not deny the accusation that he has been sending money to Indiana ever since he arrived here.

Lawrence was told by Chief Auble that it would be made hot for him here and that he had better get out. To this he replied that he did not have to live in Los Angeles.

Mary Lawrence sated on the witness stand that they have secured several thousand dollars in this city.

KILLS HIMSELF WITH PISTOL.

Isaac Wine Leaves Note That His Suicide Was Caused by Despondency Over Illness.

Isaac Wine, aged about 50 years, committed suicide in his room in the Hotel Avon, No. 403 South Carolina street, some time during Wednesday, by shooting himself in the head with a 44-caliber pistol. The body was found yesterday by a chambermaid.

The dead man's right hand still grasped the revolver rigidly when the police investigated the case. Wine had not been seen about the hotel within twenty-four hours before the finding of the body, and life had been extinct some time before the discovery of death was made. A note found in the dresser reads as follows:

"To Whom It May Concern: I have been continually suffering all my life. I am getting tired. If you find anything has happened to me, telephone to Jewitt ranch, Orange county.

"ISAAC WINE."

Peculiar Facts.

Lake Morat, Switzerland, has the curious property of turning red every tenth year, owing to the presence of certain water plants, which are not found in any other lake in the world.

The Sultan of Turkey has a great collection of canaries. He chooses them by the length of time they sing without stopping. Recently he paid a very high price for an English canary, which sang, without a stop, for twenty-five minutes by the Sultan's watch.

A fifteen-year-old girl of Brussels has invented a portable turntable for reversing the direction of motor cars. The apparatus is fixed on the chassis, which has a driving wheel at each end and is worked by an electric motor. It has been patented.

That the townsman is shorter lived than the countryman is incontrovertible. Dr. Tatham calculated that in the rural districts of England the average expectation of life at birth is 51.46 years for males and 54.64 for females, whereas in Manchester it is only 27.78 for males and 32.67 for females, which means that each male has to sacrifice 10.48 years, or 39 per cent. of his life, and each female 9.82 years, or 24 per cent. of her life for the privilege of being born in an urban area.

State Treasurer Declines Further Office.

Truman Reeves, Treasurer of California, Embarks in Mercantile Business.

Truman Reeves, twice unanimously nominated, and elected each time by a large majority, Treasurer of the State of California, has, notwithstanding the earnest solicitation of his many political friends and adherents, announced that he will not accept the renomination at the hands of his party to that office. He gives as his reason that he has accepted the official position with the Pacific Syndicate Stores Company as secretary and treasurer, which will necessitate his giving to that office his entire time and energy after January 1, when his present term expires.

The Pacific Syndicate Stores Company is a mercantile corporation recently organized, and has for its object the establishment and operation of a chain of 5, 10 and 15 cent stores throughout the Pacific Coast and adjoining States. These stores will be operated on the same lines as those of the Woolworth, Knox and Kirby syndicates, so familiar to the Eastern public. Many of the men employed by this company as department managers, superintendents and the like have been for many years with the large Eastern 5, 10 and 15 cent syndicates. These men are under the immediate supervision of Mr. H. B. Wood, brother-in-law of F. W. Woolworth of New York City. Mr Wood was associated for many years with the Woolworth syndicate, and has opened more than fifty stores for that company. He is now in Los Angeles superintending the opening of several stores in Southern California. The Los Angeles store, now being opened at 529-531 South Broadway, will be, he says, the largest and finest 5, 10 and 15 cent store in America. Mr. Wood also states that another large store will be opened in Oakland about November 1. The general offices of the company are located at 408-409 Lankershim building, Los Angeles, including also Mr. Wood's present headquarters.

The men at the head of this company are very prominent in business and financial circles on the Pacific Coast. The president is Colonel J. B. Fuller, ex-Bank Commissioner of the State of California. Hon. Truman Reeves, the present State Treasurer, is secretary and treasurer of this corporation. The other three members of the board of directors are very prominent in their sections of the country. Captain E. E. Caine is a well-known capitalist and ship owner of Seattle, Wash. T. K. Stateler is general agent of the Northern Pacific Railway, San Francisco. W. J. Fisher is a large real estate owner and prominent capitalist of Los Angeles, Cal.

Mr. Reeves and Colonel Fuller state that, as they are the organizers of this company and are personally responsible for its success, the affairs of the corporation will be at all times under their immediate and direct supervision. They also state that the Los Angeles, Riverside, Redlands, San Bernardino and several other Southern California stores are now under way. Negotiations are pending for large storerooms in San Bernardino, Seattle, Portland and other Pacific Coast cities. This company will ultimately operate over fifty stores.

The officers and directors of the company are all enthusiastic in this enterprise. Judging from the enormous success that similar syndicates have made in the East, and the millions they have made for their shareholders, and from the fact that this company has a new field, practically no competition, splendid buying connections and a strong directorate, there is no doubt that it will be one of the most successful and profitable enterprises operating on the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Bryan must have been subjecting himself to severe discipline during his tour abroad. There are several subjects on which he actually refuses to talk. When any one mentions politics, he is afflicted with an impediment in his speech.

Will Fiddler Schmitz give both sides a square deal? He says he will disarm the strike-breakers. Will he also disarm the strikers? Perhaps he thinks unarmed strike-breakers against strikers armed to the teeth is labor-union fair play.

The critics of the present or any other Republican administration are definitely rebuked by the announcement that the $116,755,150 of 4 per cent. United States bonds which mature next year will be refunded at 2 per cent. with premium added.

A man and wife have been arrested in Philadelphia for kissing each other on the streets. After the revelations of corruption in Philadelphia's municipal administration we can only conclude that if the man had publicly kissed some other man's wife he would have been given a banquet.

Hetty Green is said to be willing to open her purse strings if her son can only be nominated for Governor of Texas. The Republicans of that State would like to see the purse strings loosened before the nomination is made lest she may treat the situation as she treats the tax collector.

When we speak of the United States as a billion-dollar country it might well be noted that we are also a growing country. When Washington was President he was Chief Executive over 325,000 square miles of territory, and a population of 3,000,000 people. Now our President's authority extends over 3,756,384 square miles and is from the Arctic circle to Porto Rico, and from the Atlantic to the farthest shore of the Pacific. The pessimists should keep these facts in mind when they accuse Congress of extravagance.

Dist.-Atty. Jerome should explain what he means when he says that he is willing to accept the nomination for Governor if the convention that names him will let him promise to live up to his oath of office. This distinguished New Yorker has been taking to himself much credit as a reformer, but in the position in which he now places himself he practically says that whatever the convention may say, rather than the oath of office, will control the administration of State affairs. Fie, Mr. Jerome, where is your boasted manhood.

Col. Henry Watterson's conclusion of the whole matter is that Bryan will be nominated for the Presidency, and that it will be done by a united Democracy. This prediction is not so strange regarding Mr. Bryan as it is about the Democratic party. Mr. Bryan says he is more radical than he ever was before, therefore the opponents of the Nebraskan in the past must be prepared to fall down and worship the silver calf and do it gracefully. Crow should be a sweet dish in

BRYAN'S SPEECH.

Candidate Bryan's speech at his New York reception yesterday was a voiceless arraignment and condemnation of Candidate Bryan.

He neglected the currency propaganda on which, a few short years ago, he vowed the salvation of these United States depended.

He then staked his fame and fortune as a prophet on his assumption that unless the "cross of gold" were removed from the poor, suffering American people, and removed by Bryan, Disaster would overtake the nation and Poverty would stalk over the land and make it her own.

Events have belied the prophet. Never was prognosticator more unreservedly discredited, never croaker found more ridiculously out of tune, never a single currency standard more happily vindicated.

No wonder that Bryan today makes the faintest possible allusion to his old slogan of bi-metallism. Who would have supposed that he would keep the sour and distressing thing long in his mouth?

As to the trusts, Mr. Bryan is platitudinous; as to socialism he is quite sane; he has some fairly good ideas as to public ownership; he harbors the same old "free-silvery" delusions as to the tariff; as to his obsessing thought, viz., that there is only one way to save the country (which doesn't need saving) and that is Bryan's way, and per Bryan, he is as untrustworthy as he was ten years ago when he told us exactly the same thing in terms of 16 to 1.

If Mr. Bryan had reflected, rather than deflected, it might have occurred to him that this huge, prosperous, happy country never made such great progress in abating certain evils which Mr. Bryan deplores as it made while Mr. Bryan was in foreign lands.

Viewed in New York, Mr. Bryan's boom seemed quite ripe yesterday—in fact, so ripe that it is likely to rot before 1908.

KIRK KICKS UP DUST.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Kirk writes a long open letter that purports to be an answer to charges made against the State Textbook Committee, but it is no answer at all. It is a long-winded explanation of matters entirely irrelevant to the case, and at only one point does it touch the question at issue.

Superintendent Kirk repeats his former assertion that California "is getting schoolbooks of the highest order of excellence at prices not higher than, and in most cases less than, the same text matter is being obtained in any other State."

The question of merit of many of the texts, particularly those furnished by the book trust, is at issue. Against Superintendent Kirk's assertion of excellence The Times places the judgment of an overwhelming majority of California teachers, the opinion of the highest educational authorities and the conclusions of 80 per cent. of the experts chosen by the Text-book Committee to examine and report on text-books. The secret and carefully secluded records of the committee, which it claims to be "privileged communications," not public documents, prove the charge as made and refute Superintendent Kirk's bald assertion.

Comparison of prices of schoolbooks in various States, as shown on official lists, absolutely disproves the superintendent's statement concerning relative cost. The lists have been published in The Times, and they prove beyond possibility of question that the prices are from 10 to 20 per cent. and in some cases even 40 per cent. higher in California than in other States. Superintendent Kirk's reiterated statement is simply untrue. He does not even attempt to support it by quotations of price lists.

Discussion of the merits of the existing system of selection and publication of books, as contrasted with the wretched system which it supplanted, is wholly impertinent. The Times does not criticise the system of State adoptions; it condemns only the perversion of that system by Pardee and Kirk to serve their own ends by promoting the fortunes of a discredited trust.

The charges against the Text-book Committee are that it has foisted inferior books upon the schools, that it has been in collusion with the agent of a greedy combination which has been kicked out of other States for notorious attempted corruption of officials and debauchery of the public school system; that the relations between that agent and two members of the committee, Pardee and Kirk, are more than suspiciously confidential; that Pardee and Kirk have shown solicitude for the interests of the book tion that their first concern is for the efficiency of the schools; that they have ignored and even falsified the reports of their secret readers in order to divert business to the trust, whose agent is their political ally and close personal associate.

Their only answer to all those charges is the assertion that "disappointed book agents and the discharged secretary of the committee" have been supplying The Times with facts. The sources of information are of no consequence, but it can be shown conclusively that the secretary referred to was discharged solely because he would not stand in with Kirk to put royalties into the pocket of Kirk's friend, the trust agent. Gov. Pardee is on record in writing to the effect that there were no charges of any kind against the secretary and that the committee had every confidence in his "integrity, honesty and efficiency as secretary of the committee." He was "fired" on Kirk's personal demand, without hearing, and solely because Kirk and the trust could not use him. And Pardee stood in with Kirk and stultified himself.

Some of the facts published by The Times were supplied by the former secretary, who is the best possible source of information. They were presented previously by the secretary to the State Board of Education, some of whose members are tarred by the same stick that smirched Kirk, and buried by that body.

No matter by whom the facts are supplied. The only question to be determined is whether or not the charges are true. Neither Gov. Pardee nor Superintendent Kirk has said anything yet to raise the slightest doubt that the charges are true.

The schoolbook system of California has been prostituted to the book trust, and search for the panders leads straight into the secret meeting room of the State Text-book Committee.

A TRUST ON ITS KNEES.

When a vicious elephant has been beaten into submission and gives up the fight, he acknowledges defeat by squealing. Standard Oil, the mastodon of trusts, maintained for years an attitude of arrogant indifference to criticism, and professed to regard with lofty contempt the assaults made upon its iniquitous system by the American press. But Standard Oil is squealing.

In a long telegram from New York, printed yesterday in The Times as an advertisement and so marked, the Standard Oil Company wails that the hostile attitude of the American press has had a depressing effect upon its foreign trade, and attempts to show that the cutting down of its profits is a national calamity.

There is none of the old-time "newspapers-be-damned" spirit in Standard Oil's tale of woe. More in sorrow than in anger the poor, belabored old trust elephant appeals to the press to pity its condition and let up. It doesn't believe for a moment that the press intends or desires to injure the export trade, or that its attacks upon Standard Oil have any such motive, but unfortunately those stupid foreigners misinterpret American criticism, and distort attacks upon the system of organization as discrediting the quality and value of products, giving that as an excuse for refusing permission to erect storage plants abroad.

Of course the esteemed American press does not mean to hurt the oil business, but won't it please be so good and kind as to "formulate its attacks upon Standard Oil on lines not calculated to give aid and comfort to every foreign enemy?" There is a big lot of oil in America ready for export, and Standard Oil wants to sell it to the foreigner, but the managers, agents and salesmen of the trust are much embarrassed in their operations by the unfortunate misconstruction put upon home attacks on John D. and his pals by those nefarious foreign newspapers.

It is unkind to exult over a brother in distress, but we fear that at least several people in the United States will laugh unfeelingly at the humble plea of the once imperturbable trust for leave to get up and put arnica on its bruises.

Nobody has said anything derogatory to the quality of kerosene manufactured and sold by John D. It is admitted that he turns out a very good brand of oil and that his prices are not too high as a rule. But he hasn't played fair with the public or with other producers of oil in building up his business. He and the railroads have been secret partners in a bunco game and have dealt marked cards. They have been exposed and held up to public execration for their crimes of cunning and there is more than that coming to them.

The American press is the instrument of retribution in the hands of the public and it has brought the insolent Standard Oil trust to its knees. Until the law has been vindicated by just punishment of criminals who have long defied it and jeered at it, the work of the press in exposure of lawbreakers and conspirators against the public good is not done.

THE COSTLY SMOKE NUISANCE.

United States Consul F. W. Mahin, who is stationed at Nottingham, England, reports the initiation of an important project by Arnold Lupton, member of Parliament for one of the Lincolnshire districts, the object of which is to rid London of its smoke-fog and to make it "one of the sunniest cities on the globe." Mr. Lupton declares that the successful consummation of his project would make of London the most beautiful city in the world. This would indeed be a wonderful achievement; for, while London is the largest city in the world, it falls very far short of being the most beautiful.

The essential feature of Mr. Lupton's plan is the use of electricity for power, lighting, heating and cooking purposes in London, so as to do away

COMES BACK FOR THOSE "STOLEN CLOTHES."

The London fogs which cause so much trouble are composed principally, as is well known, of fine particles of coal thrown off from thousands of furnaces in the form of smoke, because of imperfect combustion. No doubt it would be possible to reduce the evil by making the use of smoke-consuming devices compulsory, but this would be impracticable in the cases of private consumers, and it would at best only minimize the evil. Smoke-consuming appliances, however effective in theory, are not always so in practice, and they could not be relied upon to cure the evil entirely.

Mr. Lupton proposes a radical remedy for the smoke evil, by doing away with the necessity for burning coal or other fuel in London. Under the system which he proposes the fuel will be converted into electrical energy in the coal fields of the Midlands, and will be transmitted to London under high voltage, there to be transformed into currents of varying potential, adapted to the purposes for which they will be used, principally for heat, light and power. The project is said to be approved by engineers of distinction. There is no doubt as to its feasibility, and there is no doubt that it would do away with the most disagreeable features of the fog nuisance, though it could not be expected to prevent sea-fogs, which must of necessity recur with more or less frequency in the region where London is situated.

It is estimated by Mr. Lupton that the smoke nuisance damages London every year fully $10,000,000, to say nothing of the discomfort and danger to which it gives rise. Mr. Lupton proposes to use a high-tension current of 60,000 volts for the transmission of the electrical energy from the coal-fields, which are 120 miles distant from London. "If London were supplied with electric generators of, say, 1,000,000 kilowatts average load," he says, "the greater part of the railways, tramways and factories could get their electric lighting and power, and the bulk of the houses be warmed and the cooking done by electric energy." He estimates that the current could be delivered in London, in bulk, at half a cent per unit, and that therefore "it could be sold at 2 cents, and even less for large quantities."

As a beginning it is proposed to construct a plant, which can be enlarged when needed, to cost about $17,000,000. The undertaking, it is obvious, will be expensive. But the end to be attained will justify the expenditure, if the project prove as successful as it promises to be. London without its dense and smudgy fogs would indeed be a great novelty; but the change would be welcome, and it would not take the average Londoner long to accustom himself to the condition of smokelessness.

Poor Chap!

Dr. William Osler, apropos of heroic remedies, said:

"Uneducated persons have no faith in the subtleties of medicine—in tiny pills, in diet, in exercise. When they are ill the y want large, strong, black, bitter doses. They want heroic measures to be applied to them.

"Thus, there was an English physician who sent some leeches to a patient, a miner.

"Calling the next day, the physician inquired, before starting upstairs for the sick room, if the leeches had arrived.

"The miner's wife, with a contemptuous laugh, replied:

"'Yes, sir; but what on earth be the good o' sending them little things for a great chap? I just took an' clapped a ferret on 'un.'"—[Detroit Free Press.

Everyday Miracles.

"Bullfinches fed on hemp seed turn quite black," said a naturalist. "Horses kept in coal mines for several years become covered with soft, thick fur, like a mole. The mastiff of Thibet, who in the Thibetan highlands has a heavy coat of wool, loses his coat completely when he is brought down to the plains. The ermine in his snow-infested home turns white in winter, but if he is taken for the winter to a warm climate he does not turn white at all. Quite amazing altogether are the changes that, with food and environment, we can effect on all living creatures—even on man."—[Philadelphia

THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER.

The Song of the Night.

"Ye shall have a song, as in the night when a holy solemnity is kept."—The prophecy of Isaiah, xxx, 29.

Night has her song, when day's voice has been stilled,
When toil's last bugle call has forth been shrilled;
Night sends her song on breezes faint with musk
Along the blurring avenues of dusk.

Then die the strident chords of forge and mill,
And softer strains float downward from the hill;
Soft shadows hush the tumult of the streets,
A whisper comes that echoes and repeats.

The dark drifts in with slow and stately sweep
And croons the low toned harmony of sleep,
And spreads about us all its velvet bars
Until we may but look up at the stars.

And then the stars chant in a hundred keys
The wondrous song of all the centuries,
The blended song, eternal and sublime
That pulses with the mystery of time.

It is the song whence spring our sweetest strains,
The song that blessed the breadth of Eden's plains,
The song that great souls on a lonely height
Have heard come falling, falling through the night.

And no man knows it, neither note nor word,
And no man knows when its great strains he heard,
But into each man's heart some time it steals
And all its marvel-music then reveals.

Night has her song—across the depths of space
It leaps from some vast, holy, hidden place,
A song of angel-sweetness in its tone,
A song of silence, mighty and unknown.

The Intelligent Dogs.

Once there were two dogs, and a man began training them.

Ere long he had the first dog drilled so that it would jump through a hoop, sit up and beg, lie down and roll over, smoke a pipe and do many other wonderful feats of skill and agility.

And the man said it was a smart dog.

But he never could get the second dog to do any tricks. He said it was because the second dog had no sense, but really it was because the second dog had too much sense to be worked that way.

There are some men who are too smart to be trained dogs.

Saved from Starvation.

Stranded on a desert island,
Bare of mussels, shrubs or birds,
We all called each other liars,
Then each fellow ate his words.

The Proper Time.

"It is a wonder to me," says the visitor in the South American republic, "that you people down here don't upset the government. Why, I learned this morning that there isn't over fifty dollars in the national treasury."

"Ah, Señor," says the soft-voiced native, "this is a most unfavorable time for a revolution. When the present administration has gathered a few millions into the treasury, then you will see the patriots arise and demand freedom from their shackles."

BITS OF VERSE.

The Beautiful Morning.

Birds in the blossoms sing sweet to the skies;
Suns set in shadows, but bright stars will rise,
And joy, at last, is the sweeter for sighs.
Bitter the crosses, and sad all the cares,
But there's ever a rose in the thorns o' the years,
And the bright smile of Love is a tempest of tears.
Kiss stands to the trouble—take hearts in the strife,
Though the sky with the black clouds and thunder be rife;
We shall reap in the sunlight the lilies of life.

—[Atlanta Constitution.

Night Song.

'Tain't a song o' sorrow
That comes floatin' through de night;
It's a song about tomorrow
When de sun is shinin' bright;
A song about de mornin',
An' a song about de noon,
An' about de twilight's warnin'
Dat we'll all be restin' soon.

De branches keepa a-swayin'
Whah de moon looks through de tree;
De katydid keep playin'
An' dat tune sounds good to me.
De music dat goes hummin'
Through de dark an' starry hours
Is about de day dat's comin', Wif de sunshine an' de flowers.

—[Washington Star.

Twilight.

(Parisina.)

It is the hour when from the boughs
The nightingale's high note is heard;
It is the hour when lovers' vows
Seem sweet in every whispered word;
And gentle winds, and waters near
Make music to the lonely ear,
Each flower the dews have lightly wet,
And in the sky the stars are met,
And on the wave is deeper blue,
And on the leaf a browner hue,
And in the heaven that clear obscure,
So softly dark, and darkly pure,
Which follows the decline of day,
As twilight melts beneath the moon away.

—[Lord Byron.

John Oliver Hobbs.

To drift away from a tide of dreams
From the sad, sad shores of time and pain; to pass
Unto a spaceless bourne of perfect peace,
The realm of boundless silences; borne on Like one who floats in summer seas with love,
Whilst from afar faint music lulls the sense
With starlit reveries, is not to die,
But sweetly to forget we ever were.
The passing of a soul in sleep from dreams
Into the quietude from which it came
Is like a melody that gently sinks
From softer tones to softer, fainter still,
Until it mingles with the soundless air
And gives its soul to silent memory.

—[James Armstrong.

Trial by Jury.

Trial by jury did not have its origin in England; the principle is many, many years older than the Magna Charta. According to a translation from the Pei Yang Kuan Pae, which the United States Minister to China has sent to the State Department, containing a memorial of the commissioners charged with a revision of the Chinese code, it originated 'way back in the good old days of the Chou dynasty, centuries before the historic little incident at Runnymede, but it has not yet been put into practical operation in the celestial empire. The Chinese didn't want to be in a hurry about the matter.—[New York Commercial.

DUTY NOT ADDED TO THE PRICE.

[WRITTEN FOR THE TIMES BY WALTER J. BALLARD.]

It is all tommy-rot and claptrap for newspapers to veil their assaults upon the protective tariff, under the guise of tariff revision talk, without specifying the particular industry or industries to be affected by revision, and at the same time insist that they are "not attacking the principle of protection," but, say they, "it is the thieving trusts we are after, who sell goods cheaper abroad than they do at home." By this token these would-be disturbers of our economic peace, and well-filled pay rolls, seek to convey the impression that the American people are paying too much for the American goods made in protective tariff factories, to the extent of the duty on each article so made. Of course these tariff revisionist newspapers do not go into details as to which article the American public is price. What affects the public, as such, is the prices of protected goods, whether trust or not, which it has to buy for its daily use. ent protective tariff put too much money, in the "thieving trusts" on is the vital question at this political juncture.

Now here is a list of the correctness of which been disputed. It and the wholesale pri and the only price ing trusts" get, for

THE POLITICAL WATCH TOWER

Surprises seem never to cease in the present campaign. The latest is the one planned for certain weak members of the Legislature from Los Angeles county. The surprise for them will be that they are to be kept at home this year, if forces now at work succeed in arousing public sentiment Assembly.

Assemblyman J. P. Transue of the Thirty-third District is another of the candidates—notable for his shortcomings. Transue is drawing pay from the county now as a deputy in the sheriff's office. These two former citizens and present nominees are to have active opposition, if the plans of the independents do not miscarry. In the Seventy-third District there is talk of running George J. Lang, a Democrat and former Police Commissioner, against Transue's scalp.

In the Seventy-fourth District, where

John C. Bell is the Republican nominee and is the Seventy-fifth, Percy V.

who were nominated solely because they would be useful to the gang element of the Legislature.

J. G. McCartney, Assemblyman

at the sessions and now Republican candidate for Senator from the Thirty-seventh District, is another who is marked for slaughter if the knife of opposition can be sharpened properly, and it is likely that Senators Savage of San Pedro and Hahn of Pasadena will find independents contesting their seats.

The Sixty-seventh, Sixty-eighth,

Sixty-ninth, Seventieth and Seventy-first Districts there probably will be little opposition to the nominees, who are, respectively, Dr. G. S. Case of Pasadena, Preston F. Cogswell of El

hambra, Walter Leeds and Fred E.

Wilcox of Los Angeles. Thompson has a good record in previous sessions, while the other nominees are going to the Legislature for the first time, and have an opportunity to make records for themselves.

The announcement has been made by the managers of the city non-partisan movement that its complete list of candidates for municipal office will be made known to the public within a very few days. The ticket, I am informed, is practically complete, but members of the Executive Committee of the Non-Partisan Central Committee have proceeded so far in keeping it a secret. For Mayor the name of W. J.

Washburn is discussed most frequently and with the greatest assurance.

Both politicians have begun their campaign of slander in an effort to defeat Ed R. Ward, independent candidate for County Assessor. Wherever they can get in a lick with the hammer they do so in their desperation to kill off that is strong for the present incumbent. False stories are set afloat regarding Ward's administration, and attempts are made to wean the Assessor's friends from him by arguments launched from a common source.

Whether it be true or not, I hear that a fund has been set aside to kill off

Ward, politically. It is said to aggregate $20,000. Indications are that some of it is in circulation among the tongue wielders of the opposition.

Chairman McGarvin of the Republican City Central Committee issued a call to the Executive Committee yesterday, naming September 11 as the time of a meeting at which vacancies in the Central Committee are to be filled. Thirty-one committeemen are to be named for that number of additional city precincts, the increase having been made since the last committee was appointed. There also have been many changes in old precinct lines, necessitating a readjustment in the committee, and from other causes there are vacancies in the body. The City

Central Committee will meet within a few days of the gathering of the Executive Committee, and the city convention probably will be called for October 1 or thereabouts.

Within a week, I am told, the independent county party will appear in print with a name and a list of candidates for county and possibly legislative offices. There will be ample room for the county Democrats to decide whether they will indorse

Democratic candidates of the independents or put a ticket of their own.

Nothing less than a special train will carry the Los Angeles county delegation to the Republican State Convention at Santa Cruz. This train will leave here at 2 o'clock next Monday afternoon, and the intention is to stop at Santa Barbara for dinner. From there the train will follow the regular route, and will reach Santa Cruz early Tuesday morning, a day before the convention will meet. It may be that other delegations from Southern California will assemble in Los Angeles and go north on the special.

The proprietor of a Boston hotel says that a week or two ago a dusty, tired-looking person from Nashau, N. H., presented himself at the desk of the hotel, stating that he desired a room.

"I've et my supper an' shall be off before breakfast," said he, gravely, to th eclerk; "now, what would be your lowest price for a room to sleep in?"

"One dollar, if you leave at 6 o'clock tomorow morning," was the reply.

"Well—er—wouldn't half a dollar make it jest about right?" demanded the wayfarer, producing a battered 50-cent piece. "You see, I'm all excited up, travelin', an' I don't expect to sleep more'n half the time I'm in there."—[Harper's Weekly.

Handsome Shirtwaists $1

The final drastic clearance of summer shirtwaists comes today, when we offer garments for which we've been getting $2, $2.50, $4 and $5, at a dollar each.

Of course you want to know the reason: it's this—at no one of the above price-steps have we all sizes or styles, and we'd rather lose money than to keep incomplete lines. Waists included are made of white batistes and lawns; both short and long sleeves; button fronts or backs; plain tailored and lingerie lace and embroidery trimmed models; and somewhere amongst them is your size. See a number in a Broadway window.

Silk and Linen

Coats Cut Third to a Half

A ponge or black silk coat is always in demand for covering party frocks, where a cool, pretty wrap is wanted. And linen coats are well nigh indispensable in this climate. "Too high priced for you?" Perhaps not, when you hear that we've made cuts of a third, and even a half, on our authorative styles—Etons, hip, three-quarter and full lengths—in variety to please the most discriminating taste.

Seasonable Silk News

Fashion says: "Brown silks for fall," and already leaders of style have shown open preference for golden brown shades. Of course, they're shown at Coulter's in every popular weave—louisine, peau de cygne, taffeta, peau de soie, messaline and chiffon taffeta. Widths 19 to 21 inches; prices 85c to $1.25.

A bargain today in 19-inch colored taffetas—not just a few odd colors, either, but the whole range, including white, ivory and cream—for petticoats or dress linings; good at 75c; a snap at 60c a yard.

We secured 250 yards of unusually good black Swiss taffeta, 23 inches wide, away under its usual value. $1.25 a yard; so it goes on sale today and Saturday morning at 75c. Its high lustre and deep, rich black make it especially dsirable for waists or elegant gowns. Doubt if we ever again get so good a grade to sell at 75c; and even if there's any left on Monday we shall advance it to $1.25.

Wash Parasols At Half Price

We're closing out all washable sunshades at half price, just to avoid having a single one left over. You'll find handsome embroidered parasols, in open and blind stitches, plain hemstitched linens, and other preferred styles here, with white or natural wood handles, from 65c to $6.25, just half early-season prices.

WILL END.

The Times Scholarship Contest will end at midnight, September 8th. To be counted, subscriptions and coupons must bear postmark not later than that hour and date. The last coupon will be printed in The Times next Wednesday morning.

Yesterday witnessed the heaviest scoring of any day, except Saturday, since the contest opened. Almost 45,000 points were turned in, the banner bearer being Grace Allen of Sawtelle, the Grand Army candidate, who came to headquarters with over 10,500 points, the largest individual score at one time since the contest began. Grace this morning rises into the 80,000 column, and about tomorrow will be giving valiant souls who bore the flag of our The fighting blood of those veterans at the Soldiers' Home is up, and the valiant souls who bore the flag of our country in triumph will not suffer their favorite to fail. They propose to stand nobly by her to the end, and the coming week will see some great things at Sawtelle as the Grand Army girl comes under the wire with flying colors.

PASADENA'S BOY.

Blake Tantau, the Pasadena boy, was next on the honor roll for big scores, turning in over 8200 points, and as a result, rising three rows, to the seventeenth place—within one of the cash prize limit. Blake is a noble young fellow, and he has his eye on that crack scholarship from St. Matthew's. He is just the sort of chap to win it, too, and it would fit him like a glove. But Blake wants a cash prize to buy his cadet uniform and pay some of the incidentals required. While the scholarship provides tuition, room and board, there will be about $100 incidental expenses for the year, and Blake wants to win this. Who will give the boy a lift toward that fifth row that calls for the $100 cash prize—provided No. 1 chooses the $500 piano, as is entirely likely.

OTHER HIGH FLYERS.

Little Mary La Lanne was the third highest scorer, with over 2600 to her credit, which helped wonderfully to bridge over that 5000 gap between Mary and the rung above her. Other high flyers were Mansie Kim, 2128; Orestes Orfila, 2075; Merle Prewitt, 1392; Maud Ashurst, 1373; Edna Wagner, 1307; Bertha Smith, 1213; Fannie Wolff, 1238; Zetta Crouse, 1115, and Earl Robinson, 925.

Zetta Crouse advances one row and takes Earl Robinson's place by a majority of just fifty-eight, and Mansie Kim goes up another row, crowding down Ignatius Parker. Frank Wiggins steps up into Gladys Eastman's place, and Mary Lallich, the Gardena girl, by grace of a liberal subscription from a friend, passes Edith Farrell.

Wilma Gibson rises into the thirty-sixth row, which Evelyn Oakley has held for some time, and Laura Lloyd makes the 8000 row. Laura is bending every nerve to reach the 10,000 row before the close of the contest. She has been a faithful little worker. Who will help this little girl over that last thousand between her and the dress circle?

J. H. F. Jarchow, that staunch German gentleman of the old school from San Gabriel, came to headquarters yesterday morning with a pocket book full of coupons for Mansie Kim, the Chinese candidate, who seems to be sweeping the coast by storm. He also left a three months' subscription in Miss Mansie's favor. Mr. Jarchow was born in 1825, and has lived at San Gabriel for thirty years. He met H. A. Smith at the office, and the two old gentlemen had a good visit, recalling experiences of forty years ago, which were listened to with interest by the group of contestants who happened to be in. "Let me help you clip those coupons," volunteered Grandpa Smith to one of the contestants, who was trimming the edges off her bundle of coupons, and soon the old head and the young one were bent over the task, one as much interested as the other. "The first thing I look at in the morning paper," said Mr. Smith, "is the scholarship department. I like to see which ones go up. I'm interested in every one of these boys and girls."

"I want to see that Chinese girl get a scholarship," remarked Mr. Jarchow, as he paid his subscription, "and I thought I would help her along a bit."

Mrs. A. D. Coombs of Edison, Cal., sent in a bunch of fifty coupons for Mansie, and a little girl from Wilmington sent in a bunch, accompanied by the following note: "I am a Wilmington girl, and I am interested in Mansie. I lived in Redlands last year, and I saved 200 coupons for a Redlands girl, and I think she was sixth at the last. Yours, Irene O'Neill."

A lady, who signs herself "A Friend," sends a bunch of coupons from Santa Barbara for Mansie, with her best wishes and a promise of more, and Miss M. Felter of Downey sends a generous bunch, with her best wishes for the success of the Chinese girl. Further contributions were received from Compton and from local sources, one of which was a new annual subscription, which counted 1000 points. Altogether, Miss Mansie's score advances this morning over 2100 points.

With fine courtesy an incog. contributor sends a bunch of coupons "for the young lady at the foot of the ladder, Jennie Ortis." The scholarship manager is always glad to receive contributions for those contestants who have made an honest effort, but failed to win high places on the ladder. A San Diego lady, Mrs. C. C. Dyer, sends forty coupons for the Gibson girl, the pretty Yuma contestant, who really merits the pseudonym of the model chosen by Charles Dana Gibson to express his ideal American girl. May the "Gibson Girl" of the contest rise like a balloon on these last days of the great race.

PRIZE PIANO.

The Schumann piano which is given by The Times as the highest prize in the Scholarship Contest has by special request been placed in the south window of the Bartlett Music Company's store, No. 231 South Broadway, just opposite the City Hall. The Schumann piano is one that has been sold by the Bartlett Music Company for a great many years. The particular piano given to the prize winner will be furnished either in mahogany or walnut case and the inside of the instrument upon examination shows that the strings in the base are all copper wound and even the tuning pins have been nickel-plated. These two features are in a measure a protection against rust occasioned by damp weather. The action, which includes the hammers and keyboard of the piano, is very fine, giving quick response and working easily. The tone of the instrument must be heard to be fully appreciated. A carload of Schumanns are now en route from the factory and will reach Los Angeles in time so that the fortunate winner will be able to have selection from about twenty Schumann pianos. The Bartlett Music Company have instructed their salesman to show to any inquiring friends the Schumann piano during the rest of the time that the contest runs. The guarantee is given on all Schumann pianos, both by the Schumann Piano Company and by the Bartlett Music Company, a copy of which follows:

WARRANTY.

We warrant this Schumann piano against any defect in material or workmanship, and hold ourselves responsible for failure in any part, natural wear and abuse excepted.

[The Times will print notices during the contest concerning the various educational institutions from whom scholarships have been secured for contestants. The object in publishing these notices is to set forth the advantages of each school in order that contestants may be able to choose intelligently the particular school they desire. This morning The Times presents some of the advantages of the Los Angeles Military Academy.]

BLAKE TANTAU, the Pasadena boy.

THE LOS ANGELES MILITARY ACADEMY.

The Los Angeles Military Academy is the pioneer school of its class in Southern California.

In 1901 Walter J. Bailey, formerly connected with the county Board of Education, assumed its management. Under this competent and experienced educator the school has not only maintained its past record, but has kept pace with the times by many desirable improvements.

The academy is in a most satisfactory location, near Westlake Park, on Commonwealth avenue, in "the hill country." The cars pass in front of the grounds, and cool breezes blow in from the ocean, fifteen miles away.

The main building is a substantial four-story structure designed for college work, offices, halls, and classrooms are large and airy and the sleeping apartments especially so. The "Home" occupied by the smaller boys, the principal, physician and matron, is close to the larger building. There are spacious libraries, comfortable and well-furnished parlors, music and play rooms.

The campus comprises fifteen acres of dry, elevated ground, admirably adapted to the purpose. These grounds afford ample space for parade, drill, baseball, tennis courts and all out-of-door sports. Their extensive bathrooms supplemented on the confines of the campus by the Bimini Bath and swimming establishment.

No sectarian religious instruction is given, but every effort is made to inculcate the highest principles of Christian character.

The fundamentals of a liberal education hold first place in the curriculum. The faculty is strong numerically, able and progressive in its aim.

The year just closed has been the most prosperous one in the history of the academy. There has been a large increase in the average attendance.

The academy is easily reached by Westlake Traction cars and Los Angeles cars to Bimini Hot Springs.

ALCOHOL FOR POWER.

By-Product of Sugar Mills Expected to Make Cuba a Manufacturing Nation.

Among the new sources of wealth which are continually being discovered in Cuba is one which promises to achieve the double purpose of enhancing the profits of the sugar industry and of affording the cheap power which will make it possible for Cuba to become a manufacturing nation. This is the conversion of low-grade molasses, a by-product in the process of sugar making, into fuel alcohol. Molasses is taken away from every sugar mill in Cuba by the trainload and dumped as waste in the fields because there is no market for fuel alcohol there at present. But this situation cannot long continue, because the use for fuel alcohol is developing rapidly and because the cost of production is so low that even at the present price of 8 cents, Spanish gold, per gallon, the distiller can make a satisfactory profit.

One gallon of Cuban commercial alcohol yields 130 British thermal units by actual test without the loss of any heat by bad combustion and very little by radiation. It has the advantage over other hydro-carbons of not leaving any residue to clog the engine. Five gallons of alcohol will develop more power in an engine than 1000 cubic feet of coal gas. If coal gas could be obtained at 60 cents a thousand feet the cost of alcohol to furnish the same amount of power would be 36 cents. Electric currents could be generated with alcohol as fuel at ninetenths of a cent per kilowatt hour. Hydraulic power alone could compete with this low cost. For heating purposes Cuban alcohol gives a rich blue flame yielding intense heat in the open air. By using alcohol vapor in a suitable stove the efficiency of the flame is increased fourfold.

With cheap power, such as can be furnished by the alcohol engine, Cuba might readily develop a number of manufacturing industries of considerable importance, such as canneries, factories for utilizing the various fiber plants, furniture factories and many other things for which the island furnishes the raw material. The action of the Automobile Manufacturers' Association in appointing a commission to study the adaptation of the alcohol engine to motor cars indicates the growing desire for a cleaner, more economic and more efficient motor than is supplied by the gasoline engine.

On the battlefield at Osawatomie, Kas., where half a century ago an armed conflict over slavery took place, Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks yesterday delivered a stirring address to 6000 persons. The occasion was the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Osawatomie, in which John Brown was a central figure.

GAS FOR FUEL.

Throw out the Coal, Wood or Oil stove. Borrowing trouble is bad enough, but it is worse to buy it at a big price. Use GAS at 85 cents per M. and set your mind at rest.

An evidence of the growth of Huntington Beach is the prosperity of its banks. This young city is sure to expand and become an important commercial center in the near future.

MINES BOUGHT BY MRS. PHIPPS.

FORMER WIFE OF MILLIONAIRE ENTERS BUSINESS.

Consultation With Prominent Property Owners in Telluride, Colo., Gives Insights to Promising Groups and Deal for the Japan-Flora Is Said Practically to Be Closed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TELLURIDE (Colo.) Aug. 30.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Genevieve Chandler Phipps, divorced wife of Lawrence C. Phipps, the millionaire steel magnate of Denver, is to rival her former husband in the business world.

The beautiful young divorcee, it is said, will make extensive investments in San Juan mines and follow the mining industry as a business.

This announcement followed Mrs. Phipps's visit to Telluride yesterday, during which time she consulted with prominent property owners in this section, and it is said that several deals will be closed in a few days.

The Japan-Flora group in Savage Basin is said to have caught her eye and probably will be the first acquired. It is said this deal practically has been closed. The Japan-Flora group comprises about twenty-four rich mining claims and are located five miles from Telluride. The present owners only recently purchased the property for a consideration said to have approximated $200,000. The group has produced good ore.

DOMINICAN INSURGENTS LOSE.

Government Forces Compel Abandonment of Town—Monte Christi Besieged by Rebels.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CAPE HAYTIEN (Hayti) Aug. 30.—Advices received here from Santo Domingo say that after the insurgents had occupied Dajabon, in the northern part of the country, the government forces made an attack on it and compelled the enemy to abandon the town, leaving Gen. Alejandro Maroado and five men killed on the field. The government force lost eight killed.

The revolutionists, after leaving Dajabon, marched to Jicaquita, and further fighting followed, resulting in the revolutionists being defeated with severe loss.

At Monte Christi, on the north coast, Gen. Camacho is besieged by revolutionists and is in an entrenched position, awaiting the arrival of reinforcements by sea.

WANG TA SIAH NO LINGUIST.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—With reference made today by the Shanghai correspondent of the Morning Post—that the Chinese Minister here had asked to be recalled—it was explained at the Chinese legation that, in view of the great importance of the relations between China and Great Britain, the Minister suggested that the interests of China could be better safeguarded by a representative thoroughly conversant with the English language, which is not the case with Wang Ta Siah.

ASTHMA CLAIMS PHYSICIAN.

Dr. Laird, Former Resident of Los Angeles, Dies at Atlantic City After Long Illness.

Many residents of Los Angeles will hear with regret of the recent death at Atlantic City of Dr. F. F. Laird, who lived for some years at No. 687 South Burlington avenue. He had long been a sufferer from asthma, and finally succumbed to its attacks.

For many years Dr. Laird was the leading practitioner in Central New York, and when in 1900 he came to Los Angeles he achieved the same success here that he had in his former home. In the East his career was especially brilliant. He graduated with honors from Whitestown Seminary, Hamilton College, and Hahnemann Medical College, and at the medical school attained the highest general average save one ever held there. From 1884 to the time of his removal to Los Angeles he was surgeon in chief of the Commercial Travelers' Mutual Accident Association, and contributed largely to its growth. In addition he was director and officer in several institutions.

He was also known as a writer and speaker, and contributed many articles to medical journals.

Three years ago he removed to his old home in Utica, N. Y., where he suffered a prolonged illness, never being able to resume his practice. He is survived by Mrs. Laird, his son Frank T. Laird, and a daughter, Mary Louise Laird.

POLICE EYES ON LABOR AGENCIES.

MANAGERS OF TWO BUREAUS THREATENED WITH ARREST.

Sergt. Craig Denounces Keepers of One Place as Gang of Robbers—Laborer Has to Enlist Aid of Officers to Secure Money Paid Under False Pretense.

Officers of the police department yesterday threatened to arrest the managers of the Crowley and Buckeye labor agencies on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses from laborers seeking employment.

S. Elden, a laborer, visited police headquarters and asked for an investigation, claiming that the two agencies had swindled him out of $2.50. Sergt. Craig conducted a rigorous inquiry into the case, during which he told the agency men that they were a gang of robbers and thieves, and that unless they refunded the money he would arrest the managers of both concerns. The money was refunded. Further investigations will be made.

Exports Still Climbing Up.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] When we reached $1,743,000,000 exports for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1906, we realized that a great result had been attained—the largest volume of exports in any year of our commercial history. But the figures of our exports for July, $111,550,440, indicate that we have started to make the export record for the present fiscal year still better.

Here are figures for each July, beginning with the year 1901, the banner fiscal year prior to 1906:

1902	88,790,627
1903	91,813,285
1904	95,228,479
1905	107,730,421
1906	111,550,440

Inasmuch as our exports of domestic products in July, 1906, were $41,193,717, against $46,299,144 in July, 1905, a decrease of $5,095,427, and as our total exports in July, 1906, $111,550,440, exceed those of July, 1905, $107,930,421, by $3,620,019, it is evident that we sent abroad $8,715,446 worth more of general exports in July, 1906, than in July, 1905, particularly manufactures.

The $5,095,427 decrease in this July in export of domestic products is accounted for by a drop of $3,000,000 in raw cotton exported, compared with July, 1905, less increases of $2,800,000 in breadstuffs, $700,000 in provisions, plus $350,000 decrease in cattle, hogs and sheep, and $350,000 in mineral oils.

Comparing the totals of exports for the seven months ending July of 1901 and of each corresponding seven months, we have the following excellent showing, in round millions:

Seven months ended July.	Exported
1901	$631,000,000
1902	727,000,000
1903	779,000,000
1904	789,000,000
1905	840,000,000
1906	960,000,000

The increases of $120,000,000 in 1906, seven months over 1905 seven months, is particularly encouraging, as is also the $138,000,000 increase this seven months over the seven months of 1901, the prior banner year for exports.

This total of $960,000,000 for the seven months of this year presages that 1906 will be an excellent calendar year for American exports, providing no political disturbance follows the approaching Congressional election. If we do not increase, but merely maintain for the rest of this calendar year the figures of the last five months of 1906 calendar year, we shall close the year with a total of $1,747,000,000 exports. For example:

January to July, 1906	$960,000,000
1906—
August	118,000,000
September	128,000,000
October	134,000,000
November	170,000,000
December	230,000,000
Total	$1,747,000,000

Indications are strong that our exports will increase instead of decrease the coming months of this calendar year, reaching a total of $1,850,000,000 for the year. Anyway, our total will exceed the total, $1,743,000,000, of the fiscal year just closed.

American foreign commerce is a pleasant study and a profitable proposition.

BREAKS REMARKABLE CIRCLE.

This morning at 10 o'clock, in the parlors of Pierce Bros., will be held the funeral of E. J. Roller, who committed suicide Monday afternoon. The interment, which will be private, will be at Rosedale. Friends and relatives are at a loss to account for Roller's deed, unless the suffering through which he has passed should have unbalanced his mind. His brothers are inclined to think this the case. For some time he was confined to a hospital on account of severe inflammatory rheumatism, and although his condition had improved somewhat, he was still in great pain. In addition to this separation from his wife preyed on his mind. Something over a year ago she left him and went East, and has not returned. Roller kept all his troubles to himself, and so his friends did not know how much he was affected. He was 40 years old, and the eldest of the family. With the exception of his grandfather, who died a few years ago, his is the first death in the family for nearly forty years. There are thirty-nine in the circle of grand-children, which is first broken by his demise. Twenty years ago he came to Los Angeles, and was well known here in the early days.

Three Bilingual Legislatures.

Under its new constitution the Transvaal is to have a bilingual Legislature. English or Dutch may be spoken. The empire has had a couple of double-tongued Parliaments for many years. In Canada an M. P. can address the house in English or French, and it was only the other day that Mr. Bourassa, who is a strong opponent of Jingoism and vehemently denounced the Boer war, attacked Sir Wilfrid Laurier for replying in English to a speech of his in French. In New Zealand the Maori or native members have the right of speaking in their own language, their speeches being translated sentence after sentence by an official interpreter.—[London Chronicle.

DISEASES OF MEN

Others May Treat But We Cure

Blood Poison

On account of its frightful hideousness, specific or contagious poison in the blood is the worst of all diseases. It may be either hereditary or contracted. Once the system is tainted with it, the disease may manifest itself in the form of scrofula, eczema, rheumatic pains, stiff or swollen joints, eruptions or copper-colored spots on face or body—little ulcers in the mouth or on the tongue, sore throat, swollen tonsils, falling out of the hair or eyebrows, and finally a dilapidated decay of the flesh and bone. Our specific treatment for this trouble, varied and modified to suit each individual case, is an unfailing cure to which a vast army of restored men today owe their sturdy health.

MEN READ—We know the diseases and weaknesses of men like an open book. We have devoted our lives to it, and thousands upon thousands of men, restored to ROBUST, VIGOROUS HEALTH are today living monuments to the skill, knowledge and success of Dr. Greene & Co. We never undertake a case that we think we cannot cure. We have made so thorough a study of all diseases of men and have cured so many cases that if there is a cure for YOUR DISEASE you will find it here. WE CHARGE NOTHING FOR CONSULTATION, and our knowledge, skill and experience are at your service. We will explain to you HOW AND WHY WE CAN CURE YOU; why the diseases of men require the knowledge and skill of MASTER SPECIALISTS. COME PERSONALLY IF YOU CAN, but if you cannot call, write us fully in the strictest confidence.

CERTAINTY OF CURE is what you want. Be sure as we are that we can cure disease. All our years of experience and office equipment are at your disposal, contracted in this declaration: WE WILL GIVE YOU A WRITTEN GUARANTEE TO CURE SPECIAL DISEASES OR REFUND YOUR MONEY. This means we have confidence in our ability to cure you, and that in taking our treatment you cannot lose anything. It costs nothing unless we cure your Varicocele, your Hydrocele, your Hemorrhoids, or any disease that we guarantee to cure. Our professional fees are always reasonable and not more than you will be pleased to pay.

WAY I NEVER FAIL

Pay When You Are Cured

The Leading Specialist

My practice has become larger by far than that of any other physician or specialist in the West, and this is solely because of the positive cures I have made. The vast multitudes of men who have taken my treatment have not been disappointed. They know that I do not promise more than I can perform. To them I have actually illustrated in the cure of their own cases the truth of what I claim, namely, that my treatment is as certain to cure as it is that the patient engages my services and follows my directions. My success is due, not alone to education, experience, skill and scientific equipment, but to the fact that I limit my study and practice strictly to diseases and weaknesses of men. I treat nothing else. To male maladies alone I have earnestly and exclusively devoted twenty-five of the best years of my life, and on them all my faculties are concentrated.

MEN

Successfully Treated

In the treatment of the numerous Pelvic Diseases so common among men, we believe that our experience, and past success warrant us in saying that we can accomplish all that is possible, and invite every man to come and see us who has either STRICTURE, VARICOCELE, WEAKNESS, DISCHARGES, CONTAGIOUS PRIVATE DISEASE, BLOOD POISON, ETC.

"It is no more than we expect to hear nearly every man who consults us relate a long story of his having been unsuccessfully treated, but in nine cases out of ten such experience can be attributed to the fault of the afflicted man, for he has had himself under the care of physicians of not sufficient experience to be past their experimental practice."

Any man seeking treatment should know that to insure himself of effectual treatment, he should employ a specialist of ripe age and long experience.

Come to see us and note the difference in the way experienced specialists will treat you, and how soon you can be benefited by the right kind of treatment. If you are skeptical we can refer you to former patients, who will vouch for our conscientious, successful, "GOLDEN RULE" dealing with them. To demonstrate our cures we will until Sept. 1 charge only ONE-HALF our regular fee.

BEECH'S VIGORINE cures weakness and failure; compounded and used only by us. In plain packages; by mail, $1; 6 for $5. Send for it.

Men out of town, write for booklet explaining how many cases we cured by our special home treatment.

TELLS WHY HE SHOT TO KILL.

Wilson's Statement of What Led to Tragedy.

Murder of Belden Followed Girl's Betrayal.

Prisoner Shows no Regret for Victim's Death.

Perfectly calm and without a trace of emotion, W. T. Wilson told his story in the County Jail yesterday of how he came up to the shooting of Walter S. Belden in Long Beach Wednesday morning.

Wilson, who is a small man, did not appear affected in the least by the tragedy in which he was the principal figure. No milder mannered man apparently ever killed another. He told of how he had warned his daughter, Nathalie Herrin, against Belden and had told her she must not speak to him if she met him; of how he and her mother had when they learned the truth and that the young girl had been betrayed by Belden, gone in search of the man without bitterness, but without regret at his purpose.

"I think it is right that people should know how I was justified in what I did," he said.

W. A. Knight of Long Beach, his attorney, had told Wilson not to talk to reporters, but yesterday the prisoner gave out a statement of the principal events of the tragedy, the story of which was fully told in The Times yesterday.

In his statement Wilson said:

STORY OF A CRIME.

"It was about seven weeks ago that I first met Nathalie first and noticed anything. Wilson said. "I did not notice anything serious until about a week ago, when the child confessed, and then my suspicions amounted to almost certainty, for she was only a child.

"This happened on August 11. I had no suspicions until a few days before then I noticed that he was in the habit of talking with her near our home on the strand, when she was in charge while her mother and I were home for our meals.

"I called the child aside and told her that she was still a little girl and too young to have a sweetheart. 'When you are grown up and old enough, it will be my business to see that you have a sweetheart that is worth while,' I said to her.

GAVE GIRL PRESENTS.

"I warned her to keep away from him, but my suspicions grew apace. I found that he had laid out a deliberate course to capture the affections of the child, and that he had been successful. He had sent her presents and beginning by pretense of friendship, he had wormed his way into her graces until she allowed him to put his arm about her and kiss her. From that it went, as I found out later, to worse things.

"For two or three nights later I kept watch. I saw him walk with her, his arm clasped about her, from their meeting place to the corner of the building where we roomed.

"Then the child had left him. I followed him and asked him what he meant. He spoke up and said: 'Mr. Wilson, I meant no harm. That will never happen again.'

"I was enraged at the conduct of the man toward our little girl, and I struck him in the face. I slapped him until I drove him from the sidewalk, and then he turned and ran. That was Monday night, the 12th.

"It happened on the 11th, when he met Nathalie behind one of the buildings. He had been there before, making love to her. I had grown more and more suspicious, and on Monday, August 13, I questioned the girl. She told me how he had gradually won her care for him, and then she confessed to everything. She admitted that the man had taken advantage of her innocence, not once, but twice.

CONVINCED OF TRUTH.

"I went down to our place of business and told my wife. All she said was, 'Impossible.' Then she went to see the child and talked with her alone. After a little while she came back, and her face was as white as a sheet. The girl had convinced her.

"Then both of us together went to see Belden, and the child convinced us beyond a doubt."

Wilson asked about the details of Belden's attempt to shoot Belden, or the feelings that prompted him to finally take the man's life, Wilson refused to say a word.

"I have told you how it started. That is all that I can say. The rest of the story will probably come out in court. A man in my position must be guarded in what he says.

"But the child will bear me out in what I say. I have already told. I am convinced she has told nothing but the truth."

JAPANESE AIMS GUN AT OFFICER.

POLICEMAN OVERPOWERS TWO SUSPECTS AFTER STRUGGLE.

Crimes Thought to Have Committed Some of the Many Robberies Recently in the Oriental District. Two Were Found Hiding Behind Fences on Dark Street.

During the police investigation of the robbery of the home of Y. Tamaka at 1116 East Third street, it has developed that T. Yamasaki and T. Sugitomo, when arrested on suspicion, attempted to fire a revolver at Officer Roberts. The officer found the two Japanese hiding behind a tree on North Pedro street, near Sixth, and overpowered them after a short struggle.

The police say that more than twenty robberies in which Japanese have been implicated have been reported to headquarters within the past month. Few of the crimes were made public, as it was feared that the many details might cause alarm.

According to Tamaka, the burglars entered his room early yesterday morning, and after ransacking the room and the bureau drawers, they got $20 of his money and $10 belonging to T. Sugitomo. So clever was the work that the officers failed to find any clew of them. Even the Japanese sleeping in the rooms failed to be awakened by the thieves.

Police Officer Roberts was passing along San Pedro street a short time after the robbery, he noticed shadows moving near a tree in the distance ahead of him. He approached stealthily and succeeded in surprising the two Japanese, who had crouched down behind the tree.

As he stepped forward and grabbed one of the Japanese drew a revolver and leveled it at the officer, who quickly knocked it out of the Jap's hand. The policeman bore both of the men to the ground and, after handcuffing them, sent them to the Central Station as suspects. Just as the police were about to release them last evening word samg to Central Station that another patrolman wanted to investigate their identity.

The police say that there have been many crimes in the Japanese district recently, and that the street hold-ups and house robberies seem to be increasing in number from day to day.

ONLY A GIRL, BUT OH, MY!

Detectives Say Maiden Had Fine and Novel Scheme to Defraud Merchants.

Since the halcyon days when Los Angeles was only a pueblo, scores of unique schemes all the way from trading stamps to empire builders' scrip have been evolved to get the best of local merchants. According to statements made by the police yesterday it had remained, however, for a young girl, Kate Robinson, to frame up a really new plan to flim-flam the humble, patient tradesmen. Kate was arrested yesterday by Detectives Rich and Talamantes, on warrants sworn to by the Ville de Paris and other business houses. Kate has at different times been employed in various stores, and it is alleged that having witnessed how accounts were carried by certain customers, she took advantage of her knowledge and bought bills of goods and had them charged to the accounts of persons who have good standing at the stores. When she represented herself as a certain woman, the wife of a real estate man, it happened that the clerk knew the woman the girl pretended to be, and refused to deliver the goods and notified the house. She was arraigned before Justice Austin and her trial was set for Saturday. Her home is at No. 630 East Third street.

BOOTBLACK TWICE SHOOTS WOMAN.

ANNOYED VICTIM FALLS BEFORE SHE CAN COMPLAIN.

While on Way to Stockton Police Headquarters to Secure Relief from Cruz Miranda's Attentions, Mrs. Crooks Receives Two Bullets from His Pistol, and May Die.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

STOCKTON, Aug. 30.—Mrs. Belle Crooks, a young woman who had made her home in Stockton for several years, was twice shot this afternoon by Cruz Miranda, a Mexican bootblack, after he had followed her several hours, and she will probably die. He shot her in the back as she was trying to reach the police office to complain to the officers that he had threatened to do her harm and she fell, after the second shot, almost in the doorway of the police headquarters in the Courthouse. Then Miranda turned the pistol toward himself, but was caught by the Chief of Police and disarmed. The woman will probably die, as one bullet entered her back under the right shoulder and the other struck her in the left side and penetrated the cavity.

Mrs. Crooks had been living with a man named Giannocho in this city and Miranda had threatened both of them. The bootblack had been annoying the woman for several months and he followed her as she walked about the streets this afternoon and knew she was heading for the police office when he shot her. Her mother lives in Lincoln, Placer county.

Miss Annie Ansle, recently from San Francisco, a friend of Mrs. Crooks, was with her when the shooting occurred.

Miranda is in jail.

FATAL STAB ENDS DISPUTE.

BLOODSHED IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—During an altercation over a trivial matter at the home of Tex A. Lombard, 15 Silver street, tonight, Joe Gomez stabbed Luigi Ututrre to death and seriously wounded Andrew Rocco.

Gomez and Rocco are marine firemen and roomed in Lombard's house. Ututrre, a longshoreman and friend of the two firemen, called at their room tonight. According to Rocco, they began to dispute as which of the trio was receiving the most wages and became so noisy in their argument that Lombard ordered them out of the house. Ututrre, it is said, walked out first and as he did so, was stabbed and instantly killed by Gomez, who then turned and plunged his knife into Rocco, his room-mate, and made his escape. Rocco will recover.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Weber's Counsel Files Affidavit.

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 30.—F. F. Tuttle, counsel for Adolph Weber, filed another affidavit with the Governor late this afternoon in the interest of the condemned man. The affidavit is that of Alfred Whelan, an attorney of San Francisco, who deposes that one Harry Williams told him that prior to the trial, Henry Carr, the pawnbroker, upon whose testimony Weber was convicted, told him he knew nothing of the Weber case. Williams is believed in Colorado Springs, and Tuttle has petitioned for a repsteve of thirty days to enable him to locate Williams.

ROOT'S VISIT TO RIO FRUITFUL.

RIO JANEIRO Aug. 30.—Francesco Bernardino, a Deputy who possesses great influence, has introduced a bill, which is certain of passage, providing that the countries taking 4,000,000 bags of Brazilian coffee free of duty shall receive 20 per cent. reduction on the import tariff, and countries taking 2,000,000 bags of Brazilian sugar shall get a reduction of 10 per cent. Countries putting duties on coffee will get an additional 10 per cent. This affects France and Italy and gives the United States 40 per cent. advantage. It starts a big commercial struggle. This is the direct result of Mr. Root's visit.

To find out for a certainty whether or not your heart is affected. One person in four has a weak heart; it may be you. If so, you should know it now, and save serious consequences. If you have short breath, fluttering, palpitation, hungry spells, hot flushes; if you cannot lie on left side; if you have fainting or smothering spells, pain around heart, in side and arms, your heart is weak, and perhaps diseased. Dr. Miles' Heart Cure will relieve you. Try a bottle, and see how quickly your condition will improve.

"About a year ago I wrote to the Miles Medical Co., asking advice, as I was suffering with heart trouble, and had been for two years. I had pain in my heart, back and left side, and had not been able to draw a deep breath for two years. Any little exertion would cause palpitation, and I could not lie on my left side without suffering. They advised me to try Dr. Miles Heart Cure and Nervine, which I did with the result that I am in better health than I ever was before, having gained 14 pounds since I commenced taking it. I took about thirteen bottles of the two medicines, and haven't been bothered with my heart since." MRS. LILLIE THOMAS, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails he will refund your money.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

GO AHEAD WITH LIGHT PLAN.

ADMINISTRATION MAN SPEAKS IN PASADENA CITY.

Municipal Attorney Says That the Illumination Factory Will Be Installed in the Immediate Future. Declares Contracts With the Lighting Company Are Void.

Office of The Times, No. 28 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, Aug. 30.—"The municipal lighting plant will be installed in the immediate future despite reports to the contrary," said City Attorney J. Perry Wood this afternoon. "The citizens of Pasadena have expressed their wishes for such a plant at the polls, and it is the intention of the administration to give it to them. I expect that Mayor Waterhouse will name a general manager of the municipal plant, as authorized by the City Council, as soon as he returns home from Honolulu."

"Have you heard of the proposed action to stop the establishment of the plant?"

"I have seen something to that effect in some of the newspapers, but no official action has been taken, and I do not anticipate any. The people of Pasadena have announced that they want the plant, and that should settle the matter. I have heard some talk about our having pushed the plant along at the expense of the fire department. That is untrue. To begin with the money which will be devoted to the installation of a municipal plant would be insufficient to do any real good to the department. Furthermore, there is no way of raising any more until the bond issue is settled. The charter prohibits the holding of two elections for the same purpose within one year of each other, so we will of necessity have to wait until the present litigation has been settled.

"Engineer Glass, who has been retained to act as electrical expert for the city, will be in a position to control the plant to the very best advantage, as he has had considerable experience with municipal plants. He understands his business thoroughly, and, if he says that a plant can be installed at a certain figure, there is no doubt that it can be. I have heard some talk to the effect that a plant cannot be installed for the money which the city will have on hand when the time arrives. I believe that this is a mistake. It will be possible to install an up-to-date plant and to maintain it at a reasonable figure.

"Concerning the opposition to the plant, it seems to me that the greatest number of the opponents can be divided into two classes, those who are opposed to the plant for personal reasons, and those who do not understand the status of affairs. I have talked with one of the men who at one time was strongly opposed to the idea. After having matters explained and made clear, he stated that he was unqualifiedly in favor of having the plant installed.

"The suggestion has been made that the water question should be settled before taking up with any new schemes. The administration has not lost sight of the water question, and, as soon as this lighting proposition is done for, the water matter will be taken up. Engineer Glass is an expert in such matters, and he will be asked to take charge of the matter as soon as he can find time."

"What is the attitude of the administration on the increase in the fire department?"

"It is realized that the department is woefully inadequate to the demands made upon it, and it is the intention to remedy that as soon as there is money on hand to do the work. This matter of fire department extensions has not confronted the present administration only. There have been needs of additions to the department for some time. Nobody realizes the needs more than do the members of the Council."

"If the money accruing from taxation is used for the installation of the municipal plant, what will be done with the proceeds from the sale of the bonds in case the litigation is decided in favor of the city?"

"Part of the money will be used for the installation of a fine, modern distributing system, and the rest will be used toward paying off the bonds as they fall due. In this manner the burden of taxation will be considerably reduced."

"Just what is the stand taken by the administration with regard to the dispute with the Edison Electric Company concerning the lighting bills?"

"The contracts under which the company has been furnishing power to the city are void. According to the charter and to the laws of the State, we are not in a position to pay out any money under such a contract. The difference between a contract that is voidable and one that is void is that in the former case the creditor can collect for services rendered up to the time that the contract is annulled; in the latter case he cannot. The law governing the paying out of the funds of a municipality is not exactly the same as that governing private parties, and the ordinary law of contract will not apply in this case. This matter has been thoroughly sifted in California courts, and we have a Supreme Court decision, written by Chief Justice Field, which covers our case exactly, which we were enabled to make an offer to the company. The directors did not see fit to accept it, so the matter is up to them. It is absolutely impossible for the Council to submit the matter for arbitration, and I, for one, do not see that there is anything to arbitrate. We have the proofs of our contentions, and are ready to furnish them when the time arrives. The Council has been accused of not having tried to reach a settlement with the Edison Electric Company. When the experts employed by the city declared that less power was being furnished than was being paid for, the company was notified of the fact, and the bill was refused payment. The city's responsibility ended there, and it was the company's place to seek an adjustment."

NORTH LOS ROBLES PAVING.

The decision of the Council to have North Los Robles avenue paved from Colorado street to Mountain street has awakened the residents of the southern end of the street to the fact that it would be desirable to have that part paved also, and a movement is now on foot to asphalt the avenue as far south as California street. If the project is put through, and there seems to be no reason to doubt that it will be, Los Robles avenue will be one of the finest thoroughfares in Southern California.

There are many beautiful residences on Los Robles avenue, and the shade trees that border the street have long been a source of pride to Pasadenans. If the avenue is paved it will rival any street in the country for beauty, and will attract many visitors. The avenue is now much patronized by automobiling parties coming into town, and with proper pavements it will speedily become the most popular highway in the city.

The officials of the Sunset Telephone Company have announced their readiness to put their wires under ground in order to do away with the unsightly poles, and it is thought that the Home Telephone Company will do likewise.

There is scant possibility that the work on North Los Robles avenue will be commenced before spring, as it would be impossible to complete the paving work before the winter season sets in, and it is not considered advisable to have the street torn up during the tourist season. If the residents of South Los Robles avenue conclude to take the matter up at once, it will be possible to have the work all done at one time, thus saving considerable inconvenience.

CHANGES HOTEL PLANS.

D. M. Linnard has decided to change his specifications for the additions to be built to Hotel Maryland in order to make them comply with the city ordinances instead of having the ordinances amended to fit the plans. When Mr. Linnard determined to erect the addition the plans drawn up called for wooden construction. Part of the building site was found to be within the fire limits and Mr. Linnard asked to have the ordinance amended so as to allow of the construction of an addition which should be uniform with the rest of the building. After considering the matter he decided that it would be setting a bad precedent however, and concluded to have the addition constructed of brick.

At the time that Mr. Linnard asked for a permit to erect the addition he called attention to the fact that it seemed inconsistent to construct a wing of brick when the rest of the building was of wood and plaster. While agreeing with the argument, the Council did not see any way out of the difficulty except by amending the ordinance establishing the fire limits in such a way as to put the Maryland outside of the limits. The matter was taken under advisement, but after consideration Mr. Linnard decided to relieve the City Fathers of their dilemma by voluntarily changing his plans.

PASADENA BRIEFS.

Traffic between here and Los Angeles was delayed several hours this afternoon through a peculiar accident which occurred near Scheutzen Park in Los Angeles. A car jumped the track in such a manner as to blockade the second track, and in that way made it impossible for cars to run in either direction. As soon as headquarters was notified of the accident a wrecking crew was dispatched to the scene of the trouble and soon had the tracks clear. No one was hurt when the car left the track and no damage was done other than to the schedule.

Residents of East Pasadena have been making endeavors to secure a free delivery of mail in their territory and if the postal authorities think favorably of the proposition submitted to them, it is possible that they may secure the service before many months have passed. There are several requirements of the postal service which are not complied with in East Pasadena, but the section is growing rapidly and as its citizens are rapidly improving the section, it is thought possible that the Federal authorities will see fit to grant the request at once.

John Compton was tried before Justice Congdon this morning on a charge of having committed battery on the person of John B. Hill. According to the story told by the complainant, Compton hit him with a large scantling and otherwise battered him. The defendant did not deny that he might have done things to Hill, but stated that the complaining witness had likewise used a good-sized club on him. The case was too complicated for the judge to decide on short notice, so it was continued until next Wednesday morning.

Saturday morning W. H. Wells will take up his duties as city garbage collector, and the authorities hope that they will be relieved of the necessity of regulating that branch of the city's affairs for some time. The Cooper brothers, who are succeeded by Wells, have had a special grudge against the water-tight wagon clause in the ordinance relating to the collection of garbage and have been brought into court several times because of violations of the letter of the law. Wells promises that he will equip himself with the proper vehicles and will try to see that his wagons are not followed by a nauseating stench wherever they go.

The authorities of Throop Polytechnic Institute have succeeded in securing the services of F. L. Bindenhammer of the Northwestern University as director of the department of physical culture. There has been considerable difficulty experienced in securing a man for this position, the last instructor chosen having declined the appointment. Mr. Bindenhammer is said to have held several records for athletic contests in his undergraduate days at Northwestern, and last year he was assistant physical instructor of the institution. In addition to his physical prowess, Mr. Bindenhammer took honors in scholastic subjects, and the Throop authorities feel that he will be a valuable addition to the faculty.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

At the home of Miss Florence Dickey on East Villa street a merry party of Throop teachers and graduates gathered last evening to say farewell to Miss Neva Moore and Miss Mellish.

Miss Moore, a graduate of last year, is to leave soon for Flagstaff, Ariz., where she will teach during the coming year. Miss Mellish, one of the teachers at the institute, leaves for Italy to continue her studies there. This is Miss Mellish's fourth trip to that land.

The Throop colors were used throughout in the decorations and the golden glow from the flowers and pennants lent a soft, mellow tone to the scene.

The evening was passed with guessing games, modeling with gum and verse writing. Original verses were written in two small beribboned books and presented to Miss Moore and Miss Mellish. Later in the evening refreshments were served.

Among the merrymakers were Dean Chamberlain, Miss Nevada Moore, Miss Josephine Holley, Miss Florence Dickey, Miss Ruth Dickey, Miss Dobb, Mrs. Roff Messrs, Batchelder, Miller and Roff.

Last evening, at the home of S. Walker, on Peoria street, a party of friends gathered to celebrate the birthday of Joseph Clark. The affair was "stag," and all of the company present were Englishmen. Mr. Clark is English, and his countrymen gave him a jolly "old-country" birthday party.

At the home of Dr. Manwell, No. 245 South Euclid avenue, Miss Elizabeth Hassinger and Carl Stormont were quietly married last evening. Only two close friends, Miss Bessie Sheaffer and C. E. Gray, were present. After September 2 Mr. and Mrs. Stormont will be at home at No. 281 Ramona avenue.

Mrs. Kenyon Warren entertained the members of a recent camping party to Catalina last evening at her home on East Orange Grove avenue. Twenty guests were present and the evening was passed with stories of camp life.

Miss Ellen Hammel of No. 177 North Los Robles avenue gave a "quilting bee" this afternoon in honor of Miss Esther Wright, who is to become the bride of Charles Catlin early in September.

Miss Elsa West of Altadena has returned from an extended trip abroad, where she went to pursue the study of the violin under Caesar Thompson in Brussels. Miss West will make but a brief stay at home, as she is soon to start with her parents upon another European trip.

Miss Marjorie Rynerson of No. 222 West Fifty-seventh street, Los Angeles, and Jesse Guy Jackson of this city, were married last evening at the Main Street Methodist Church in Los Angeles. After October 1 the young couple will be at home at No. 88 North Pasadena avenue.

Dr. and Mrs. John Miller Wilson heve returned from the East, where they were called by the illness of Mrs. Wilson's father, I. E. Langhead, of Aurora, Neb. Dr. and Mrs. Wilson will make their home at No. 56 North Euclid avenue.

This afternoon at 1 o'clock the marriage of Miss Cora Huntoon and Miller J. Kunkle took place at the home of the bride's parents at No. 403 North Wilson avenue.

UNDER WATER LOVE FALL.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

VENICE, Aug. 30.—To fall in love under water and wed after a courtship of a brief fortnight is the romantic experience of Pansy Wilkin and John Conner.

The bride is sweet 16, and is known in the swimming world as Pansy Lord. She is popular at Venice, where she recently gave exhibitions at the bathhouse, swimming with hands and feet tied.

The groom is also generally under the water, when not enjoying his honeymoon, he being an expert swimmer, who claims Los Angeles as his home.

The couple met for the first time at the recent swimming contest at Naples, and the welding of the hearts was accomplished at the home of the bride, No. 516 Douglas street, Los Angeles.

ASK BONDS FOR WATER.

Monrovia People Are to Be Requested to Raise Eighty Thousand Dollars for It.

MONROVIA, Aug. 30.—Eighty thousand dollars is the sum that Monrovia people will be asked to issue bonds for to increase the supply of water to the city by building a storage dam in Maple Cañon, a new pipe line to Sawpit Cañon, sinking new wells on water land at Chapman's Wells, and laying a new system of mains all over the city. With this done the daily supply of water will be forty gallons more than Los Angeles has per capita and Monrovia will be prepared for years to come. The Board of Trustees will be in entire agreement on the recommendation of the bond issue.

The town can stand on its valuation $135,000 of bonds. Water bonds are believed to be the most popular issue that could be raised. The expenditure is planned according to the findings of Orlando K. Parker of Los Angeles.

LOCAL STREET CAR SYSTEM.

It is practically assured that Monrovia is to have a local street car system which will tap choice residence districts and lead to the mouth of Sawpit Cañon. Strong support is back of a proposed company of local capitalists who will, however, first defer the plan to Mr. Huntington with a request that he build it, and furnish a showing of the amount of travel that is assured.

The route which they will urge is from the junction of Olive and Myrtle avenue up Myrtle to Palm. At the corner of the new city park west on Palm to Mayflower, north on Mayflower to Banana avenue, thence to Charlotte, where the cañon mouth is reached. There are hundrds of visitors to the cañon every Sunday during the summer and, if street car transportation were available, it is certain that the number of people visiting Monrovia could be greatly increased. This is through a choice residence district, and along the borders of orange groves which are being sold as building lots.

The Board of Trade has a committee which will coöperate with the local men interested. C. A. Sargent, president of the Board of Trade, is interested in the plan.

NORMAL AT SAN PEDRO.

Dispatch of Cargoes Goes on as of Yore Along the Water Front. Mills Busy.

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 30.—With the arrival of the steamer San Gabriel at the Kerckhoff-Cuzner wharf this morning, and the immediate attention given to the dispatch of the vessel's cargo, the activity along the entire water front is again normal. During the past week the lumber and transportation companies have been at some inconvenience to replace the wholesale vacancies suddenly created, but now the transfer of cargoes from the decks of the vessels to the yards and railroad cars has been again resumed in a systematic manner.

The schooner Lucy from Umpqua River will arrive Saturday with 450,000 feet of lumber fo rthe Kerckhoff-Cuzner Company, which, added to the cargo of the San Gabriel, will make over 1,000,000 feet of lumber, in course of being discharged, and which will be available in a few days for milling purposes, and to fill orders from interior purchasers. In the Kerckhoff-Cuzner planing mill, a number of men are busy turning out orders for finished material.

At the San Pedro Lumber Company's yard the cargo of the schooner W. F. Witzeman is being unloaded on a wharf untouched in several days, and the discharge of the Bartlett's cargo was begun this afternoon. The E. K. Wood planing mill is also turning out orders as rapidly as possible, especially to supply the local trade.

Over sixty new names were placed on the Wilmington Transportation Company's pay roll list today, and the officials are beginning to look for the necessary work to keep the men busy, so that conditions have somewhat changed within the past week. Across the bay the Southern California Company is filling yard orders, and is shipping from the supply at present on hand.

ARREST MAN ON GIRL'S CHARGE.

REDONDO FISHERMAN ACCUSED OF FELONIOUS ASSAULT.

Marian Roberts, Who Was Brutally Attacked Last March Meets Alleged Assailant on Street and Calls Upon Police to Apprehend Him. He Says He Is Innocent.

REDONDO, Aug. 30.—Mike Morales, a fisherman, was arrested here today, charged with attacking Marian Roberts, a 19-year-old girl residing with the Cowper-Thwaite family. The offense is alleged to have been committed on Saturday evening, March 17, last.

The alleged crime created excitement at the time, owing to the prominence of the girl's family. Indignation ran high, and every effort was made by the police and citizens to identify the culprit. Even the Board of Trustees took the matter up and offered a reward for the arrest and conviction of the assailant.

The girl was attacked in one of the vacant lots between the Ainsworth and Wilshire residences on the bluff. She was waylaid and threatened with having her throat cut if she made an outcry, but that the wretch did not accomplish his purpose without a struggle was evidenced by portions of the victim's clothing, which had been torn from her body, and also by a pair of slippers which had been lost in the fight and which were found by the officers that night.

After the assault, the girl made her way home in an almost unconscious condition, and, after telling her story, lapsed into a comatose state, from which only prompt and efficient medical services saved her from dying.

Suspicion pointed to some prominent young men, but upon being brought before her were not identified.

Happening to see Morales on the street today, she summoned an officer, but when the officer arrived Morales had disappeared. He returned later on and was arrested by Marshal Maxey and Deputies Luckenbach and Peterson. Morales was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Knudsen. He pleaded not guilty and was bound over for preliminary examination. Bail was fixed at $1000, in default of which bond he was taken to the County Jail.

Morales is a young man, and heretofore has borne a good reputation. He claims that a mistake has been made and that he can prove an alibi and that he was in Los Angeles on the date of the alleged crime with a person of the name of Herman Peterson.

AFTER FALSE COMMUTERS.

Governor of Soldiers' Home Acts Promptly to Stop Fraud in Tickets.

SOLDIERS' HOME, Aug. 30.—Owing to misuse of commutation tickets by members of the home, the Los Angeles-Pacific Railroad Company threatens to withdraw the sale of such at this point.

It has transpired that several purchasers of the thirty-trip booklets—which afforded the holder the privilege of a trip to, and return from Los Angeles at a reduction of rates have been eking out a miserly profit of 5 cents a trip by loaning the books to others. This came to the knowledge of the company's officers and conductors were notified to be on the lookout, with the result that, a few days ago, one of the bogus trip-takers was tripped and the borrowed book confiscated. The governor of the home was at once communicated with, and informed that unless he found it possible to call a halt on the illicit transactions, the company would be compelled to cease the sale of these books to members of the home.

There are a large number of veteran commuters who appreciate and are grateful for the company's concession, and who enjoy the privilege in exact accordance with the terms of "non-transferable," and it would be regarded as a hardship for them to be deprived of the concession because of the dishonesty and ingratitude of the few. Gov. LaGrange was indignant upon learning the facts, and with a view to doing his utmost that the railroad company should be fairly treated, and that innocent veterans under his care should not suffer for the guilty, immediately issued an official order in which he says:

"These tickets are not transferrable, and members or employés convicted of allowing others to use them, if members, will have their names submitted to the president of the board of managers, with recommendation that they be dropped from the rolls of the home; or, if civilian employés, will be discharged from their employments."

VETERANS ENTERTAINED.

A joint picnic of Uncle Sam Post, G.A.R. and its auxiliary the W.R.C., was held at Curtin's grove in the home grounds yesterday. An elaborate luncheon provided by the W.R.C. was served on a seventy-five-foot table in the midst of an immense bower of trelised vines—an ideal spot on Pepper avenue, which is the creation, and, has been the fad, of Veteran Curtin for several years.

ANGLERS ACTIVE AT AVALON.

Tuna Swarm Near Bay and Many Enjoy the Sport of Capturing Big Fish.

AVALON, Aug. 30.—One hears but little tuna talk at this resort at present. Yesterday was the greatest day ever experienced here in point of numbers of tuna taken. The fish ran in close to the bay so that the exhibition was free for all on shore.

There were about seventy-five of these game fis' hung on the racks and it is safe to say that at least one hundred were taken in all. The highest record for one boat for the day was sixteen, taken by John Paine and L. G. Murphy. J. C. Plato, L. F. Schmenger and T. J. Kaal had twelve tuna and a lot of other varieties, while other boats ranged from that downward in number.

This morning the fishing carnival was continued, over thirty boats being bunched in front of the town, a mile or so out, and nearly every one of them fighting a tuna.

The fish are here in countless numbers. A party which went to the Isthmus reported that they ran all the way up and back in continuous schools of tuna.

AVALON NEWS NOTES.

Thomas McD. Potter won the Light Tackle Club's gold button yesterday, taking a fifty-five-pound tuna.

Mrs. L. Cole of Washington, D. C., demonstrated her prowess as an angler today by catching three tuna.

John J. Alken, superintendent of the Los Angeles Railway Company, and his wife are at the Glenmore Hotel.

Judge D. C. Beaman of Denver, attorney for the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, and O. L. Smith, of the Smith Publishing Co., of Denver, are here to engage in tuna fishing.

IN PAIN ENDS ALL BY BULLET.

SIRE A SUICIDE IN LONG BEACH COTTAGE.

Son, Receiving Letter from the Father Telling of Sickness, Comes Only to Find the Father an Hour Dead—Jury in Shooting Case Pronounces It Murder.

LONG BEACH, Aug. 30.—A sufferer from heart and stomach trouble for twenty years, Alexander B. Fletcher tonight found relief in death by firing a bullet into his brain.

Fletcher, who was 52 years old, had retired and lived alone in a small cottage on Jesse street. His wife and several children resided on Emmett street in Los Angeles and visited him at intervals, the last time being two weeks ago. For the last week, he had suffered torture with his heart and neighbors had attended him.

This evening, W. H. Woodruff, a neighbor, called on him and made his bed comfortable. Ten minutes later he heard a shot and, hurrying over, found Fletcher on the floor, his head in a pool of blood. The old man had seated himself on the edge of the bed, placed a revolver to the right temple and sent a shot crashing into his head, then toppled forward on the floor quietly, the revolver dropping from his limp fingers. His eldest boy, Harry, who had received a letter from his father on Tuesday saying he was sick, arrived an hour after the suicide. The body was removed to the Walker & Brown morgue and the Coroner was notified.

JURY CALLS IT MURDER.

"Wallace B. Belden came to his death by gunshot wounds inflicted by W. T. Wilson of his malice aforethought and with intent to kill and murdered the said Wallace B. Belden." That was the verdict of the Coroner's jury in the case of the victim in yesterday's deadly shooting affray here.

The tragedy continues to be the topic of conversation today, but opinions and comments are too varied and confusing to arrive at any consensus of opinion. The fact that Wilson disguised himself by shaving his mustache and wearabouts at the time of the alleged crime, were found on him indicate that he had murder in his heart.

Friends of the victim assert that he had a perfect alibi regarding his whereabouts at the time of thealleged crime. An ugly story was current today that the girl had told the dead man things that would have come out at the trial and placed Wilson in a bad light, and that he deliberately killed Belden to prevent these facts coming out. The story can be traced to no definite source.

Attorney A. C. Lawson, who was Belden's attorney, has been retained by the dead man's friends to assist the State in the prosecution.

The funeral of the victim will be held Friday morning. Members of the Majestic Band will officiate as pall bearers.

ALLEGED YOUNG FIREBUG.

A fire broke out yesterday evening in a barn on Daisy avenue, which contained two horses and a lot of hay. It was discovered before it gained headway, and serious loss prevented. Several fires have recently occurred in this neighborhood under conditions that caused suspicion that it was the work of small boys, and an investigation led to thearrest this afternoon of Walter Rhea, aged 10, who lives in the neighborhood. A little girl identified him as the boy she saw set fire to the barn, and a boy says Walter wanted him to set fire to the barn of C. F. Bruce several weeks ago, in which a number of horses and a cow were cremated. The lad's hearing is to be Friday morning.

SEASHORE DRIFT.

Because of the continued ill-health of his wife and baby, Manager Will Macdonald has resigned from the Majestic rink and will move back to Los Angeles to enter into business with Thomas Lloyd.

"The Toy Shop," a spectacular festival participated in by children, was given at the Auditorium tonight to a packed house. The performance was for the benefit of the Long Beach Hospital.

The Long Beach Hotel Company will make extraordinary efforts to have the new Bixby Hotel completed by January 1 for the accommodation of guests, and to this end has offered Contractor Spaulding $5000 bonus to have the building habitable on New Year's Day.

The City Trustees will be asked for a fifteen-year lease at a rental of $1000 a year of the grass plot on the bluff just west of the pier approach. Geo. Leissner wants to erect a crystal palace at a cost of $20,000 to be used as a refreshment parlor and waiting-room. The projected building is of Moorish design, the interior to be beautiful in crystal furnishings.

Nancy Jane Byers, aged 71, died today after a short illness. She had been a resident here two years. She was a native of Minnesota.

TALK FOR HIGH SCHOOL.

Members of the Ocean Park Board Think It Time to Start Such an Institution.

OCEAN PARK, Aug. 30.—According to the members of the Board of Education, there are in this school district, ready to enter High School grades, at least a hundred pupils. In view of this fact, it is none to early, according to the school board, to set on foot preparations for providing a high school as well as a high school building.

The ambition of the members of the board, as generally expressed, is to raise at least $150,000 by an issue of bonds for the purpose of adding a high school to the educational facilities of the beach.

The public schools will not open until the first week of October, and an increased attendance is expected at that time. The enrollment has grown from year to year ever since the district was established and the development and growth of the city means an increase in the permanent population.

Fire destroyed the two lower floors of the large six-story wholesale millinery establishment of Strong, Warner & Co. at St. Paul yesterday, causing a loss of $150,000.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

OVER FILINGS WONDER GROWS.

FIGHT ON FOR WATER OF MOJAVE RIVER?

Startling Affray Reported at Cima Near Nevada Line in San Bernardino County Following Quarrel Over Woman—Shooter Said to Have Defied Anyone to Molest Him.

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 30.—As has gone by and the mysterious flings on the waters of the branches of Mojave River above Victor continue the wonderment grows as to what it all means. Every sixty days since November filings in the name of E. A. Leiser of Los Angeles have been made on the storm waters of the Mojave about Victor, the filings covering two large reservoir projects, the two connected, in that section of country.

The fear here is that it is a project of the Arrowhead Reservoir and Power company, which is now completing an immense storage dam in Cajon Valley north of this city, as well as the papers making the same have been filed this week, by H. [illegible], an employe of the Arrowhead company.

The location notices call for the construction of one reservoir on the north fork of the Mojave River near the Flores ranch, owned by John [illegible] of this city. An appropriation of 1,000,000 inches of water is made therefor.

The other reservoir, which is to be built, is to be located on the east fork of the Mojave, and is to be connected with the larger reservoir by a [illegible]-foot tunnel, and an appropriation of 50,000 inches of water is made. The dam for the west fork reservoir is to be 180 feet in height, and for the smaller reservoir fifty feet in height.

The location notices also indicate a tunnel project for bringing the water through to this side of the range to the San Bernardino Valley for power and irrigation purposes.

These reservoir projects are at a much higher elevation on the Mojave than the one recently promoted by Arthur E. Poole of Los Angeles, which would indicate that the two schemes are in no way allied and that at least three reservoir projects on the Mojave are in the wind, all calling for the same water impounding only.

It has also been suggested that this additional filing by the Arrowhead company is to prevent the construction of the dam proposed by the Cajon syndicate because of fear of possible endless litigation as the Arrowhead company's Little Bear Valley project will draw a part of its water from the same watershed. The details of the Arrowhead company have persistently refused to give out any statements in the matter.

FRANCHISE WRESTLE.

The City Council is now wrestling with the double-track franchise asked for by the San Bernardino Valley Traction Company on the principal streets of the city to provide for the trackage of the interurban lines from Riverside and Arrowhead. In addition to the two interurban lines already entering the city, the council has balked somewhat on the provision permitting the running of express cars. At the meeting of the Council last evening there was a wordy combat between some members of the Council and President A. C. Denman of the traction company. It is believed, however, that a compromise will be reached on the matter and that it will be agreed to by the Council next Tuesday night when the franchise will come up for action.

SHOOTING ON DESERT.

Sheriff Ralphs leaves tonight for Cima, near the Nevada line, to investigate a shooting that occurred in a saloon near the Standard mines last night. A man named Taylor is said to have shot a man named Oneat twice, one bullet striking his victim in the scalp and the second in the thigh. The quarrel occurred over a woman and Taylor is said to have remained at the saloon with the woman and defied anyone to molest him. The injured man will be brought tomorrow morning to the County Hospital.

LOOK FOR WRECKERS.

Santa Fe officials are looking for two men who are believed to have attempted to wreck an overland train near Helen yesterday morning by placing a hand-car on the track. Two Mexicans were captured near the spot shortly after and locked up in the Barstow jail, but they were missing this morning and no trace of them could be found. The train was moving slowly up grade when the car was struck, so that no damage was done except to the hand-car.

LAD GOES WRONG AGAIN.

Santa Ana Boy, Out on Parole, Embraces Opportunity to Engage in Theft.

SANTA ANA, Aug. 30.—Joe Coleman, a young incorrigible, is again in the toils of the law. He was arrested after giving the officers a strenuous chase. The lad was mounted on a pony, while the officers pursued on bicycles.

Coleman has been out of jail on parole, his parents having assured the police that they would keep the youngster out of future trouble. Joe's latest escapade began when W. H. Comstock, a rancher who lives near Tustin, drove into town late yesterday afternoon with a number of empty grain sacks tied up in bundles of fifty each.

While driving through the streets, Joe, who is only about 12 years old, stole one of the bundles from the rear end of the wagon. In some manner best known to himself, he managed to get a part of the sacks on the market before the rancher arrived.

The boy got enough cash to enable him to go to a livery stable and rent a pony. Then, putting the balance of the sacks on the horse, he started off to dispose of them to the highest bidder. In the meantime, Comstock missed his bundle of "gunnies," and started to report it to the police.

Joe came along soon after and tried to barter the balance of his stock to Mr. Smith, of Smiley & Smith. Smith became suspicious and went to call the police, ordering his cleark to detain the boy.

Joe, however, suspected trouble and made for his pony. Then there was an exciting chase, with Joe astride his pony and the two police officers mounted on bicycles.

Age told in the end, and Joe was overhauled by the older men. As he had a part of the stolen goods in his possession, he confessed to the theft and meekly went to jail.

LEASES WATER LANDS.

Perris Valley Tract from Which Corona Gets Aqueous Supply Is Taken.

PERRIS, Aug. 30.—The Temescal Water Company, which owns 3000 acres of water-bearing land about Ethanac, from which the water supply of Corona is obtained, has leased the entire tract to Supervisor J. T. Hamner of Corona for a term of years for dry ranching. Hamner will raise grain and hay and will summer-fallow about half of it each year. In the past the land has been divided into small tracts, and rented to a number of tenants.

PERRIS VALLEY NOTES.

Logsdon, who for a number of years has farmed extensively between Perris and Moreno, has sold his leases on several thousand acres, together with his stock, and farm machinery, to a number of investors, of whom E. MOURN FOR MACK.

Man Killed by Carmen's Strike in San Francisco Had Friends in Santa Barbara.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 30.—E. A. Mack, who died suddenly in San Francisco from overexertion as a result of the carmen's strike, was well known in this city, where he formerly lived, and he had many friends here. He resided here for several years, and, as the district organizer of the Independent Order of Foresters, organized and installed the Santa Barbara court of that order in 1895. His was a brother-in-law of Mrs. J. A. Mathis of this city, who is the mother of Frank Prescott.

There was a general grief expressed by Mr. Mack's friends when they heard of his death yesterday. His sudden demise was given wide publicity on account of its connection with the big strike. As he was the organizer of the local order of Independent Foresters, that court will probably take some public action in connection with his death. Mr. Mack had been a resident of Alameda prior to moving to San Francisco, and it was only about a year ago that he lost his wife in Alameda.

Hirschfelder, B. L. Pressey and A. D. Thacher.

IS SAVED FROM FIERY DEATH.

DOWNEY GIRL WITH CLOTHES AFLAME IS RESCUED.

Man Driving Past Place Sees Peril, Leaps from Wagon, Bounds Over Fence and Tears Off Her Blazing Garments—What Comes of Coal Oil Exposed to the Sun.

DOWNEY, Aug. 30.—Miss Maude Marr, one of the favorites among the young ladies in local society, was severely burned by the explosion of a can of coal oil this morning.

Her brother, Joe, 14 years old, was endeavoring to clean and repair an electric bell, and was using the oil in the work. The can of oil, from which he was taking his supply, had been exposed to the sun and apparently the heat had generated a quantity of gas.

Little thinking that an inflammable gas was present, Joe struck a match and an explosion followed. The boy called excitedly for help and his mother and sister came hurrying to find the cause of disturbance.

Mrs. Marr at once kicked the blazing can from the porch. Miss Maude was near by, and unfortunately, some of the flaming oil caught her dress.

Almost instantly her gown was ablaze. Retaining her presence of mind, she threw herself on the ground and began rolling in the sand, but the flames had reached her body, and, frantic with pain, she broke away from her mother and sister, who had come to her assistance. The blaze, fanned by her running, spread rapidly.

George Morrow, who was driving past the Marr house, saw the girl running with her dress aflame, and, leaping from his wagon and over the fence, caught her and began tearing off the burning clothes. In a few seconds he had the fire out.

Miss Marr is severely but not deeply burned about the neck and shoulders, and will recover without permanent injuries. Mr. Morrow had both hands severely burned and will not have the use of either for several weeks. Luckily, Joe was not much hurt.

ENOUGH ROPE TO HANG WORLD.

Is Grown in the Philippines, Which Will Soon Be Handled by New Railroads.

The Philippine Islands, says the Philippine correspondent of the San Francisco Chronicle, produce enough of the finest rope to allow every person in the world to dance the 'rogues' hornpipe at the end of a noose, to moor all our ships with enough left over to stretch a rope cable from the moon to the earth.

This may be rather a giddy flight of fancy, but at the same time the hemp industry is one of great importance to the islands, and in fact to the whole world, for Philippine hemp is superior to all known fibers that are used in the manufacture of ropes and cordages. Last year the islands exported over $21,750,000 (American money) worth of hemp. Of this amount over half, or $12,648,143 in American money, represents the value of hemp sent to the United States. Altogether there is something like $27,000,000 worth of hemp produced in the Philippines every year, but some of it is used for home consumption in the Philippines, in the manufacture of an exquisite jusi cloth or fancy sinamays, made in solid weaves prettily combined with Chinese silks. This hemp in the raw state is distributed in lots of a half pound into thousands of homes, each of which operates its own hand loom. Two years ago 5000 of these Filipino housewives wove over 1,000,000 pesos' worth of cloth. The weight of the hemp exported from the Philippines in 1905 reached the enormous total of 256,766,000 pounds.

The new railroads in the Philippines will open up some of the richest hemp districts in the world. Many fine areas especially suited to the cultivation of hemp will be made available through improved transportation facilities. Most of the hemp now raised in the islands is produced in the southern peninsula of Luzon in the provices of Sorsogon, Albay, and Ambos Camarines, though hemp is being raised on Negros, Samar, Mindoro, Marinduque, Mindanao, and other islands. The industry supports thousands of people. Out of thirty-five towns in Ambos Camarines province twenty-seven are supported solely by the hemp industry.

Truthful, If Not Scriptural.

Some years ago an Aurora preacher inaugurated the practice of having the children quote Scriptural texts as they dropped their Sunday-school pennies in the contribution box. On the first Sunday under the new plan a little shaver came and said: "The Lord loveth a cheerful giver," and in dropped his penny. "Charity shall cover a multitude of sins," and in dropped the next. "It is more blessed to give than to receive," quoted the third and so on. Just then up walked a little fellow with the unmistakable remnants of molasses candy on his chubby face, and, as he dropped his cent, he bawled out: "A foo, and his money are soon parted."—[Kansas City Star.

passing objects and laughing and playing together when the awful bumps came. There was instant silence inside the car, and I thought of an earthquake, for I knew that the track was straight there.

"Then the rear end of the car began to shift over to the right. At first, too frightened to cry, the children now all commenced to howl at once, and such a wail I never heard. I think it must have frightened the motorman so that he did not know what he was about, for he could not bring his car to a stop. I heard others blame him for not stopping it sooner.

"I was sitting next to the big middle window of the car, on the left side, and three little children were climbing over my lap, looking out of the window. Just a few moments before the accident, a little girl flattened her nose against the big pane of glass, and said that it felt funny, and wanted the others to try. This, and because it was hot, led me to pull the shade down, and that is all that saved us from being cut by flying glass, for that window was shattered.

"I was calm all through the accident; wasn't I, Uncle Henry?"

"I don't remember," said Uncle Henry meekly; then more bravely, "How about when the car began to squirm like a snake and the back end began to sink lower and lower and everybody yelled that we were going to tip over?"

NEARLY SUFFOCATED.

"Well, by that time everybody on the north side of the car was surging over to our side, away from the danger, and I was almost smothered. If that car had turned onto its side I am sure that I would have been the apex of a mass of humanity. I don't remember much after that except the awful screaming of the children. They were frightened into spasms. Then the bottom seemed to drop out of everything as the body of the car left the trucks and was hurled down the bank.

"At last we stopped. We sat there and looked at each other in amazement. 'It did not seem possible that we were not all killed. Somebody yelled, 'Come, get out of this; you're not hurt.' Then I realized that perhaps the man was speaking the truth as well as common sense, and we all walked out the rear end—the floor of the car being level with the ground. Its seemed funny to step out of a car that way. A woman and one or two children had fainted, but they revived almost immediately. As far as I know all the passengers escaped absolutely uninjured, which I consider remarkable."

"But we can't say the passengers escaped without a scratch, 'cause the little Jones boy has two glass scratches on his wrist," said Uncle Henry, as he got up to help the children off at Eastlake Park.

It was a sorry procession of swollen-eyed tots that filed out. Some of them were still crying softly, and many were sniffling and rubbing their noses with dainty handkerchiefs.

"Just wait until we get them playing on the grass and roaming through this beautiful park—they will forget that there was an accident and be ready to nestle up close and sleep on the car ride home," said the kind lady as she got off. "Now, mind; no names!"

From officials of the railroad it was learned that the accident is supposed to have been caused by the breaking of a flange on one of the right wheels of the rear truck.

SCOTTISH PERVERSITY.

John D. Rockefeller's Story of a Scottish Millionaire's Early Economy.

"I had the honor to meet John D. Rockefeller in Compiegne while I was touring France in my motor car this summer," said a Pittsburgh millionaire.

"Mr. Rockefeller is gifted with a superb sense of humor. In his quiet, serious way he makes you laugh again and again. Apropos of economy he told a story about the Scottish millionaires of Manchester.

"A hundred years ago a number of poor Scottish lads came to Manchester, took up cotton spinning there and by the hardest work and the strictest economy became in the end, every mother's son of them, millionaires. One of these young men only paid in his early days 1 shilling and 6 pence a week for his room. His landlady decided this was too little and determined to put up his rent from 1 and 6 to 1 and 8 pence. But this increase the young Scot stoutly resisted. He vowed he would pack up bag and baggage and begone rather than pay a penny more than 1 and 6 pence. He talked and argued for an hour or more and in the end he gained his point. The rent would not be raised. It would remain the same.

"The victorious young man concluded his dispute with his aged landlady with an axiom—an axiom which Mr. Rockefeller said, ought to be noted well by the young. 'It isn't that I mind muckle for the odd tuppence,' he said, 'but ye ken, Betty, it's the breaking into a fresh piece o' silier.'"

MADE HIM A CRIMINAL.

Unfortunate Effect of a School Teacher's Well Meant Reproof.

Roy Fero, who began a criminal career by stealing a Missouri River steamboat when but fourteen years old, and who was arrested recently at Sioux City, Iowa, while breaking into a house on the very day he was released from the South Dakota Penitentiary, says he became a thief because his school teachers and keepers told him constantly that he would end his days in prison or swinging from a gallows. Young, handsome, brilliant and from one of the best families in Nebraska, Fero, at the age of 22, has already served nearly six years in reformatories and penitentiaries, and has been a police-hunted criminal since he was a mere boy.

According to Fero's own story the first person who told him he was sure to go to the penitentiary was a school teacher in the little town of Ponca.

"I took some of her water-color paints out of her desk one day after school," he said. "She learned of the theft, and talked to me a long time kindly. But I left her feeling I was a sure enough criminal. She told me such crimes as I had committed always led boys to prison."

Wife's Right to Love.

A Boston dispatch calls attention to a decision of the highest court of Massachusetts, which is locally regarded as significant and indicative of progress toward full legal equality of the sexes. The court holds that under the laws as to married women in the State a wife may maintain an action for damages against any woman who has alienated the affections of her husband.

In the lower court the demurrer of the defendant in the case was sustained on the ground that while a husband has, under the common law, a property right in his wife's love, no such property right in the husband's affections had been accorded to the wife. The Supreme Court, however, finds that the status of the married woman in the State has been so changed by the statutes in her favor that this sex distinction based on property right could no longer be drawn.

Doubtless the decision possesses the symptomatic importance which is apparently attached thereto in Massachusetts, Illinois has in this respect proved herself a leader and exemplar. Our laws in regard to married women and their property and contract rights are very advanced, and in 1900 our Supreme court decided, contrary, as it said, to the "weight of authority" in leading cases cited, that under them a wife may bring an action for damages for the alienation of her husband's affections. The ancient common law, it observed, had maintained the doctrine that "the husband and wife are one, the husband being the one," but this notion "had been exploded by the enlightenment of the present age and by legislation."—[Chicago Record-Herald.

The Young Lady Was Tired.

The young man who wore his hair long and talked music had been to call on the young woman, and when he took his leave she went into the library where her father was, and threw herself on a sofa wearily.

"Tired?" inquired the father.

"He's been talking music in the abstract," was all she said.

"What did he say about it?"

"Well," she replied, "he said that the musical faculty is located in the second frontal convolution of the brain, and as it has a center in each cerebral hemisphere, a strong development of it expands the temporal region of the cranium about where the hair begins."

"Was that all?" smiled the father.

"Oh, no; he said further that the temperament, or mixture of the bodily elements, must also be carefully considered, and, as the tone art is so largely a matter of feeling and suggestion, the degree of sensitiveness and responsiveness in the fiber of the individual will be only second in importance to the development of the brain."

"Why didn't you ask him to sing after that?"

"I did, papa; I did," sighed the girl.

"And did he?"

"Yes, he did; and he sang 'The Man that Broke the Bank at Monte

Still midsummer dullness in business affairs is reflected in the small exchanges passing through the clearinghouses. Yesterday's fell a good way below a million and a half dollars, and were about $200,000 more than for the corresponding day last year, and about half a million more than two years ago.

Transactions on the local Stock Exchanges yesterday indicate the following changes in prices: Associated Oil, 90¼ bid, a decline of ¾; 89¾ asked as before. Mexican petroleum, 104½ bid, a decline of ¾; none offered. Olinda Land, .08¾ bid, a decline of ¼; .09¼ asked as before. Reed Crude, .17¾ bid, a decline of ¼; 20 asked, an advance of one point. Rice Ranch, 60 bid, an advance of five points; 65 new price asked. Union, 202 bid, an advance of one point; 205 old price asked.

In bank stocks, American National, 116.50 bid, old price; 118 asked, an advance of .25. Farmers' and Merchants' National, offered at 400, new quotation; no bids. German American, 225 bid as before; none offered. National Bank of California, 265 bid, a decline of 10 points; none offered.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

No new features developed in the produce market yesterday and fluctuations were confined within a narrow range. The general movement in all circles was purely jobbing. Receipts of eggs were 219 cases. Local arrivals are running very close each day. A shipment of eastern offerings came in. Some of the egg jobbers state that the fresh eastern eggs now arriving are not fresh stock, but eastern April storage and are palmed off here as strictly fresh eastern. Eastern shippers get higher prices when they sell them here as fresh offerings than they would were they sold as "eastern Aprils." Ranch eggs were reported to be easy in some quarters yesterday at 21 cents. In about eight days the situation on local eggs will be firmer and higher prices will rule.

The members of the Produce Exchange yesterday voted to close the exchange and their places of business at noon Monday.

Muscat grapes were firmer at 70@75; clingstone peaches sold at 90; freestone, 65@75; white figs were steady at 60@75; black figs sold weak at 1.00; tomatoes advanced to 25@40. Other vegetables were unaltered.

Crabs were plentiful. Large fish were in good supply. A large shipment of barracuda came up from San Diego.

Wheat is dull. Barley is firmly held at former quotations. Oats and corn are quiet. Big reductions have been made in family and baker flours the past few days.

The receipts of produce as reported for yesterday's exchange were as follows: Eggs, 219 cases; butter, 16,870 lbs.; cheese, local, 2915 lbs.; potatoes, 1561 sacks; onions, 260 sacks; beans, 54 sacks; sweet potatoes, 31 sacks.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Money conditions governed today's stock market. Call loans at 5 per cent., time loans showing a hardening tendency and the threatened obliteration of last week's low bank reserves were conditions that could not be ignored. The foreign exchange situation with a further heavy decline in demand sterling to $4.84¼ caused increased perplexity. This is almost on a parity with the rate of last April when Secretary Shaw was induced to offer gold imports and while much talk of impending negotiations continues to be heard of actual engagements there were none up to the close of the market. The local bulks reported a further loss to the subtreasury, the total thus far aggregating over $4,000,000 or within $250,000 of their free resources as disclosed by the last bank statement. Our market got its early strength from London, which reported generally higher prices for Americans and heavy buying orders for this account. Business here started with a rush and materially higher prices all through the active list. The greatest gains were made by the hill issues, Union Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio and St. Paul, these advancing from 1 to 5½ points. The market continued animated, though somewhat confused all through the first hour when an opening rate at 6 per cent. for call loans brought heavy selling for profits.

Thereafter the market was dull and narrow, though showing some renewal of activity in the late session when the Harriman issues advanced to a new high record figure. The market became heavy in the last hour when call money advanced to 8 per cent. and prices dropped from 1 to 3 points all around and closed weak at the day's lowest quotations. In some quarters there was a disposition to attribute this in a measure to the possibilities arising from the reception of Bryan's speech in the evening. Bonds were ir
